tempt to keep flood waters away from homes. Residents were evacuated the morning of Wednesday, March 5 and forced to stay out of their homes until the water receded.

Bekanic toured hard-hit areas of Franklin Township Monday afternoon with representatives from Pennsylvania Senator Lisa Baker's office and Pennsylvania Representative Karen Boback's office, along with township officials. These areas include Valley View Road, Cider Run Road, Lewis Road and Municipal Road.

Repairs to Cider Run Road from 2006 flooding were completed last year with $58,000 of FEMA money.

"A lot of it is wiped out again," said Art Owen, roadmaster and zoning officer for Franklin Township.

Runoff on Municipal Road caused deep trenches to form on the sides of the road between Sutton Creek Road and the municipal building, making the road nearly impassable.

Maureen Oremus, second assistant fire chief for Franklin Township, said it would be difficult to get a tanker down the hill under normal circumstances.

Now, she said, it would be nearly impossible, though she stressed homes would not be in danger because a line could be laid from the municipal building or West Eighth Street down onto the road.

Water on the other side of Municipal Road, past Sutton Creek Road, was still flowing downhill Monday afternoon at such a high velocity, it sounded like a creek or stream.

On a section of Valley View Road, runoff undercut the asphalt by about two feet.

No county funds are available to assist with the road repairs, Bekanic says. But the county may be able to loan equipment and manpower to the township.

Franklin Township Chairman of Supervisors Michael Prokopchak asked Bekanic if the county can donate sandbags in case of future flooding. Bekanic said that would be possible.

Prokopchak asked for filled sandbags because the township only has two full-time employees. Bekanic said he would look into the matter.
