Regulated deer hunt set for Dec. 5

The state Department of Conservation and Natural Resources will conduct a regulated deer hunt Dec. 5 at Frances Slocum State Park in Kingston Township. The hunt is being held to help control the deer population within the park.

The one-day hunt is for white-tail deer only, and will be conducted in areas not normally open to hunting. To ensure the safety of all park visitors, the park will be closed to all other activities. To participate, hunters must hold an unfilled Wildlife Management Area 3B antlerless license. Only manually operated shotguns 20 gauge or larger, or muzzle loading firearms will be allowed.

The hunt will be limited to the first 40 hunters who arrive at the park starting at 6 a.m. There will not be a lottery. All hunters entering the park will be checked to ensure they have the proper license and firearm. They will be asked to fill out a registration and safety orientation form before being assigned a designated parking area.

Roger Fickes, director of the Bureau of State Parks, says the excessive deer herd is destroying park vegetation and needs to be controlled on a yearly basis. He said that after hunts at other state parks, the park staff usually sees a return of long absent wild flowers, shrubs, and small trees.

Safety zones, no hunting areas, and park boundaries will be posted and strictly enforced. Extra park rangers and Pennsylvania Game Commission personnel will be stationed throughout the park area during this hunt.
