Andrew Levandoski and Lily Romanowski are exhibiting their art work at Berwick Hospital during the month of May.

Two exhibit art work at Berwick Hospital

Andrew Levandoski, 16, of Dallas, a junior at Wyoming Seminary, and Lily Romanowski, 17, of Swoyersville, a junior at Lake-Lehman High School, are exhibiting their art work at the Berwick Hospital. Both young artists studied under artist Sue Hand for 10 years. Levandoski's mediums are watercolor, oil and colored pencil. Animals and nature are central to much of his art work; however, he is exploring other subject matter, especially figures. Most of Romanowski's art work is inspired by color, dramatic lighting and the contrast between lights and darks. Drawing and painting have always provided her with peace, joy and solitude. The exhibit, which includes 30 pieces of art, will be on display during regular business hours the entire month of May.
