LAYTON.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.) LAYTON, Jan. 18.—Andrew Yetter of Blainstown, and John Snider of Layton, made a short visit to Silver Lake last week, and brought back with them seven of the finest beauties for which that lake is famous. John has been there several times and knows pretty near where to tap that body of water for big pickers.

The churches in the valley are very nicely cared for at present both within and without, with the exception of the ones at Layton and Hainesville, which really need a couple of coats of outside white not only for their preservation, but for beauty's sake.

Lester T. Smith and wife are recovering from their illness, and will soon be around again as usual. The extra meetings held at Layton terminated last Sunday night. The effort of Rev. C. H. Van Gland and J. H. Schultz has resulted in a considerable outpouring of the spirit. Misses Nellie Angie, Sadie Drake, Maggie Van Aukon, and Mrs. Cornelia Kittle were interested and will perhaps be added to the honored list of church membership at this place.

A. S. Stoll has bought the house and lot at Bevan's known as the "Quince Lot." Consideration $475.00. It is one of the nice locations in the village, and it is not a very long time ago that it was held at an even thousand dollars.

Charles Bessley while working in the woods captured two gray squirrels. They were brought home in dinner pails, and Charley has them now in a nicely prepared cage.

So many people wonder whether a body of crushed stone on most of our road beds would make a good road, that we feel like recommending to such doubting Thomases, that they send to the Secretary of State, Washington, D. C., for the "Special Circular Reports on streets and highways in foreign countries." They will learn from this that there are thousands upon thousands of miles of such roads on the Continent, and the British Isles, which give the most perfect satisfaction. There are several thousand miles of such road in the United States giving like satisfaction.

Good roads built in the hey-day of the Roman Empire, hundreds of years ago are still good roads to-day. The use of crushed stone is not experimental by any means although lots of people act as if they thought Sandyston was now making the first stone road the world has ever seen. What an illusion.

Mr. Abram Williams and wife of Sparta, spent part of Saturday and Sunday last with Mr. H. E. Montross and family at Layton.

We regret to report that Mrs. Estella Kintzer who is yet suffering from a prolonged and severe attack of rheumatism is not so well at this writing.

Latest reports are to the effect that among the applicants to rent the hotel at Layton, Mr. Harvey Hornbeck, son of ex-Judge Everett Hornbeck, of Dingman's Ferry is the one to secure the lease. Harvey has been a commercial traveler, and is a man able to turn his hand to most any avocation and will probably develop into a capable landlord. Mrs. Hornbeck is a daughter of the late James Briscoe, Esq., and has therefore had previous experience in this line.

Elijah Lundy is to commence farming again in the spring on the Reaser farm. Elijah evidently prefers the simplicity and healthfulness of life on a farm to the artificial and unwholesome influences of metropolitan existence. Lots of rooms to broaden out, and expand up there.

man to "bum" around hotels and other respectable places and in fact Wash don't seem to be built with much inclination that way.

Mr. Morris Woodhull of Long Island spent a few days with the family of Dr. J. N. Miller last week. Mr. Woodhull was on his way to visit a sister at Binghamton, and stopped off to renew acquaintances with the doctor and to take a few notes on poultry culture at Pine Hill Farm. His idea of high class dairy farming in Vermont, and in Missouri in which he had practical experience were intensely interesting. His visit made a pleasant break in the comparative monotony of life at Pine Hill Farm.

Suppose a Post Office official, or officials get up a drawing for a prize, that is in a specific sense a lottery. The drawing takes place in the Post Office. Will some one please look up the Statutes and also the Post Office regulations and see how carefully one guards against lotteries and the other the sanctity of the United States Post Office, also the heavy penalties imposed. It is evident that with the emoluments of a government office, there are certain well defined requirements that can not be evaded only at the risk of incurring the penalties attached for such acts of omission or commission.

One of Yetter's men while getting out the ice used a drawing knife to remove the bark. In drawing it quickly toward him the knife struck his knee with force, and severed the knee cap from the knee. No further particulars have been obtained at this writing.

The damp and changeable weather for some time prevalent seems to be very productive of throat, lung and rheumatic troubles. Almost every house has its quota of sick. We have grave fears that our Dr. J. N. Miller will succumb to the strain of over work, unless we have a favorable change in the weather soon.

Mr. Charles McCarty of Raymondskill visited his friends at Pine Hill Farm last Saturday and Sunday.

Frank McKeeby, Esq., the progressive merchant at Bevan's is in great good humor since last Sunday night. Well he really ought to be for it is a boy again you see. Mother and child are doing well.

MONTAGUE.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.) MONTAGUE, Jan. 17.—Another fog, a three days' snow storm but no snow.

Daniel E. Everitt who was injured by falling out of a barn door a few days ago, is getting along as well as can be expected.

Miss Jennie Lundy, of Port Jervis, who has been spending several weeks visiting friends down here, has returned to her home.

Rev. Mr. Harris, pastor of the Second Reformed Church of Port Jervis, will preach in the Hainesville Church next Sabbath morning at 10.30 and in the Brick House school house in the evening at 7 o'clock.

The oyster supper and dance at the Riverside House Friday evening was well attended. Port Jervis, Milford, Sandyston and even Unionville, N. Y. being represented. All had a good time.

The chronic grumbler is still alive and well, occasionally you hear his growl, but heavens as he is so far behind the times it isn't necessary to pay any attention to his growl.—The world do move right on.

John Wood, Jr., of Matamoras, Pa., was a caller over here last week.

A strange dog, a hound came to the residence of Harold Chambers last week. The owner, whoever he is, can have him by calling for him.

Dame Rumor has it that Dubois Pettibone, the present proprietor of the Brick House hotel, will leave us April 1st. Here is a good chance for a wide-awake hotel man. For particulars call on Daniel Predmore, Montague.

The false alarm sent over here from Milford last Friday caused quite a little excitement. No one caught and no one hurt neither did anybody run as far as I know.

(The alarm sent over here was simply an enquiry as to whether a man answering a certain description had been seen there. [By Press.]

There are at present more farms to let than there are tenants to take them. A number of changes is contemplated in Montague the coming spring notice of which will appear later.

In as much as every one in this town is good and nothing of importance is going on, I will for the present remain. DICK.

LEDGEDALE.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.) LEDGEDALE, Jan. 18.—Miss Cora Klimble, of Paupac, spent Friday and Saturday the guest of Miss Ella Simons.

County Superintendent Howser visited Ledgedale school last Wednesday, Jan. 18th.

Floyd Frisbie killed a wild cat on Lackawack hill one day last week. Philip Razor killed several the last year.

Wednesday afternoon of last week Gillett and Simons had the misfortune to get their team of black horses in the dam. It was with great difficulty they were saved. And in trying to rescue them the teamster, Thomas Lemon, took a cold bath.

DINGMAN'S FERRY.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.) DINGMANS, Pa., Jan. 19.—Anna Mary, wife of Charles F. Bosler, of Cole's district, in Delaware township, died on Sunday morning, aged 39 years, 6 months and 22 days. Mrs. Bosler's death was unexpected and sudden, and the sad event has cast a general gloom over the community. During the absence of the members of her household on Friday last, she was stricken with something like apoplexy in its character, which rendered her unconscious and rigid, and in this condition she was found by her nurse, Mr. F. C. Jagger, who boards with the family. When found, she was lying partially on the lounge, showing she must have endeavored to reach this lounge when the spasm came upon her. It was also evident she must have had about her household duties, and had commenced preparing the mid-day meal, when overcome by the sudden attack. Mr. Jagger at once summoned assistance, and Dr. Fulmer was immediately sent for, who was shortly in attendance, but the efforts of the physician and Mrs. Bosler's friends were unavailing, and she remained unconscious and speechless until death came to her relief. Mrs. Bosler was a kind mother and an excellent neighbor—a woman ready and willing to aid her neighbors in time of sickness or need. She leaves a husband and three children to mourn her loss. Two brothers and two sisters also survive her. She was a niece of Messrs.

Henry and Andrew Althright, of Delaware township, and was a daughter of John C. and Amanda Jagger, both of whom are long since deceased. The funeral took place from the Reformed Dutch Church in Dingmans, on Tuesday, and was presided over by Rev. Stephen Morris, assisted by Rev. W. G. Myles. The funeral was very largely attended.

I am told that Harvey M. Hornbeck, of Dingmans, has rented the Centerville, (N. J.) hotel and will assume control thereof on April 1st. As Harvey is an obliging and genial young man, and his wife well calculated to take charge of the household department of a house of that kind, we anticipate a liberal share of public patronage for this young couple and a satisfactory success for them as well.

The Snyder brothers and some friends killed a fine bear on Saturday last.

KIRO.

GREENTOWN. (Special Correspondence to the Press.) GREENTOWN, Jan. 20.—Baxter B. Kipp, who has been suffering more or less for several years what is supposed to be a stone in the kidneys, left Greentown, Dec. 18 for the University at Philadelphia for medical treatment. Mr. Kipp visited that institution some months ago and the head physician told him he would have to be there sometime in order to locate the disease, he expects an operation will be necessary.

The Ladies' Aid of Greentown have ordered a 500 pound lot from the Hemlock Grove Church.

Mr. Jacob Rohacker lost a valuable horse last week. He and his son were drawing logs from B. F. Kipp's to G. H. Gilpin's mill, when the moon white-blow frightened his horses and they ran away, crossing the iron bridge above the mill, one of the horses fell and fractured his skull which caused death.

Miss Annie Marsh returned to her home in Greentown, January 3th, after being absent for the past year.

Samuel Hopps is circulating a petition for the appointment of postmaster for Greentown post office.

Democratic caucus on Saturday, Jan. 20, at 2 o'clock p. m. at the election house. It is reported that the Republicans will hold theirs on Monday evening, Jan. 25th, but have not seen any notices posted. Now let voters of both parties turn out and put good men in nomination for the several offices and not stay away and then afterwards grumble and find fault with those that do attend for not putting better men in office.

Gilpin brothers have a fine stock of dry goods and groceries, boots and shoes, etc. in their new store house in Greentown.

GREELY.

(Special Correspondence to the Press.) GREELY, Jan. 19.—C. M. Burcher returned home last Friday from the sunny South by way of Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

W. V. Burcher is getting in quite a stock of logs. Case Greening's team is hauling some very nice white pine logs to this mill for Burcher Bros., also others are hauling logs here.

The Greely school was closed last Tuesday for an indefinite time on account of whooping cough and measles. The teacher Fred Turner, is visiting his parents at Hawley. Gus Knauer's two little girls have the whooping cough the eldest is suffering quite badly from the effects of the disease.

It is getting very lively these times for almost every other man you meet is a candidate for some town office. No less than three roads came to Greely last Sunday. We sincerely hope they will all be successful in getting the office they are seeking for. Well next Saturday will give some of them a rest and a good night sleep.

Miss Louise Witte is in fashion with the rest coughing and whooping as well as her neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Rinion of Blooming Grove spent Saturday and Sunday with Henry Devitt's family.

Quite an accident happened at Greely on Saturday. As Asher Pelton and John Simons were coming from Lackawack the former's horses got frightened as they were making a turn out of Mr. Uhl's yard and started towards Burcher's mills. The horses became unmanageable Simons jumped out and Pelton was thrown out and broke his leg above the knee. The horses ran to the schoolhouse at Burcher's and stopped. The wagon was badly damaged as also the harness, the horses were unharnessed. Mr. Pelton was conveyed to Rowland and his broken limb reset and is as comfortable as possible. George Pelton and some others came and took the horses and the damaged wagon home Sunday morning.

Mr. Adams arrived on Sunday to work in Burcher's saw mill. It seems like old times to hear the mill running once more.

Horse Skeletons.

The statement is made that John H. Wallace, an authority on trotting horses, has obtained permission to exhume the bones of Rysdyk's Hambletonian and have them mounted, when they will be placed on exhibition in the Museum of Natural History in New York. It is intended to show the evolution of the equine species from the time of the little five toed horse no larger than a fox down to the present time. Hambletonian was the first really great trotting sire known, and his descendants comprise a large part of all the fast horses now on the tracks. Specimens of the race horse, the draught horse and the common stock will in time be added to the fossil collection.

Quite a Difference.

The society editor, in describing the ball of the Thanksgiving ball, concluded, saying: "And her dainty feet were increased in shoes that resembled fairy boots." But he was horror-stricken the next morning on glancing down the column of his paper to see that his blundering printer had set it up in this manner: "And her dirty feet were increased in shoes that resembled ferry-boats." —Boot and Shoe Recorder.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Under this head we will insert communications on current and political topics without being responsible for the sentiments expressed, and invite such discussion as may be proper and of general interest to the people.—EDITOR PRESS.

As to Hilly Roads.

DINGMANS, Jan. 18, 1897. EDITOR PRESS:—The letter in your paper signed "Sweet" was a kind of bitter, but what the writer says is nevertheless truth.

Right here in this township we are hemmed in by heavy grades, with only one outlet that is fairly good or decent, and that is the road to Bushkill which leads from the county seat, where many of us have business and must go. What a disgrace is the Cemetery Hill and also the one at Manor Hall, which is a very hard place with anything like a fair load. It also compels the wheelmen to dismount, and to some extent discourages that class of people who leave a large amount of money in the country.

The owner of the premises, Mr. Quick, we understand has been willing for years to have a level road made there, which could start near his barn and end near the Reformed Church. "Sweet" says "we have the same kind among us to-day," and by this he must certainly refer to those who prevented that road from being re-laid and this miserable bill obviated. Let us hear from "Sweet" again. BITTEN.

To Remove Ink Stains.

Coal oil will remove ink stains, even after they have been washed with soap. Pour on the oil and rub the spot with the hands; if it does not remove it with the first application, try more; the second attempt will likely remove the stain entirely. Ripe tomatoes will remove ink stains from white cloth. To take ink out of linen, dip the ink spot in pure melted tallow, then wring out the tallow, and the ink will come out with it. Soaking in sour milk is a remedy.

Oxalate of potash will remove ink stains. If the stain is of long standing apply oxalic acid; moisten the spot well with water and apply the acid in a powder, and after the stain disappears, rinse thoroughly in pure soft water.—Montana Farmer.

A Card of Thanks.

Mr. Charles F. Bosler and family desire to express in this manner, their gratitude and appreciation for the untiring attention and assistance and the many kindnesses rendered by their friends and neighbors during the sickness and death of Mrs. Charles F. Bosler. Dingmans', Pa., Jan. 18, 1897.

Bulls.

There are blunders of the species "bull" which have not been born in Ireland. Household Words notes a few. It was a Scotch woman who said that the butcher of her town only killed half a beast at a time. It was a Dutchman who said a pig had no marks on his ears except a long tail. It was a British magistrate who, when told by a certain rascal that he was not married, responded: "That is a good thing for your wife." It was a Portuguese mayor who enumerated, among the marks by which the body of a certain drowned man might be identified when found, "a marked indentation in his speech." It was a Frenchman who, contentedly laying his head on a stone jar for a pillow, replied to an inquiry whether it was not too hard: "Not at all, for I have stuffed it with hay." And it was an American who, lecturing one evening, said: "Parents, your daughters may have."
