GO FIGURE! by Linda Thistle

DT police officers crack down on drivers not using seat belts

The Dallas Township Police Department will join law enforcement nationwide through December 4 to crack down on non seat belt use — especially at night when the greatest number of unbelted crashes and deaths occur. Police officers will strictly enforce Pennsylvania's seat belt laws and motorists are encouraged to buckle up. Drivers stopped for a traffic violation who are not wearing a seat belt will receive a second citation for not buckling up. The seat-belt usage rate in Pennsylvania is currently 83.82 percent, a marked decrease in usage from the high of 87.9 percent. 120,734 crashes occurred in Pennsylvania in 2010, resulting in 1,324 fatalities. Seat belts were not worn by 58.2 percent of people killed in occupant-related crashes. The percentage rises to 75 percent at night. Pennsylvania has a secondary seat-belt law but several groups are subject to a primary seat belt law: Children from birth to age 4, drivers under age 18 who operate a motor vehicle in which the number of passengers exceeds the number of available seat belts in the vehicle and commercial truck drivers. Beginning Dec. 24, Lacey's Law will go into effect, making teen driver safety and seat-belt laws stronger.
