MATAMORAS.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.) MATAMORAS, Sept. 15.—There has been some discussion in this and adjoining states as to the practice under the free text book law of placing the old school books again in the hands of children. It is contended that disease germs may be, and often are transmitted in this manner. It might be well to have all old books thoroughly disinfected.

The road leading to the old Wehinger farm has been greatly improved by the use of the road machine. The same treatment would benefit other streets in Matamoras.

Wednesday, Sept. 9th was the twentieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. Edwin M. Kimball to his good wife, and it had been decided to quietly celebrate the event by inviting a few friends, but the design was thwarted by the members of the Ladies' Christian Union of the Hope Church who turned out in a body and surprised the happy couple. To make the event more enjoyable a large delegation of the Royal Templars of Temperance, of Port Jervis, soon arrived to wish them much joy and many happy returns of the day. These expressions also took on a material shape in the form of a beautiful rocker which was highly appreciated by the grateful recipients. Rev. J. A. Wiegand made the presentation speech which was fittingly responded to by Mr. Kimball. A Fire-o'Clock tea having been prepared all sat down and thoroughly enjoyed the repast, after which the guests departed with many kind wishes for the welfare of the family. It was on the whole a day of pleasure for the entire family. The venerable parents of Mr. Kimball who not long since celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, as also Burr W. Kimball and wife, of Troy, N. Y., were present and added largely to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Burr W. Kimball and wife left for their home in Troy, N. Y., Sunday after a few days very pleasantly spent visiting friends and relatives here. THOMAS.

MONTAGUE.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.) MONTAGUE, Sept. 15.—Wade Westbrook's elder press is kept busy.

Several strange faces were noticed in this town the past week. Mr. Albert Stoll is known to the National Campaign committee. Our regular political boss was not in it this time owing to his participation in a terrific battle in which clubs, fists and a merry-go-round got mixed up in Montague recently.

The Sussex Courts at Newton were convened for the September term on the 24th. The few cases completed but little time, and on Wednesday the panel were excused until Sept. 15th. Sundyston does not often have a case on, but did have a complaint before the grand jury. The move for an indictment of parties in this town who have married within the prohibited degree failed through not including in the complaint the daily violation of law by continuing the marriage relation. However the move was not preliminary, and an indictment was not anticipated under the circumstances. It does not materially delay the march of justice. "The right must prevail", and these offenses against morality and the law, that are a stain in the nostrils of decent people will be eventually corrected, and the guilty receive merited punishment.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Propositions have been made to advertisers by several publications that if McKinley is not elected at the coming presidential election their contracts are to be annulled. But all the same Mr. Editor keep the farmers posted on these matters, it will do no harm if no good. As for interest, all good farmers will strive to get out of paying that, and will attain what they strive for by paying off the mortgages, which will be much better. We will also see once more a better and freer people. I should add that the month of September, the harvest month for farmers, gives a great chance for this fixing and the farmer will do some of it, for his own benefit. C. L.

MILFORD, Sept. 11 1896. EDITOR PRESS. Sir, in your most esteemed paper I notice an article entitled, "Suppose you should be mistaken" I gladly take it up for the farmers who are likely to look at it in the way you put it. I will answer your query about like this. There is no fear of any such hasty calling upon the mortgagors, for the lenders, are better posted on money matters than we generally suppose, nor will sales be any more extensive than they are about now. But all the same Mr. Editor keep the farmers posted on these matters, it will do no harm if no good. As for interest, all good farmers will strive to get out of paying that, and will attain what they strive for by paying off the mortgages, which will be much better. We will also see once more a better and freer people. I should add that the month of September, the harvest month for farmers, gives a great chance for this fixing and the farmer will do some of it, for his own benefit. C. L.

Whitening Past. When Dr. Rees last preached in North Wales a friend said to him— one of those who are always reminding people that they are getting old—"You are whitening fast, Dr. Rees." The old man did not say anything then, but when he got to the pulpit he referred to it and said: "There is a wee white flower that comes up through the snow and frost, but we are all glad to see the snowdrop, because it proclaims that the winter is over and that the summer is at hand. A friend reminded me last night that I was whitening fast. But heed not that, brother; it is to me a proof that my winter will soon be over, that I shall have done presently with the cold east winds and the frosts of earth, and that my summer—my eternal summer—is at hand.—Dr. Heber Evans.

"Somebody to see you, sir," said the office boy to the editor. "What kind of a man?" "I can't say for sure." "Where are your eyes?" "Haven't you any powers of observation?" "Yes, sir, but I've guessed wrong so often that I'm afraid to try any more. Times are getting so now that you can't tell by the way a man wears his hair whether he's a poet or a Populist."—Washington Star.

A Story of the Merry-Go-Round.

The Christian Lady, and the Cow.

With Other Minor Events Concerning the Hero of Paradise Alley.

The merry-go-round and its manager has been having some interesting and novel experiences lately. The great smash-up of last spring with their weighty partners pertaining thereto are written in history, and will be found stored up in the archives of Sussex, and Pike counties.

Some of the managers later experiences are as thrilling as the adventures of Don Quixote, and like his, should be embalmed in printer's ink for the amusement and benefit of posterity. To make them readable and not too offensive to good taste, the minor details of what accompany a drunken orgie in low life will be carefully eliminated, and such happenings recorded as should occur only when they are given the melodious name of the merry-go-round and its manager is an Orator, Butcher, and Freshholder all rolled into one. It will be remembered that the manager has often told you through his organ, the Gazette, that the carousel is undergoing repairs, but that is a mild fiction to lots of other things he tells you through the same medium, for while it may not have been in full bloom it has been considered safe enough for its manager to take many experimental rides thereon since its great smash-up last spring. On Wednesday last the manager was spinning the Carousel on Spring street, Newton, and elsewhere around town, but while operating on Spring street it became a little erratic in its actions, and got its arms around a good Christian lady, mother of a grown up family, etc, right in view of numerous people on the street, and the Court House steps. No harm was done evidently, as the good Christian lady, mother of a grown up family, etc, smiled and seemed highly pleased. Later in the day the machine got to running in a hotel in Branchville and only by persuasion was it induced to go home without wrecking the hotel. A fortunate thing indeed for the village of Branchville. On Thursday after eight repairs the carousel went to Pennsylvania and only a mild spin was given it. But on Friday it got on the rampage and came near being the death of its manager, in fact broke all its previous records. With Josh, the "Judge," and its manager on board the start was made to see how the machine would work in securing a chivalrous mortgagee, yet without due process of law. As you remember the motive power is Jersey lightning. Well when it got to "Judge Sanatorium" the tank was filled, and steam turned on, but enough pressure could not be developed to draw the cow from her moorings.

The machine was then run up to "Bonney," the "biter" filled and the blowers put on. This proved to be a dangerous proceeding for the carousel soon got beyond control as might have been expected from previous experience. While under great speed it ran its managers stomach against a bundle of knuckles belonging to George Crono, and while the manager sat on his pants with the carousel in rapid gyration his head came in violent contact with a club, the property of Everett Crono. The machine now took the bit in its teeth and made crooked tracks for Hainesville blowing off at short intervals to beat the cars. Arriving at Hainesville in due season it is said the "Judge's" hostler examined the machine carefully and found the steam all out and the "biter" very weak, and in his opinion not safe to fill up again at once. The hostler there upon got most of the machine to bed in a box stall.

The manager is in hospital somewhere near the head of "Paradise Alley" whence comes weeping and wailing, and a call for court plaster and arnica that will clean up the old stock of all the drug stores in town. Sorrowful to relate, but it seems to be the manager instead of the merry-go-round that is laid up for repairs this time.

THE TEACHERS' WORLD.

All teachers and friends of education are cordially invited to contribute to this department. Communications will be gladly received by the editor of this department.

MILL RIFT, Pa., Sept. 14, 1896. To the Editor of the PIKE COUNTY PRESS: DEAR SIR.—In reply to your communication concerning an educational column in the PIKE COUNTY PRESS, I will say that I am of the opinion that a column devoted to education and the schools would not only prove of much interest to the public, but would have a tendency to bring out some of the best thoughts in regard to school work and to bring the various schools of the county into a closer relationship.

The newspaper reaches nearly every home throughout the county and is a powerful agent in moulding the public mind and in creating interest and enthusiasm in all subjects concerning the public welfare. The school interests of the county are of the utmost importance, consequently it seems to me that an educational column would be a desirable addition to a county paper.

Beside the many teachers, there are, throughout the county, experienced individuals who are interested in educational matters, and who, it is to be hoped, will contribute to the column.

Yours respectfully,
GEO. SAWYER.
