SAVES WATER AND MONEY

FIX A LEAK WEEK
MARCH
15-21, 2010

According to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), an American home can waste 10,000 gallons of water every year. Running toilets and dripping faucets are typical culprits, and the loss adds up quickly. So please participate in the EPA WaterSense Program's "Fix a Leak Week" by checking your home and repairing leaks now. You'll save water, energy and money — and help sustain the planet.
