

Josh Lubin, left, and seniors Tiffany Thomas, center, and Johanna Hudak whoop it up at the senior float.

Allen Morrow picks up some Lake-Lehman wear for his girlfriend who graduated from Dallas.

A yearbook booth set up at the homecoming game helps defray the cost of next year's books.

Forming the junior class float are, from left, Kate Williams, Theresa Restaino, Mariah Raspen and Brittany Austin.

Coming home to L-L

Members of the Lake-Lehman junior varsity and senior cheerleading squads perform during the homecoming game.

CHARLOTTE BARTIZEK/ FOR THE DALLAS POST

This year's Lake-Lehman Homecoming festivities involved the entire community as school and community organizations hosted booths at a festival held before the football game against Holy Redeemer.

In addition to the festival, there was a Cow Pie Bingo sponsored by the Lake-Lehman Educational Foundation, a parade, a performance in memory of Justine Martin by cheerleaders and A.J. Martin prior to the introduction of the homecoming court and the crowning of the king and queen during halftime of the football game.

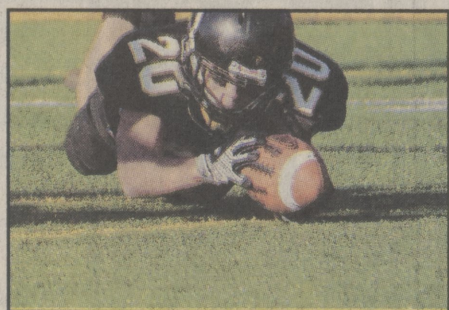

The gymnasium at the Lake-Lehman Junior/Senior High School was transformed into the look of several countries, including the USA, France, Mexico, Italy and China for the 2008 Homecoming Dance on October 4. The semi-formal dance was open to students in grades nine through 12 and featured a "Countries of the World" theme.

Keith Roberts, left, Thomas Stepanski, center, and Cody Komarowski celebrate a touchdown during the Black Knights' 52-0 Homecoming victory over Holy Redeemer.

Jess Jones, left, Diana Gionfriddo, center, and Jill Franklin approach the ticket table at the Lake-Lehman Homecoming Dance.

Tom Stepanski scores a touchdown for Lake-Lehman, enroute to the Black Knights' 52-0 homecoming victory over Holy Redeemer.

Leann Grabski, left, and Jaime Westley enjoy the ambiance of the decorated school gym for the homecoming dance.

A.J. Martin, the uncle of Carrie Martin, a Lake-Lehman senior killed in an automobile accident earlier this year, sings a song in tribute to his niece.