

WINTER WONDERLAND

Back Mountain made even more beautiful by several inches of snow

Winter came to the Back Mountain on Dec. 15 when Mother Nature dumped several inches of the white stuff around our area. While out taking photos at Back Mountain Christmas parties, Dallas Post photographer Bill Tarutis captured these shots which make for a great composite about what our area looks like during a snowstorm.

Two cross-country skiers navigate the snowy terrain in the Back Mountain during last Saturday's snowstorm.

Patrick Wright, of Dallas, shovels his driveway on Main Street.

Steve Sudosky works on clearing his driveway on Lower Demunds Road in Shavertown the day after the snowstorm.

Fresh snow coats the branches of this tree decorated for the holidays at the Jackson Township Recreation Park.

A motorist makes his way along snow-covered Pioneer Avenue near Newberry Estates.

Seven-year-old Phaedra Erzar, of West Wyoming, sleds down a hill near her home.
