Service grant deadline near

As the application deadline approaches to apply for Pennsylvania's Volunteer Fire and Ambulance Service Grants, Rep. Karen Boback (R-Luzerne/Columbia/Wyoming) is encouraging volunteer fire companies and ambulance services throughout Pennsylvania that have not already done so to apply for the 2012 Volunteer Fire Company and Volunteer Ambulance Service Grant Program.

The General Assembly recently adopted Act 78 of 2012 to reauthorize the grant program for an additional four years and increase the total grant funding available from $25 million to $30 million.

Grants to eligible fire companies will be contingent upon their agreeing to participate in and report information using the Pennsylvania Fire Information Reporting System. The application period closes on Oct. 19.

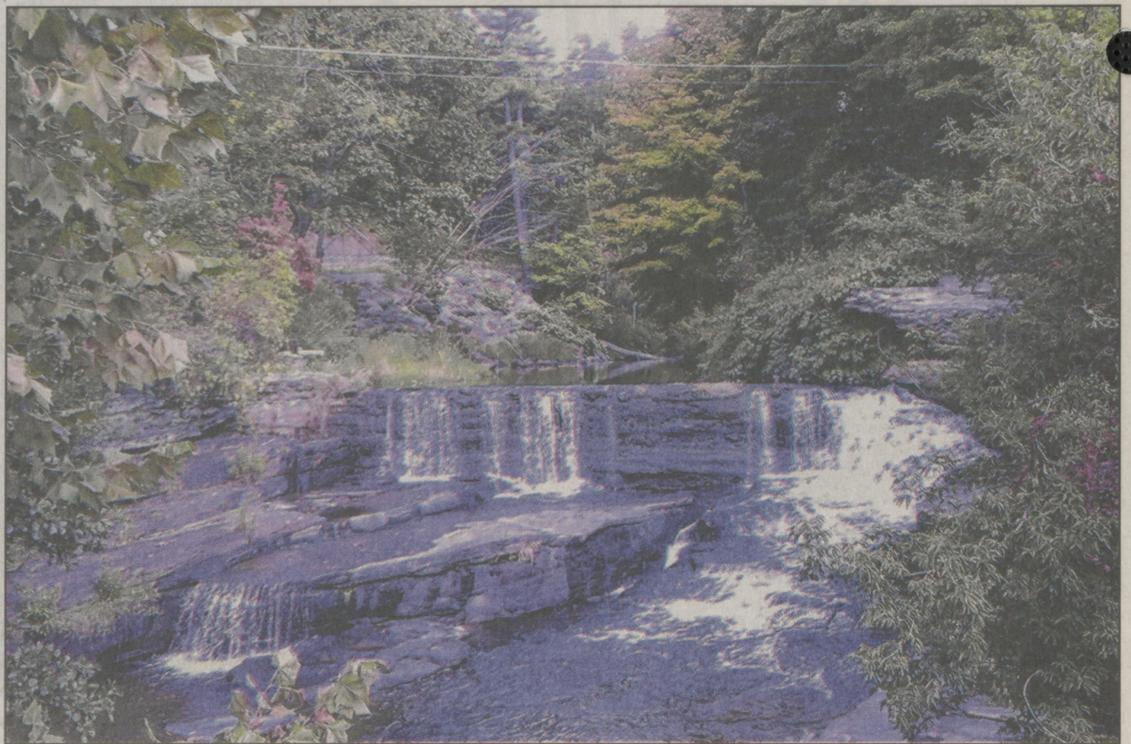

Last year, dozens of area fire and ambulance organizations each received thousands of dollars in funding from the program, which was created by the General Assembly as Act 10 of 2007. The program is funded through state gaming proceeds.

For more information, visit Boback's website at RepBoback.com and click on "Fire and Ambulance Grants."

- It was beloved American actress Katharine Hepburn who made the following sage observation: "If you always do what interests you, at least one person is pleased."
- Half of the Earth's surface is covered by the Pacific Ocean.
- Need more evidence that portion sizes in America are getting larger? In the 1964 edition of the iconic "Joy of Cooking," a recipe for chocolate chip cookies was said to yield 45 servings. When the cookbook's 1997 edition was published, the same recipe was said to yield 36 servings.
- The original name of the city of Melbourne, Australia, was Batmania.
- In the original calculations made by NASA experts, a landing on the moon was thought to have only a 5 percent chance of success.
- In rural Wisconsin in 1921, two third-grade students in a one-room schoolhouse became sweethearts. At the end of the school year, Lorraine Beatty and Mac McKittrick lost touch with each other. This story would be unremarkable, except for what happened 87 years later. In 2009, their brothers, who had become friends, brought the couple back together again. Shortly thereafter, the couple married and moved in with each other in a retirement home.
- The 12th president of the United States, Zachary Taylor, let his horse graze on the White House lawn.
- The oldest government building in the country actually predates the nation: The Palace of the Governors in Santa Fe, N.M., was built in 1610.

- On Oct. 19, 1931, David Cornwell, later known as spy novelist John le Carre, is born in Poole, England. He published his first spy novel, "Call for the Dead," in 1961. The novel, like his second, "A Murder of Quality" (1962), featured spy George Smiley.
- On Oct. 15, 1946, Herman Goering, commander in chief of the Luftwaffe and head of the Gestapo, dies by his own hand. He was found guilty at Nuremberg and committed suicide by swallowing a cyanide tablet he had hidden from his guards.
- On Oct. 20, 1968, 21-year-old Oregonian Dick Fosbury wins gold medal and sets an Olympic record when he high-jumps 7 feet, 4 1/4 inches at the Mexico City Games. It was the international debut of Fosbury's unique jumping style, known as the "Fosbury Flop," which, according to one journalist, "looked like a guy falling off the back of a truck."
- On Oct. 17, 1973, the Arab-dominated Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) announces a decision to cut oil exports to the United States. In December, a full oil embargo was imposed, prompting a serious energy crisis and gasoline rationing in the United States.
- On Oct. 16, 1987, 18-month-old Jessica McClure is rescued after being trapped for 58 hours in an abandoned water well in Midland, Texas. McClure had fallen through the 8-inch-wide opening of an abandoned well in the backyard of her aunt's home day-care center. After dropping about 22 feet into the well, the little girl became stuck.
