Christmas In Our Hometown
 December 9th & 10th ~ ~ Rain, Snow, Sleet or Shine

Tunkhannock Showcases the Town at 4th Annual "Christmas in Our Home Town"

Street carolers and story tellers, hot chocolate, a visit from Santa and Mrs. Claus, and a host of other holiday festivities will be part of the 4th Annual "Christmas in Our Home Town" weekend sponsored by the Tunkhannock Business and Professional Association. But the horse and buggy rides, the open air roasting of peanuts, the ice sculptures or even the great sales in the area stores are not the highlight of this annual celebration. It is the town itself. Nestled in the Endless Mountains of Northeast Pennsylvania, surrounded by the Susquehanna River and many mountains and streams, Tunkhannock is the epitome of a postcard Christmas setting. Recently named to the National Register of Historic Towns, and in the final stages of a Streetscape Project, Tunkhannock opens its arms and doors on Friday night, December 9, from 5:00 to 10:00 PM and again on Saturday, Dec. 10, from 10 AM to 5 PM to welcome visitors to its quaint shops, traditional scenes, and warm and welcoming community. "Christmas in Our Home Town" provides an opportunity for those of us who live in the Tunkhannock area to welcome visitors and to share with others the traditional values and activities of a small town during the holidays," said Lori Bogedin, from Twigs Restaurant and Cafe, and a spokesperson for the Tunkhannock Business and Professionals Association. "We are so very proud of our community, and we want others to share in its beauty and charm." On Friday night, the local Dietrich Theater will offer "A Pantomime Production: Weird, Wild, and Wonderful - A Look at the Holiday Season." Visit from Mr. and Mrs. Claus, a live nativity, performances by the Faithful Flutists, and even a wandering Scrooge will provide the back drop for local merchants to open their shops and welcome visitors with such favorites as Christmas cookies, special raffles, great sales and a unique collection of gifts for the discriminating buyer. Most area stores plan to stay open until 10 PM on Friday night. In addition, the Whipple Dance Studio will present "An Olde Fashioned Christmas". Lizza Studios will hold a Gingerbread Contest, and the Nativity BVM Church will present an indoor program. On Saturday, visitors can participate in a Christmas Tea at the historic Prince Hotel, attend workshops at the Wyoming County Cultural Center to make ornaments and decorate cookies, or join Bill Fry in a holiday sing-a-long. Many of the attractions from Friday night will be held again Saturday. The two-day event will conclude with a drawing for a shopping spree in Tunkhannock for the lucky winner. All activities are free and family-friendly. Visitors to the area will be impressed not only with the events and the many activities scheduled during the two days, but they will leave Tunkhannock with the warm feeling of having participated in a truly-old fashioned Christmas in one of the area's most beautiful and historic towns.
