Foundation presents first awards

The Dallas Foundation recently presented its first Dallas Foundation Community Service Scholarship Award to two graduating Dallas High School seniors, Andrew M. Santora and Christine N. McCarthy.

The criteria for becoming a finalist for the award included a detailed review of each student's community service activities. As well as recognition in front of their peers on Awards Night, the scholarship carries a monetary award of $500 per student to use toward college expenses.

Santora will attend Franklin & Marshall while McCarthy will study at Lafayette.

Penn State Wilkes-Barre offers scholarships for youth programs

Penn State Wilkes-Barre Continuing Education is currently offering a limited number of scholarships for students wishing to attend the campus' summer youth programs.

The scholarships, underwritten by Procter & Gamble's Live, Learn, and Thrive Program and the Penn State Wilkes-Barre Alumni Society, help defray the cost of attending the camps at Penn State

Wilkes-Barre this summer. The scholarships will cover the cost of camp tuition and are awarded on a first-come, first-served basis for those who qualify.

This summer, Penn State Wilkes-Barre Continuing Education is offering 23 academic and personal enrichment and five athletic camps, including 11 new camps: girls volleyball, boys basketball, Math-tastic Fun!, African Art Safari, Newton's Toolbox, Salut to French!, Poetry Power!, Hey! I'm on the Radio!, Awesome Investigation, Digital Scrapbook and Castles & Dragons.

Camps run during the weeks of June 25-29, July 9-13, 16-20, and 23-27.

The camps are designed to engage elementary and middle-school aged children in creative, scientific, imaginative and physical fitness activities.

Some of the other featured camps this summer include: Two-Week Musical Theatre, Lego Mindstorm® Robotics, LegoLand®, Animal Hospital, Chicks & Animals, Amazing Adventures in Nature, and many more.

For more information about the Summer Youth Programs at Penn State Wilkes-Barre and how to receive a scholarship for the camps, contact Teri Pace at 675-9219.
