

Misericordia Players Jeff Kelly, of Dallas, and Mary Scarpa, of Tunkhannock, rehearse a scene from "The Laramie Project" which will be performed at 8 p.m. March 29-31 in Lemmond Theater in Walsh Hall on the campus.

'The Laramie Project' comes to Misericordia

The Misericordia Players student theatrical group will present three performances of "The Laramie Project," a play that addresses issues of hate, intolerance and the human spirit, from March 29-31 in Lemmond Theater in Walsh Hall.

All shows begin at 8 p.m. and tickets are available at the door at $5 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and students.

In conjunction with the production, the Misericordia University Diversity Institute - Office of Inclusive Excellence, is offering seminars on workplace bullying and harassment on March 29 in Huntzinger Room 218 of Sandy and Marlene Insalaco Hall. Seminar times are 9 to 10:15 a.m., noon to 1:15 p.m. and 3 to 4:15 p.m.

Light refreshments will be served. Reservations are required by calling 674-1483 or bnowalis@misericordia.edu.

Written by Moisés Kaufman and members of the Tectonic Theater Project, "The Laramie Project" offers a moving theatrical experience as it chronicles the apparent hate-crime death of Matthew Shepard, a 21-year-old University of Wyoming student who, in 1998, was kidnapped, severely beaten and left to die near Laramie, Wyo. because of his sexual preference.

A television movie based on the play starring Peter Fonda and Laura Linney first aired in 2002.

The cast includes MU students Kaila Augustine of Kulpmont, Courtney Bieber of Reading, Jasmine Mae Busi and Melvin Jay Busi of Saylorsburg, Matthew Cebrosky of Lehigh, Samuel Corey of Uniondale, Jeff Kelly of Dallas, Jackie Paluszek of Selden, N.Y.; Grace Riker of Bridgewater, N.Y.; Mary Scarpa of Tunkhannock, Joy Sy of Bushkill and Alexandria Smith of Seaford, Del.

Warren Rosengrant, of Kingston, a community theater veteran, will play the role of Dennis Shepard, the victim's father.

For more information, call the Misericordia Box Office at 674-6719.
