

The Late I. S. Longenecker.

I. S. LONGENECKER DIED YESTERDAY

HE WAS ONE OF THE BEST AND MOST WIDELY KNOWN RESIDENTS IN THIS COMMUNITY

Isaac S. Longenecker, cashier emeritus of the Union National Bank, one of the most distinguished business men of Mount Joy for the last half century, known and highly respected by hundreds of rural people of the community as well as the residents of the town, died Tuesday aged 83 years, 1 month and 2 days. He was born in Dauphin county, in what is now Conewago township, on January 3, 1835, and is the son of Abraham and Anna (Shenk) Longenecker, prosperous and industrious farmers, consistent members of the Zion Children (Brinsler) denomination. He spent his early life on his father's farm, but farm life did not appeal to him so at the age of fifteen he entered Fultz's store, now Deodate, where he was an efficient clerk for five years, after which he went to teaching school and taught one year, the first year that Dauphin county had a County Superintendent. The teachers were very scarce then and received only twenty dollars a month salary. They were examined in all the common branches except grammar. The term was then only four months. On April 1, 1855 Mr. Longenecker's father took him in a sleigh to Mastersonville where he became a clerk in the store of Joseph Masterson, where he remained six years. While employed here he was married to Miss Harriet Fretz of Rapho township. In 1861 he purchased a store building at what was then known as Kelley's Corner, now called Upper Lawn; but being afraid of starting in the store business at this time, as there was considerable war talk, he rented the building away for other purposes, and moved to Mount Joy the same year. The first two years he lived in town he served as clerk in the store of Peter Weidman, now the Samuel (Continued on page 8)

LET THIS COUNTY SET A "SHINING EXAMPLE" TO OTHERS

It is Food; Food; Food, that will win the war. The housewife is as potent a factor in winning the War, as is the soldier at the front. There will be a great Food Drive in February; women must face the issue; learn to save and substitute for Wheat. Use Corn Meal and Corn Flour, the latter can be used with white Flour and Yeast. War recipe books may be had for the asking, after February 1st, at headquarters, No. 534 Woolworth Building.

Then, too, there are the Barley, potatoes and rye flours which are most palatable and will be on sale very soon by most of the grocers. Lancaster county was most patriotic in her Food Production last Summer, but the coming season must find her doubly ambitious. Enough food must be produced to feed her own population.

There is no reason why the second class food stuffs which are shipped here, should be bought by the patriotic-housewife, when our own farmers can produce much better vegetables at a more reasonable price. Lancaster county has come to the front in every other War Issue, let her Food Production and distribution be a "shining example" to all other counties of the state.

A Birthday Surprise
A birthday surprise party was held in honor of Master David Lowe on his tenth birthday. Seventeen of his young friends gathered at the home of one of the number and came to the home of Master Lowe in a body. The evening was spent in the playing of games after which a tasty luncheon was served. Among those present were: Misses Jean Sload, Kathryn Eshleman, Lillian Sload, Edith Sload, Susan Evans, Mary Evans, Nancy Rife and Carl Houseal, Joseph Henderson, Walter Houseal, Charles Hicks, Theodore Hollenbaugh, Oliver Sprout, Roy Hoover, Abram Sload, Donald Arntz, Branson Jacobs and David Lowe.

Will Hold a Euchre
The Loyal Order of Moose will hold a euchre in their parlors at Elizabethtown on Friday evening.

Farmers Column

Items in These Columns Are Prepared in the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., and are Reliable and Trustworthy

In the United States rats and mice destroy each year in homes, factories, stores and warehouses, in cars and on ships, crops, poultry, and other property, valued at more than $200,000,000—an amount equivalent to the gross earnings of an army of 200,000 men. Grain, eaten and wasted by rats and mice, on many farms, would pay all of the farmer's taxes, States, communities, and individuals should help eliminate rats and mice: by requiring that all new buildings, wharves and other structures be rat-proof; that existing buildings of rat-proof construction be further protected by having basement windows and drains covered with screens, gratings, etc., and that existing buildings that are not rat-proof be made so by remodeling. By constructing sewers and drains so that they will not provide entrance and retreat for rats. By insisting on greater cleanliness about markets, stores and generally throughout cities, villages and the country districts. By threshing and marketing grain early so that stacks will not furnish harboring places and food for rats. By removing piles of straw, trash and lumber which harbor rats in fields and vacant lots. By protecting the hawks, owls and other natural enemies of rats which are not so destructive to poultry as rats themselves. By keeping well trained rat dogs on farms and about city warehouses. By keeping provisions which rats and mice will attack in rat-proof and mouse-proof containers. By destroying rats and mice systematically by poisoning, trapping and by organized systematic hunts.

Why Not Skim Milk Routes?
To make use of a valuable food which has been very much neglected, the Federal Dairy Division is urging dealers to consider seriously the advisability of putting out skim milk on their regular milk routes. Consumers can help the movement by asking for the product. In the past many dealers have been opposed to the sale of skim milk on the routes, fearing that it would curtail the consumption of whole milk. It is believed, however, that many people, if they had an opportunity, would use skim milk for cooking and drinking, in addition to their customary quantity of whole milk. Skim milk sold in this way should be pasteurized and hauled as carefully as market milk. It should also be labeled conspicuously to comply with local regulations, so that the customer may be fully informed as to its true character. Skim milk contains all the fat. It has a little more protein than whole milk, but because of the deficiency in fat, does not supply so much energy. When 4 per cent. whole milk—an average butterfat content of market milk—sells at 12 cents a quart, skim milk is worth 12.4 cents a quart as a source of protein. In energy value skim milk is worth 6.3 cents a quart when 4 per cent. whole milk is selling for 12 cents.

Poultry
It is not necessary to build expensive poultry houses, but they should be serviceable, fairly roomy, well lighted, and well ventilated, without drafts. Your flock need not be objectionable to the neighbors. There will be no disagreeable odors if dropping boards are provided in the chicken house and these are cleaned daily. The noise of the male bird is as unnecessary as the male himself in a flock kept for eggs. Hens lay just as well without the male. As it is better to have a cold dry poultry house than a warm, damp one, some means of ventilation should be provided. A cloth curtain over an opening has proved a very successful method of ventilation. If the poultry yards are to be on only one side of the house they should be located on the south side in order that the fowls may have the benefit of the first dry ground in early spring and the warmth from the reflection of the sun on the house during the winter.

The fact that rabbits are a cheap substitute for the ordinary meats is likely to turn the attention of many more persons to rearing them now, specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture believe. They can be kept in small and inexpensive pens and buildings and like poultry, can be killed and prepared for the table on short notice. The decrease in the number of beef cattle in the United States, with the resulting high prices which have prevailed during recent years, has caused greater interest to be taken in this industry, and many men who have never raised beef cattle in the past are taking up this kind of work. Young pigs should be given their feed in such a manner that each individual pig gets its share. The simplest way to accomplish this is to allow the pigs to eat from a properly constructed feed trough; one that will keep the pigs out of the feed and will lessen the possibility of crowding.

Much of the excellence of the rabbit as food depends upon the cooking. As often prepared, it is dry and insipid, while in the hands of an experienced cook it becomes all that a fastidious taste can wish—wholly as palatable as the finest poultry. A special requirement in cooking is that none of the natural juices in the meat be lost in the process.

New Club Organized
Appropriate to the season, a Ground Hog Club was organized here on Saturday with these officers: President, John Bombach; Vice President, Jac. M. Schroll; Secretary and Treasurer, J. M. Backenstoe. The new club will meet annually and only men are eligible who can affirm to having killed or captured a woodchuck. A banquet (minus the ground hog) was held Saturday.

Will Hold a Fox Chase
Mr. A. H. Stumpf, proprietor of the Farmers' Inn, will hold his fifth annual fox chase at his hotel here on Thursday, Feb. 14. A big turkey dinner will be served and all are invited to attend.
