WHERE TO ADVERTISE.

A little booklet bound in red, size 1 1/2 x 2 inches by W. D. Boyce, of Chicago, called 'Census figures for advertisers' giving some interesting facts. The population of the United States by the last report is 62,622,560, and the average number of persons to each family, 5.5 subdivided as follows: Urban population, 17,389,674 Suburban " 35,056,681 Rural " 10,176,895

The book says that the 37% percent can be reached by the daily newspapers, but the great bulk of the remaining 72% per cent. rely on the big weeklies, local weeklies and agricultural publications for the news of the world. The moral is advertise in your local papers.

Under the rules of rotation in this Senatorial district the next state Senator will go to the Democrats of Monroe. But if Monroe would forget her duty to Pike in the Congressional Record.

The firemen prompt in action as is befitting, met this week to arrange for a Fourth of July celebration in Milford. This action is eminently proper and timely. No reason exists why we should not furnish the people of the town and surrounding country with a pleasant and patriotic time. There is talent here to provide a first-class celebration. All the citizens should enter into the matter with zeal, and heartily co-operate with the firemen in their laudable undertaking.

The Lehighon Advocate wants to know why the Record supported the late Major Klotz two years ago as Carbon's choice. It was necessary to do that in order to break Northampton's vicious hold up on the Congressional apple. As against Northampton Carbon had a right to contend. And it was Carbon's firm stand in that contest that gave the little counties a chance. Pike won the prize and is entitled to a second term under all laws of politics. Carbon's turn will come next, then the Advocate will have a license to make a fight for anybody it chooses. But to mix the Democrats of Carbon in a factional quarrel at this time is outside for the county ticket and will aid the Congressional aspirant nothing.—Lehighon Record.

It is nearly May 1st soon the boarders will be looking around for places to spend the summer. Is Milford taking on any holiday attire to greet them is she even metaphorically speaking washing her face? Some have done what they could in the way of removing obstructions from the streets, which never should have been placed there but our town council and street commissioners, or haven't we any, are they all idle myths, mere vapors and gasconades. Nature has done much for us, is doing all she can, but our officials by their inaction are more than her equal in undoing her work. O, come please get a move on you, and if you can't, resign in a body, in favor of some one who can and will. Don't be biters even a running horse is better.

Young Men and Marriage. BY REV. MADISON C. PETERS, D. D. It is the purpose of this article to find marks of a true wife by which young men may be helped in choosing a life-partner. Beginning in the romantic fashion, I say to the young man: You want a good housekeeper. Wife is an Anglo-Saxon word, and means weaver. Before our great cotton and cloth factories arose, one of the principal employments in every home was the fabrication of clothing; every family made its own. The wool was spun into thread by the girls, who were therefore called spinners; the thread was woven into cloth by their mother, who was called the weaver, or wife.

You don't want a doll, or something too fine, too ethereal, for real use. The ideals of womanhood in novels have all their levelness shattered in a day by the rough usage of real life. Wordsworth paints the woman you want: A creature not too bright or good; For human nature's daily food; The reason firm, the temperate will, Endurance, foresight, strength, and skill; A perfect woman, nobly planned, To warn, to comfort, and command, And yet a slight, air, spirit, and bright, With something of an angel light.

Good housekeeping has far more to do with domestic happiness than young lovers dream of. I believe that these times need women whose most beautiful work will be done inside their own doors. Without good housekeeping the romance will soon go out of marriage. Of course, the man who prizes woman chiefly because she "looks well to the ways of her household" does not deserve to have a good wife. He should merely employ a housekeeper, and pay her good wages. But there are social, moral, and spiritual uses, proceeding from the wise regulation of the household, which bestow a dignity on what would otherwise be trifling. No matter what a girl's accomplishments may be, her education is incomplete, if she has not some knowledge of bake-ology, boil-ology, roast-ology, stich-ology, and mend-ology. Even if a girl should never be required to do the work herself, she ought to know whether it is done in a proper manner.

The greatest defect in our social system is the gimmesy way in which our girls are brought up. Many of them are prepared in neither body or mind for the lofty duties and serious responsibilities which marriage implies, and marriage, in consequence, has been brought down to a low, sensual plane. Let our girls be brought up to have their regular daily domestic duties, let idleness be forbidden them, and let every woman be clothed with the dignity of a useful life. With Dr. J. G. Holland, we believe that there is but one cure for many of our social evils,—"universal housekeeping."

THE LADIES' COLUMN.

We wish to suggest to the ladies that this column is always open to any and all who wish to suggest domestic subjects of any nature whatever, either to ask advice or furnish information to others, and we earnestly hope all readers of the Press and who desire will avail themselves of the opportunity, and thus receive as well as confer benefits.

TO REMOVE INK FROM PAPES.—Take a teaspoon of chlorinated lime and pour on it enough water to cover, take a piece of old linen and moisten by putting on it. Do not rub. If one application does not remove the stain let the paper dry and apply again.

A GOOD COUGH REMEDY.—An excellent remedy for a cough is made by slicing two lemons thin and adding ten cents worth of whole flaxseed, ten cents worth of licorice root and one gill of water, some sugar, boil until quite thick and strain. Take frequently a teaspoonful of the mixture.

AN ALL-NIGHT CANDLE.—A small piece of candle may be made to burn all night by putting finely powdered salt on it until it reaches the black part of the wick. An even light may be kept this way.

PLANKED SHAD.—We have been requested to furnish a recipe for "planked shad." Procure an oak plank two and a half inches thick, this should be made smooth and slightly hollowed on one side. Place in the oven until very hot. Split the shad in halves down the back and lay on the plank skin side next to plank. Season with salt and pepper, put bits of butter all over it and bake until a deep brown. Garnish with parsley and slices of lemon. Epicures think shad should never be cooked in any other way, and it is considered quite proper to serve at table on the plank which is placed on a china meat or fish plate.

SHAD ROE OMELETTE.—One large fresh shad roe break up thoroughly in a bowl removing all skin, season with salt, pepper and parsley. Break in it two eggs and two tablespoons melted butter. Fry in hot drippings or butter. Mash the cakes out well and cover to prevent splattering. M. K. D.

There is no t'other thing on earth, Nor yet one-half so cheap, As 'twould be more than distinguished birth. Or thousands gained a year, It maketh poverty content, To sorrow whippers peace; It is a gift from heaven sent, For mortals to increase. A charm to banish grief away, To free the brow from care— Turns tears to smiles, makes dullness gay, Spreads gladness every where. And yet 'tis cheap as summer's dew That gins the lily's braid— A tallman for love as true As ever man possessed. As smiles the rainbow through the cloud When threatening storms begin; As mists 'mid the sunniest land, That still its sweet ways win; As springs an arch across the tide.

When waves conflicting foam.

What may this wandering spirit be, With power upward before, The angel to our home? This shorn, this bright divinity? Good nature—nothing more: Good temper—'tis the choicest gift That woman heavenward brings, And can the poorest peasant lift To bliss unknown to kings.
