ELIZABETH ZABOSKI

Former model; enjoyed gardening and cooking

Elizabeth J. "Bette" Zaboski, 77, of Dallas, died peacefully on Wednesday, September 27, 2006 after a brief battle with cancer.

She was born in Luzerne, on January 29, 1929, a daughter of the late Paul and Mary Brauna Stoner. She graduated from Dallas Borough High School in 1946. While primarily a homemaker, earlier in life she was employed by Bell Telephone, The Boston Store and Acme Markets. Always a stylish woman, she also modeled with the Marilyn Gauntlett Modeling Agency.

Later, she developed an interest in antiques and operated her own business known as EZ Antiques. In her later years, she continued to enjoy gardening and cooking and remained active as a volunteer with the Back Mountain Memorial Library. Bette was a devoted and caring wife and mother. She will be greatly missed by family and friends. In addition to her parents, her brothers Paul and George preceded her in death.

She is survived by her husband of 57 years, Edward F. Zaboski Sr.; children Claudia Becker and her husband, Michael Cunningham, Philadelphia; Edward Jr. and wife Anne, Orwigsburg; Sgt. Major Alan and wife Suma, Camp Zama, Japan; Sharon Weiner and husband William, Bethlehem; and Bradley and wife Chris, Lehman; grandchildren Edward, Lisa, Michael, Gregory, Ned, Paul and Nicholas; brothers Leonard Stoner, Elgin, OK; John Bernard Stoner, Richville, NY; Edward Stoner, West Chester; and Girard Stoner Wallahalla, SC; sister Marypaula Palencar, Stroudsburg; uncle Rupert Ziegler, Hunlock Creek; numerous nieces and nephews.

Memorial contributions may be made to Hospice Community Care, 601 Wyoming Ave., Kingston, PA 18704.

blessing is said before the breakfast is eaten and there is usually a guest speaker.

The men decided from the start that their meetings needed a purpose.

Last week, the men collected donations and the money will be given to the Ross family in Trucksville.

Last week, the family's house was damaged in a fire. More than $1,000 has been collected and distributed to area charities since the group started meeting last year.

At last week's breakfast, the discussed turned to a pair of rummage sales from different churches that are being held this week. Someone in the audience quips about competition and everyone laughs. Gene Kelment, tractor-pulled hayrides, pony rides, lots of homemade food and plenty of crafts. Proceeds from the $3 per carload fee will be used to help preserve the land and future plans for the farm. Possible plans include a bed-and-breakfast, a living-history museum, and costumed re-enactors showing what life is like on the farm.

An art contest was held with members of the public voting for a People's Choice Award, while a panel of judges voted for the Best Art Award.

The winner of the People's Choice Award was Constance Bignell Plashinski. Kelly Rafuse finished second and K.J. Barrett placed third. Honorable mention was given to Art Coburn and Marshall Rumbaugh.

In the Best Art Award category, Rumbaugh was chosen as the winner, while Brian Keller and A.J. Rutchauskas finished second and third, respectively. In a contest for the Best cated on the second floor with a circulation desk, information stations, stacks and a variety of research, study and gathering spaces, as well as two offices, a computer room and four group study rooms.

Plans for the building - designed by Bohlin Cwynski Jackson of Wilkes-Barre - call for an exterior of predominantly natural stone selected to match the Hayfield House, along with accents of metal and glass.

Among the guest speakers at the ceremony were Davis, state Sen. Charles Lemmond, campaign chairman William Davidowitz, honorary campaign chairman Robert Fortinsky, Penn State Wilkes-Barre advisory board chairwoman Anna Cervenak, Dale DiSanto of the University Park campus, and Student Government Association president Dan Migliori.

Money for the construction was raised by university, alumni, community, and campus support of a two-year capital campaign. Penn State Wilkes-Barre has more than 800 students, with a student to faculty ratio of 12.7 to 1.
