

STUDENTS OF THE QUARTER HONORED AT BREAKFAST

The Parent-Teacher-Student Organization of Dallas High School recently honored this year's Student of the Quarter recipients, their parents, and their nominators at the annual breakfast. Each quarter during the school year, students are chosen from nominations for recognition in the following categories: Student Achiever, School Spirit, Creative, and Citizen Student Award. In addition, Richard Smith was this year's winner of the Social Responsibility Award. Honored at the breakfast, from left, first row are Katie Gilligan, Emily Machovec, Melissa Evans, Cassie Snider, Kenslie Kerestes, Paige Kyle and Hillary Adams. Second row: Kira Szulborski, Nicholas Oschman, Alaric Eby, Nicholas Hetro, Michael Dennis, Christopher Parrish, Richard Smith and Hillary Smith. Elizabeth Martindale was also honored.

STUDENTS HELP NEEDY CHILDREN

The Dallas Middle School recently participated in a drawing contest to create a fund-raising calendar for Community Cares for Kids. In addition to the calendar, the pictures created by the students will be seen on an international Web site, newspapers, and promotional publications. Community Cares for Kids is a benevolent community organization formed to help needy children receive reconstructive surgery. Dr. Francis Collini, a plastic surgeon from Dallas Township, and a medical team have provided free surgical procedures for poor Ecuadorian children suffering from birth defects such as cleft palates, clubfeet, burns, and other physical deformities. They have been doing the work since 1997 and provide all staff members and medical and surgical supplies. Dr. Collini and his wife Susan joined a group of community volunteers to form CCK to expand the mission to children around the globe, including needy American children. Students and advisers in the contest, from left, Taylor Gingell, Carly Manganello, Caitlyn Metz, Chelsa Martin and Jess Adams. Second row: teacher Kim Kuzma, Lindsay Kelly, Sarah Stewart, Madeline Payne, Caitlyn Barry, Jeremy Geisinger and James Roccograndi. Third row: assistant principal Tom Duffy, Alyssa Monaghan, Tamara Nijmeh, Sara Flaherty, Austin Sickler, Aaron Weir and Susan Collini. Absent from photo was Michael Mulea and Dr. Collini.

SCHOOL BRIEFS

Penn State W-B plans summer camps

Penn State Wilkes-Barre's 2006 Summer Youth Program brochure is available at the campus on Old Route 115 in Lehman Township.

The brochure lists complete descriptions and costs for programs that provide challenging and enriching activities for children ages 2-18.

The camps were created to spark an interest in science and technology.

The are also available for budding artists, actors, journalists, horticulturalists, sports enthusiasts, and more.

Hands-on activities, experiments, and projects with experienced instructors are geared to each grade level.

Eighteen new camps have been added, including camps for pre-school age children and their parents.

Four sports camps are offered for children of various ages, soccer, golf, basketball and volleyball.

Two popular family summer camps will be offered. Preserving Family History, a camp about preserving family photos, films and records also teaches you how to archive your records with the latest technology.

Conserving our Resources teaches families the history of coal mining and its impact on our water resources. Campers will visit a river front site for field work and learn how water is tested for purity or contaminants.

Students may purchase lunch or bring lunch from home.

Bus transportation is available from Wilkes-Barre and Kingston.

While children attend camps, their parents and guardians are welcome to use the campus library or the exercise/weight room in the Athletics & Recreation Building.

For more information, or a complete brochure, call Ellen Gregorio at 675-9220 or e-mail wbc@outreach@psu.edu.

The brochure is also available online at www.wb.psu.edu/ce.
