Visiting horses at REASON

An Open House was held on October 4 at REASON, the Retired Equine Adoption Society of the Northeast at its farm on route 292 in Center Moreland. In addition to the open house, the event includes a silent auction, pony rides for children and adults, bake sale, food and drinks plus new and use horse tack and horse-related items for sale. There were horses looking to be adopted and Diana Tuorto, a children's author and poet from New Jersey, was on hand to sell and sign copies of her children's novels with 5-percent of all sales from the event donated to REASON. REASON is a non-profit equine adoption organization dedicated to providing the first step to a new beginning for all equines.
