Art work of summer students to be exhibited

Local lovers of art have been cultivating their personal creative expressions by wading into watercolor, playing in paint and digging into drawing. For these local artists and art students, creating art has been an almost daily summer activity for the Summer Studio Society at Sue Hand's Imagery.

The public is invited to a single evening Celebration Exhibition of their summer's work from 6 to 8 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 22, at the studio located at 35 Main St., Dallas.

Many of the artists will exhibit illustrated and hand-bound books from the classes taught by Laura Adams, Wilkes-Barre, as well as drawings and paintings in various styles and media taught by Sue Hand, Dallas.

Hand will exhibit her own watercolor paintings and colored pencil drawings, many from recent canoe trips on the Susquehanna River.

Nina Santarelli, of Dallas, instructor of children's classes for the summer, will exhibit miniature acrylic paintings. Rose Luksha, of Larksville, has created a body of work in a variety of media. Ryan Frania and Garret Geise, both of Shavertown, have concentrated in oil, watercolor and drawing while Nicole Hilstolsky, of Wyoming; sisters, Gabriella and Maria Darbenzio, Chelsea Martin, Laura Panzitta, Rachel Madeira and Blair Costantino, all of Dallas, will display varied artworks from their College Level Drawing class, Plein Air painting and other projects in a variety of media.

Also represented in the exhibit are Anna Fiske, of Kingston; Nicole Delevan, of Forty Fort; Peggy Davidson, of Mehoopany; Cassandra Perry, of Nanticoke; and Danielle Cunningham, of Plymouth.

Arts at Hayfield returns

The 24th annual celebration of Arts at Hayfield's Summer Festival will take place on Sunday, Aug. 24, on the Penn State Wilkes-Barre campus in Lehman.

This year's activities include the popular juried craft show with more than 110 crafters and artisans, a wide variety of entertainment and activities for adults and children, a delicious variety of festival foods and, for the first time, a Pump and 5K-Run Contest.

The festival runs from the gate opening at 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Registration for the Pump and Run starts at 9 a.m. A yearly highlight of the scholarship fundraiser is the tour of Hayfield House which will draw heightened interest this year following a recent investigation into paranormal activity in the mansion. Guided tours will be conducted throughout the 30,000 square foot former summer home of John and Bertha Conyngham at 11 a.m., 12:30 p.m. and 3 p.m.

While the tours are free, the popularity of them has prompted the issuing of tickets so that tour groups can be held to convenient numbers as people move through the house. The complimentary tickets, coded for specific tour time, will be available in the tent just in front of Hayfield House. Officials recommend those planning to take the tour secure their tickets upon arrival to the festival.

For more information or directions to Penn State/Wilkes-Barre in Lehman call Janis Winter, Festival Chair at 675-9232. A $1 donation per adult is requested on admission to the grounds. Arts at Hayfield proceeds benefit Penn State
