To the left of the lobby is the Irem Clubhouse Pub and Restaurant. The pub and restaurant each has its own menu, but they will share.

"If I'm in the dining room, I can have a burger and if I'm in the bar and I want filet mignon, I can do that," Dobbs said.

Non-members of the club are permitted to dine in the bar and restaurant, but they are not allowed to purchase alcohol. Non-members can only consume alcohol if it is bought for them by a member.

A patio off the bar overlooks the valley, but is even more significant because it offers a dual view of the No. 1 tee and 18th green.

"You can view people going out and people finishing," Dobbs said.

The dining room has a semi-private area in the back that can be used for large groups, parties or rehearsal dinners. Dobbs hopes a back patio off the dining room will be used as a second wedding ceremony area. The first area is on the No. 1 tee.

"We're offering this as another alternative site because it provides convenience and comfort of the clubhouse," Dobbs said.

The kitchen is located behind the lobby in between the dining and banquet areas and is divided into two sections. The first section is dedicated only to the restaurant and pub area while the second section is for the banquet and meeting rooms.

A halfway house off Hole 11 will be located behind the kitchen. Dobbs says the service could not be provided between Holes 9 and 10 as is the tradition on golf courses.

"We can provide superb food service as opposed to a cinder block building two miles out on the golf course," Dobbs said.

The Irem Clubhouse Pub and Restaurant will open on May 12, the day the building opens.

The restaurant will be open from 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. for Sunday brunch, a la carte menu service. The pub will be open from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and on Monday during golf season.
