WILL ELIMINATE TWO TOLL ROADS

EXPECTED TO MAKE LANCASTER AND ELIZABETHTOWN TURNPIKE FREE WITHIN THE NEXT WEEK

The announcement was made from the State Highway Department Thursday that the department would before the close of the week take over two York county turnpikes, one between Wrightsville and York, and the other between York and Gettysburg, a total of twenty-six miles. The department also expects to purchase the Manheim and Lancaster turnpike of nine and a half miles, making the third turnpike in this county acquired by the state, the other two being the Lancaster and Elizabethtown, and the Lancaster and Williamstown turnpikes.

The acquiring of the two York county turnpikes and the Lancaster and Williamstown pike, gives a free highway from Philadelphia to Gettysburg, except a stretch for about twelve miles between Lancaster and Columbia. This road is known as the Lancaster and Columbia turnpike, and owing to a dispute between the Conestoga Traction Company and the stockholders of the road company who cannot agree upon the division of the purchase money, condemnation proceedings will be started.

The Board of County Commissioners have not been notified of the action of the State Highway Department, but the Commissioners announced that upon the receipt of a notice they will take the necessary action to free the Lancaster pikes in question.

MANHEIM TEACHER COMMITS SUICIDE

HIRAM W. DIEHM ENDS HIS LIFE IN A CORN FIELD—WAS BROODING OVER FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES

Mental trouble, said to have been produced by financial difficulties, is believed to have caused Hiram W. Diehm, aged 59 years, of Manheim, to take his life by shooting himself through the right temple with a .32-calibre revolver Tuesday afternoon. The body was discovered about 7 o'clock that evening lying partly on the back and side, supported between two shocks of corn, off the Manheim and Lititz turnpikes, on the farm of Benjamin Nissley about two miles northwest of Manheim.

Diehm disappeared from his home yesterday, and left this message: "Money all gone. Husband is leaving with a sad face." He leaves a wife and two sons.

The body was found by Benjamin Nissley while he and a number of employes were gathering in the corn shocks left on the farm since last Fall. Deputy Coroner J. B. Stroth, Esq., of Manheim, was notified and he, with his physician, Dr. J. D. Hershey, took charge of the body. Nothing of value was found in Diehm's clothing, only a few unimportant papers.

Diehm was a well known resident of Manheim, being an active member of the Nestor Club. He also was a candidate on the Democratic ticket for borough offices several times.

He was a school teacher for 42 years and for many years taught at the White Oak school. Lately he was teaching in a Manheim school for a period. He was also engaged during spare time as a newspaper correspondent.

The deceased was twice married, his first wife being dead for many years. He is survived by his second wife and two sons, Ivan, of Lancaster and Ira at home.
