

Catholic Schools Week noted

Students at Gate of Heaven School celebrated Catholic Schools Week January 25-30. There were fun activities all week long and students in pre-school through eighth grade participated in a spelling bowl, Crazy Hat and Crazy Sock Day and a talent show. They also enjoyed free lunch and snacks, Green and White Games and an Open House.

'Seeing' things as others do

Attendants at a recent blindness awareness dinner got a first-hand feel as to how it is to be blind.

All 29 participants were blindfolded during the dinner on Feb. 20 at St. Francis Cabrini Church in Carverton. Elise Fields, 16, a junior at Dallas High School and a member of Girl Scout Troop 2652 of Dallas, held the blindness awareness dinner to show the community what it is like to be a blind person. food and relied on others for help. Fields presented the dinner as part of her senior completion project and toward her Gold Award in scouting. "When I was in Germany, I saw advertisements for a restaurant which was all eating in the dark," Fields said. "I thought it was very interesting, so I expanded upon it to spread blindness awareness through the community."
