Penn State coaches are shown here with future soccer stars. The Summer Youth Program at Penn State/Wilkes-Barre boasts a 25-year history of providing exciting academic enrichment and sports camps for kids in northeastern Pennsylvania.

PSU Summer Youth Program in 25th year

Students in kindergarten, middle school and high school can have fun in a variety of academic enrichment and sports camps at Penn State Wilkes-Barre from June 22 through July 24.

With over 30 different activities to choose from - 16 camps which are new this year, the Summer Youth Program boasts a 25-year history of providing affordable and exciting summer camps for youths in northeastern Pennsylvania.

The camps are designed to engage young children and teens of all grade levels to become physically active and creative.

"It's a great way to experience art, nature and science. Plus, if you're looking for high-quality sports camps, our expert Penn State coaching staff will guide your child through the fundamentals of basketball, volleyball, soccer, and golf. Most of all, kids are having fun and making new friends," said Ellen Gregorio, continuing education representative at the Wilkes-Barre campus.

According to Gregorio, "Our Summer Youth Program has highly-trained instructors, who have significant amounts of experience in their field. Each staff member has to be approved by Penn State through the University College."

For registration information contact the Continuing Education department at 675-9219 or visit them at www.wb.psu.edu/ce.
