

Helen Franklin, 93, holds the school bell belonging to her mother (pictured in front of the Rome School in Chase), Maude Bulford Splitt, at a reunion of people who attended one-room schoolhouses in Dallas, Trucksville and Ceasetown.

Remembering the days of one-room schoolhouses

As they have done for years, those who attended one-room schoolhouses in Jackson Township gathered for their annual reunion on Aug. 8. This year, the reunion was held at the home of Thom and Sandy Morris, of Jackson Church Road in Shavertown.

Leona Mizdall, left, of Hunlock Creek and Elmer Swelgin, of Jackson Twp., attended the one-room schoolhouse in Ceasetown together. Here, they talk about days gone by at a reunion of one-room schoolhouse graduates.

Christopher Taminini wins business competition at Misericordia

Dallas High School student Christopher Taminini won the business plan competition at the Misericordia University Financial Fitness Summer Business Camp in June.

The camp was open to high school students who gained valuable insight into career opportunities available to business and finance majors. Students participating in the camp developed their own ideas and plans and then made an oral presentation to a panel of business educators.

Taminini developed a business plan for custom-designed water bottles.

The four-day and three-night interactive camp was hosted by Misericordia University's Center for Economic and Entrepreneurship Education.

It provided rising high school juniors and seniors an opportunity to develop business plans, interview real-world professionals in finance, banking, marketing and business and an opportunity to participate in the Stock Market Game.

A Free Market game gave participants a chance to explore the sales of goods and services, analyze pricing and experience the process of Free Market economics.

Teachers for the Financial Fitness Camp - Denise Moletto of East Stroudsburg High School South, Tom Gilroy of Dallas High School, Alicia Ross of Blue Ridge High School; and Tiffany Cross Luciani of Northeastern Pennsylvania Technology Institute - designed a lesson plan that included games to help students explore careers in the financial services industry, including banking, mortgage and finance.

They also practiced resume and portfolio building and discussed the educational preparation needed for these careers.
