MONTAGUE.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.)
MONTAGUE, Dec. 30. — A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all. When next I write it will be 1907. Because your Sandyston scribe has returned and I will take a week's vacation. The PIKE COUNTY PRESS looks good in its new dress. That piece of corn near Tri-States looks forlorn standing out. The weather is most too cool to turn out coats.

Rev. Mr. Myles, of Dingmans, preaches in the Brick House School House next Sabbath morning and evening at 7 o'clock. All are invited.

Mrs. Julia Kerz has gone to Newton to spend the holidays.

Dr. H. E. Emerson, of Milford, has a host of friends over here which he made by the unremitting attention he pays to those who need his services. Night or day call on him and he comes.

Captain James E. Cole, our collector, reports collections up to date good. Of course there are always stragglers.

The Press seems to be a great advocate of good roads which is right. Every traveler likes good roads, but so far the solution to pay for them has not been solved. It does not look right to tax the already overburdened farmer for to build bicycle roads for outsiders who come here for a day or two, pay no taxes, and want to own the earth. The farmer of to-day is not hardly boss of his own property. It enters roam over his farm, tear down his fences, occasionally shoot one of his fowls and if he protests they are likely to tell him to go to a warmer climate. Now if you want to build those good roads and make the farmer pay the bill, he is able to do it. Any bicycle owners willing to pay any part of the expenses? I have never heard of one who was, but have heard lots of them find fault with the roads. Now your wheelman tells us his wheel costs $150 good enough. How much tax does he pay on his investment. Again a young man has a horse and wagon valued at $150 how much tax does he pay on his personal property? Give us good roads but don't legislate in such a way as to make the farmer pay the bill.

Eston Cole, son of our P. M., is spending his Christmas vacation with his parents.

Albert Orms, student of the Baltimore Medical College, is spending his vacation with his brothers, Gilbert and Lewis.

Mrs. Susan Hornbeck and family have left Montague, and taken up their residence at Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfried Wieland, Jr., of Rowland, Pike county, are visiting Montague relatives.

LAYTON.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.)
A LATE OPPORTUNITY.
LAYTON, Dec. 21.—Had our township bought a rock crushing plant a few years ago when the subject was being agitated we should now have our system of improved roads well under way, and during this time the plant would have been in demand by other townships, whom we could have served just as well as to have the machinery lying idle. The receipts from such work would have been very useful in reducing the expense in our own township and in time would have materially aided in completing a system of crushed stone roads, for our people. One plant can easily do the work for a half dozen townships. It should not stand idle long.

Mrs. Stoll, widow of Oakley Stoll, and mother of Geo. C. Stoll recently deceased, died at the home of the latter on Monday, of the infirmities incident to old age.

The Anson H. Kintner farm of 107.14 acres, situated about midway between Hainesville and Layton was sold at Sheriff's sale at the Court House in Newton, Dec. 21. It was knocked off at $1200.00, and sold to Mrs. Kate Fisher of Wapak. At the same time and place a lot known as the steam saw mill tract, consisting of mountain lands in the upper end of this township about 600 acres if I understand correctly, sold for $200.

Frank Rosenkrans is selling chances on his bay carriage horse, numbered from 1 to 125 and costing an equal number of cents. Drawing will take place New Year's Day.

We are pleased to note that John Westbrook the blacksmith, has located at Hainesville. John is one of those smiths that can do business anywhere simply because he is a workman.

The gun that crosses the river down this way to meet a lady in Port Jervis, should keep a little out of sight when he gets there. People are so liable to notice such things you know.

John Smith who is about to build on a lot he bought of G. E. Harsh has the cellar and foundation ready for the frame, and this will probably go on this week. John is a mechanic and is building his home himself.

Mrs. Dayton, Bevans was taken seriously ill last Sunday Dec. 13. She is easier as this writing, but still in a critical condition.

Mrs. Estella Kintner has been suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism during the last week, from which she has not fully recovered at this writing.

Our township seems to me to be to remove the bounty on wild fires and thus practically say that what the Legislature considered a beneficial law, framed to preserve the roads was a mistake.

Several States have enacted laws giving a bounty on wild fires, or else making it necessary for persons using a wagon on the public roads, carrying 500 pounds, or upward, to take out a license therefor, and to pay a certain sum into the town treasury for such privileges. The movement for good roads will eventually get beyond the control of the most covered advocates of grand-fathers methods, and will give us something permanent to show for the money expended upon our thoroughfares.

We have a very good blacksmith at Layton in the person of Jacob Cole. Expect in steel or any other fine work, and you need not return a horse two or three times to get him shot right. Try him.

The mail route from Flatbrookville to Layton is said to have been bought by an Iowa Star route for $74.00. The distance is twelve miles. Number of trips 212. Each trip about eighty-eight cents. It is the cities, the railroads, and steamship lines that get the real benefits of any expenditures in the Post Office Department.

To the Montague scribe a Christmas Greeting. Were really flattered to think we were missed while on our trip. Have you ever been there? Let us both hang up our stockings.

The vertical method of Penmanship is receiving favorable mention from teachers and prominent educators wherever its merits are investigated. It is claimed to give greater ease, rapidity, and legibility, which if true should call for its adoption in our schools.

The coal dealer says it is a darned mean blacksmith that will not pay his coal bills. He says we all do. Less poker, and more money for coal will perhaps result.

Supt. Luther Hill has given the schools a call during the last week. Sickness and vacation have played havoc with the morale of many schools, and the Superintendent was quick to sympathize with, and encourage the teachers in their efforts. His visits are always appreciated.

Any one knowing of a damp place in the road, or where water may run at some future time, should notify the freeholder, so he can build a bridge right away, quick. He can graciously accept twice as much in fees as the bridge will cost to build, and preach economy to his constituents in the meantime.

In this vicinity are several persons who should have had a wider scope, a broader opportunity to perfect their talents. Each one a genius in some special line of mechanics, and sometimes in several, that would have given them prominence in some wider field. I recall for instance Charles Gran & Son, John Youngs, B. D. Harsh, G. W. Van Sickle, Jacob Cole. These cover the fields of tinning, blacksmithing, plumbing, musical instruments well drilling, electrical work, carpentering etc.

GREENTOWN.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.)

Mrs. Jacob Schall, an aged woman of this place, who has been in poor health for some time, died Sunday, Dec. 19th. Funeral services were held in the Evangelical Church on Tuesday, Dec. 19th, officiated by Rev. J. H. Boyce. The deceased was 70 years of age.

B. C. Smith has been absent from this place a week visiting his son, Everett and family in Sullivan county, N. Y.

R. F. Klipp was the lowest bidder for the mail route from Greentown to Goulsboro.

On Sunday, Dec. 20th, Mrs. Seig led Christian Endeavor meeting at German Valley, on the following Monday she was taken with brain fever which resulted as above stated. The funeral services were held in the Moravian church on Tuesday, Dec. 20th. She is survived by her husband and one child.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

[Under this head we will insert comments on current and political topics without being responsible for the sentiments expressed, and invite such discussion as may be proper and of general interest to the people.—EDITOR PRESS.]

December 23, 1906.
MR. EDITOR.—
Following is a letter received by some gentlemen who recently hunted in this county:

SHOHOLA FALLS, Pike Co., Pa., Nov. 5, 1906.
Dr. E. L. Wheeler and party, now stopping at the Westbrook Inn, Blooming Grove, Pike Co., Pa.

DEAR SIRS:—I now inform you and your party that if any of them trespass in any way on the Shohola Falls property, that I will prosecute them to the full extent of the law. Mr. Westbrook or Jerry Greening (one of your guides) are perfectly familiar with the details of this property. I will cause you serious trouble if you persist in trespassing on said property.

Yours truly,
GARRET W. HART,
Owner of Shohola Falls property.

The facts are that John Williams shot 1 deer on Cranberry Ridge, Lewis Haven 1 on Rock Hill Ridge; August Tamper 1 in Pine Orchard; Dr. Kelly 2 at the Judd place, making a deer killed in two weeks, and none of them on the Falls property, and the party did not hunt there, nor did they stop at Westbrook's, but at Dr. Kelly's. They only camped one day and that was at the Fallon place. They did not go to Mr. Hart's because they wished to select their own guides, and Mr. Hart did not go there because he had led a guide recommended by Mr. Hart some years ago a gun and when he asked for the guide threatened to throw him in the creek.

No man has any right to shoot deer in the water and this has been done up there. This will also answer an article published in the Gazette some days ago which does great injustice to these gentlemen.

Princeton's Good Fortune.

John I. Blair gave Princeton University $150,000 on the occasion of its sesquicentennial celebration. The money will be used in building a new dormitory to be called Blair Hall, work upon which has already commenced. The contract price is $131,200.00, and it is to be completed by Oct. 1, 1897. It will be seven or eight hundred feet long, fifty feet wide and two stories high, and fashioned after the English colleges. The location of the building will tend to shut the university off from the town.

A Narrow Escape.

A. Frank Carrick who was the engineer in charge of the survey made by the D. V. E. Railway and who is now in the Philippine Islands writes that a plot was discovered by which all the whites on the islands were to have been killed on the night of Sept. 1, and that since that time there has been almost constant fighting between the natives and Spanish troops. It was a narrow escape and we congratulate Mr. Carrick on still wearing his head in its accustomed place.

A Novel Suit.

Over in Sussex county a farmer named Hopkins bought of tree dealers over 4000 peach trees which got it turned out were affected by root gall. He planted them, and not only his orchard but the ground was so infected that it was impossible there after to raise healthy trees in it. He brought suit against the nursery men for damages, and the case was tried at the recent term of Court in Newton and resulted in a verdict of $250 for plaintiff.
