CHARLOTTE BARTIZEK/ FOR THE DALLAS POST

Hannah Grube gets a hand on the corner of her tent at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church Summerfest.

Fun at Summerfest

It was a kickin' good time at Summerfest held August 11 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Dallas. Gary Booth served as chairperson while his wife, Peg, chipped in as co-chairperson of the church's third Summerfest event.

The Living Stones from Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Kingston and a barbershop quartet provided musical entertainment while a puppeteer group from Bethlehem thrilled a crowd of children with their skills.

There was food - plenty of good food - a bake sale, new and used books and a flea market with craft vendors and flea market items. And, with money still being counted, the total will be well over $3500 raised from the event for the church.

Ellie Thompson, Dallas, finds something to buy at St. Paul's Lutheran Summerfest and sale.

Colin Fetterman has the best seat in the house at St. Paul's Lutheran Summerfest in Shavertown - on top of dad's head. Colin's dad is Kurt Fetterman.
