It's always Christmas at the Kotansky household. Because Marilyn Kotansky is the Silent Santa of Hazleton. And her husband, children and mother are the hard-working elves. Together, they collect toys, clothing and personal items, then sort and distribute to families in need. As cofounder and director of the Silent Santa program, Marilyn fills the holiday wishes of more than 400 children each year. She expects far more this year.

She and her mother started the program 10 years ago, working from their homes and giving toys to 26 children. They saw a need and answered it, filling in for organizations that ran out of funding. Silent Santa now operates out of donated warehouse space with a host of volunteers.

As Marilyn says, "it's not just about income. We serve families who have lost everything in a fire. Or whose primary income earner lost their job. They find their way to us, and eventually end up helping us. That's the best part - seeing people get back on their feet."
