

Around Town

Sierra Kachurick, of Dallas, has her eye on some apples her father will buy her at the farmer's market.

Mary McDowell, of Trucksville, loads up on plenty of green leafy vegetables.

The Cochran family - David, Elizabeth, Morgan and McKenna - of Dallas, found just the right onions for Daddy's sauce at the Back Mountain Memorial Library's annual farmer's market.

Logan Brace, of Orane, helped his family sell fruit by restocking the shelves.

As fresh as you can get

The Back Mountain Farmer's Market has returned to the grounds of the Back Mountain Memorial Library on Huntsville Road and will continue every Saturdays until mid-September.

Local farmers and food vendors offer a variety of fresh fruits and vegetables, as well as other foods, for purchase from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. each Saturday.

Michelle Geise found the best-tasting lettuce for her family.

CHARLOTTE BARTIZEK
PHOTOS/FOR
THE DALLAS POST