Library board resolution

The board of directors of the Back Mountain Memorial Library recently passed a resolution thanking volunteers who worked the library's annual auction.

The resolutions reads as follows:

"Whereas, the Back Mountain Memorial Library Auction is a major fundraising event to support the library,

Whereas, the annual auction is one of the premier community social events supported by the library,

And whereas, the annual auction could not take place without the generosity of spirit, dedication and hard work of an army of volunteers who reflect the spirit of our community and our country on its best day,

Now be it resolved that we the members of the Back Mountain Memorial Library Board of Directors enthusiastically express our gratitude to everyone who gave their time, energy and support to the 2012 library auction, your selfless service to the library is admired, appreciated and duly recognized."

Creative Creations on display at library

During the month of August, the Back Mountain Memorial Library's Art Wall featured the Creative Creations of Laura Horvath, formerly of Dallas, now residing in Kingston. Laura's collection includes pieces done in acrylics, water color pencils, oil and chalk pastels. Her favorite piece on display is a painting of flowers, which she describes as having a "beautiful, soft effect." Laura began her love of painting while working with an art therapist, who taught Laura to express her feelings and emotions through her artwork. "Each piece tells a story," she said.
