

RELIEF FOR MINERS.

THE GOVERNMENT TO AID THE DISTRESSED GOLD SEEKERS.

The Secretary of War Will Pay For Supplies and Train Congress to Reimburses Him—Soldiers to Be Sent to Alaska in Rapid Order.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The condition of affairs in the Klondike gold region and the possibility of attending relief to the thousands of American citizens who are in danger of starvation and suffering there and on the trail have been very earnestly discussed by President McKinley and his cabinet. It was their unanimous opinion that this government would be justified in its duties if it suggested anything that could be done in the way of sending in soldiers to maintain order and supplies to prevent starvation.

It was practically determined that two detachments of 50 men each should be sent to Alaska, one to remain in St. Michaels and the other to go into the interior. The department, however, is waiting for a further report from Captain Hays, now in Alaska, before issuing orders for the troops.

Secretary of War Alger asked the difficulty of the lack of funds to send provisions to the men in the Klondike and along the trail by proposing to pay the expenses out of his own pocket and trust to congress to reimburse him. The secretary is an experienced lumberman, and he told the cabinet that a winter trail could be kept in good condition for the passage of dog teams if they were kept on the trail over it as to pack down the fresh snow.

General Alger telegraphed to Senator Forster of California asking for information as to what was necessary to be done and what could be done at this time. As soon as this information is received the work of sending in relief will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

To Deliver For Saratoga Gold.

Albany, Sept. 15.—There seems to be something more than mere report in the news that gold has been discovered in Saratoga county. That the gold find is considered valuable has been evidenced by the incorporation of two Saratoga mining companies with the secretary of state.

The first of these is the Saratoga Springs Gold Mining Company. Its purpose is stated to be the purchase and leasing of real estate and the mining of gold, silver and other precious metals. The capital of this company is $100,000. The principal office is to be located at Saratoga.

The directors are William P. Tarrant, Fred Terrant, Frank H. Hathorn, Benjamin J. Goldsmith, E. Van B. Bond, Elisha Tabell, Thomas Conover, William W. Alderice and James H. Boyce. Another company incorporated in the Greenbald Gold Mining Company. Its principal office will be in Greenbald, Saratoga county. Its capital is $100,000 and its directors are William H. Gallo, William B. Millman, Cornelius Vanderberg and William W. Worden.

Both of these companies are to operate in a section of Saratoga county near where Julius Hilton of New York City has holdings to a considerable extent.

FAIR ESTATE CASE ENDED.

The Court Rules That the Pennell Documents Were Forgeries.

San Francisco, Sept. 15.—The famous case of Angue versus Craven, by which the executors and heirs of the late Senator James C. Fair sought to quiet the title of Mrs. Nettie B. Craven, a school-teacher of this city, to two pieces of property on Ransom and Mission streets valued at $1,000,000, has finally been decided for the plaintiff and the intervenors by Superior Judge Black, sitting as a chancellor in equity.

For five months the trial dragged along. The jury to whom it was submitted, after wandering for 10 hours, announced its inability to decide. Judge Black then denied a motion for a new trial and rendered his decree, to the effect that the pennell deeds purporting to have been signed by James C. Fair, by means of which Mrs. Craven sought to acquire her title to the property in controversy, were forgeries and that they had never been acknowledged by James C. Fair before Notary J. J. Conroy as claimed, and that therefore the acknowledgments attached thereto were also forgeries. As to the third issue, Judge Black held that there was no evidence of a conspiracy existing between Mrs. Craven, Mrs. Haselina and Notary Conroy which had for its object the losing of the Fair estate, except by inference. The defendant's counsel asked for and obtained a stay of proceedings for 30 days.

Neither Mrs. Craven nor her daughter was in court when the case was decided.

When questioned as to what, if any action they proposed to take in the premises, the plaintiff's attorney declined to discuss the subject at present, but it is generally believed that the grand jury now in session will take the matter up immediately.

LIKE THE BENDERS.

MANY CRIMES LAID AT THE DOOR OF THE STAFFBECK FAMILY.

A Woman Tells of Several Murders at Which She Was a Witness—The Victim Said to Be Two Girls and a Son-in-Law.

Galena, Kan., Sept. 15.—The trial of the Staffbeck family of this place for the murder of Frank Galbreath, a miner, and which resulted in the conviction of George Staffbeck of murder in the first degree, has brought forth some shocking developments and proved the hand the distinction of rivaling the notorious Benders in the number and cold blooded character of their crimes.

The body of Galbreath was found in an abandoned mine in the outskirts of town on July 13 last, and George, Edward and Michael Staffbeck and their mother, Mrs. Wilson, who lived in two small houses near the shaft, were placed under arrest. Charles Wilson, the second husband and stepfather, was the only one to escape.

The principal witness during the trial which has been held at Columbus, was Cora Staffbeck, the wife of George. She is a Missouri girl, whom George met and married away from home and brought here. When she learned the character of the family, she would have escaped, but feared for her life and remained to witness the killing of Galbreath and several others. A Mrs. McCormack, who took up with the family in some way, was also an unwilling witness to several crimes, but feared to leave and divulge them. She also gave valuable testimony for the state.

Attached With a Cora Knife.

According to the evidence, Galbreath tried to see a woman who was living with the Staffbecks and was refused an audience with her and ordered out of the house. As he turned to go he was attacked by Mrs. Wilson, who wielded a corn knife. George and Edward then took a hand, George firing a bullet through Galbreath's body and Edward shooting him in the head. His throat was cut, the pockets rifled and the body thrown into a pit.

Cora Staffbeck also testified that Edward and Michael, who follow circus and fair with various "tricks," picked up and brought home two country girls whom they had intended to run away with them. One day Edward found his girl sitting on another man's knee. A quarrel ensued, and the girl was killed by crushing her head in with a revolver.

The other girl was then killed by Michael for fear she would reveal the crime. Both were rolled under a bed and Michael, when the boys took the bodies and carried them to the pit.

An Italian peddler was killed for his money, and his body was disposed of in the usual way. Cora Staffbeck also testified that, from conversations heard at various times, a Mr. Moorehouse, who had disappeared from Joplin, and Frank Smith, who mysteriously disappeared from this place some time ago, were killed by the Staffbecks. She believes that many other crimes have been committed.

The water is being pumped out of the mine, and a crowd of about 500 persons is waiting for the revelations that will follow. They will undoubtedly lynch the murderers if half of the evidence of crime is found to be true.

Wrecked Steamer Located.

Savannah, Sept. 15.—The wreck of the schooner Agnes I. Grace, which sunk on Aug. 5 with four 15-ton guns for Tybee fortifications on board, has been located 28 miles southeast of Tybee sea buoy. The wreck had moved about 14 miles from the position buoyed by the United States buoy tender Waveria last Thursday. The deck was spotted in search of this time, but they were not there. They evidently rolled overboard when the vessel sunk. The Grace is fast breaking up and is in the path of coastwise vessels and a menace to navigation.

Emperor William to Visit the Queen.

London, Sept. 15.—Truth has the following: "Since the return of Emperor William from Germany from Russia he has expressed a wish to visit Queen Victoria in the autumn and will probably cross from Kiel to Aberdeen in the imperial yacht Hohenzollern. He is expected to make a strictly private visit to her majesty at Balmoral castle. The emperor, it is further stated, will remain here majesty's guest for a few days and will return to Kiel direct."

Dover, N. H., Sept. 15.—An indictment charging murder in the first degree has been found by the grand jury against Joseph R. The date for Kelley's trial has not yet been fixed, but it is thought it will not be begun before several weeks.

Noted Criminal Escapes.

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—The "Rev." F. G. B. Howard, famous as a swindler, has escaped from the Ohio penitentiary, to which he had been sentenced by the United States court in Tennessee. He had been taken to go into the front office, and he quietly walked away when an opportunity offered. Howard was convicted in Clarksville, Tenn., and sentenced for nine years and fined $1,000 on 22 counts charging him with using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes. His specialty was swindling alleged heirs to fabulous fortunes in England. One of the chief witnesses against him was Robert Lincoln, former minister to England. He is an Englishman, 45 years old, and was convicted as Frederick George Burgoyne Howard.

From Mobile Dr. Gutierrez reports two new cases in one house in the southern part of the city near the locality of the case already reported and where the disease Dr. Gutierrez says will begin to assume an epidemic form.

Dr. Gutierrez has been ordered to proceed to Edwards, Miss., to examine a suspicious case of sickness.

Still More Cases at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Sept. 15.—There have been reported to the board of health within the past 24 hours for investigation 28 cases, which the attending physicians considered suspicious. Of these, 13 cases had been found suffering with a harmless fever, and five cases were regarded as suspicious, but necessary to be further investigated before a definite report could be made on them. There was no report as to four cases, and four cases were pronounced genuine yellow fever, though one of the latter was diagnosed as typhoid. The most serious of the four yellow fever cases is located in the neighborhood of the French market. The locality is far from a cleanly one and is populated by a poor class of people, many of whom are foreigners. The region might be considered dangerous ground.

Three New Cases at Mobile.

Mobile, Sept. 15.—Three new cases of yellow fever have been officially announced by the board of health. The announcement caused much more alarm than did the discovery of the first case, which was regarded as sporadic. The people who can be leaving for points of safety. Though there were several indictments against him, the authorities satisfied themselves that he had come home to die and made an effort to arrest him.

AGRICULTURAL.

THE UNITED STATES SUGAR BEET.

It is reported that sample of sugar beets from Genesee county, N. Y., show 14 and 16 1/2 per cent. sugar, as against 10 to 12 per cent., the average in France. When the United States produces the greater part of its sugar it will keep a great deal of money from going abroad that it does not at present.

It will all have a tendency to improve the home market for other farm products. Let the sugar beet industry go ahead.

We quote from an article in the National Stockman and Farmer, that within the last five years results obtained in the fields and laboratory have demonstrated beyond question that the sugar beet can be grown in paying quantities and quality in the sugar beet belt of the United States, sufficient not only to furnish America but the world.

The best soil is a mellow, sandy loam. Of course, sugar beets cannot be grown to advantage in Pike county, at the present time at least.

A POINTER FOR FARMERS.

Every summer after the storing of the hay and grain crops we hear of barn fires, the origin of which, being unknown is ascribed to incendiarism, though, doubtless if the real cause could be ascertained it would be found that they were the result of spontaneous combustion, owing to hay or other new crops while in process of fermentation evolving heat sufficient to produce fire. If our splendid crops, meadows and dairy products at prices more remunerative to farmers, and an era of prosperity will be none the less welcome everywhere because it is apparently beginning its growth in our central and western states. In no way can the business health of the entire country be better conserved than through the prosperity of the farmers. — American Agriculturist.

Returning prosperity, the country over, after three years or more of depression, seems to be manifesting itself first of all in the agricultural states. This affords something of a surprise to the politicians, economists and publicists. They have been predicting it would appear first in the manufacturing districts, upon the settlement of the tariff question and a resumption of industrial activities. But foreign countries want our splendid crops, meadows and dairy products at prices more remunerative to farmers, and an era of prosperity will be none the less welcome everywhere because it is apparently beginning its growth in our central and western states. In no way can the business health of the entire country be better conserved than through the prosperity of the farmers. — American Agriculturist.

Milk may be bought by the brick in summer, just the same as some kinds of ice cream. It will be frozen solid, though, and if intended for use as soon as received in the household the lactical fluid will have to be chipped off with the handle of the knife or fork according to the quantity desired in the drink. From a fat frozen milk has grown to be more or less of a necessity in the warmer countries in Europe. The Belgian government designs to increase the trade at an annual outlay of £10,000, and in Copenhagen, the capital of Denmark, a company has been formed and arrangements have been completed for the regular export of frozen milk. The necessary plant has been erected, and contracts have been made already for the delivery of 110,000 pounds per week, which will be sent to all parts of the world in bricks of blocks like ice. — London Sun.

Crime in our rural towns is so rare that when it does occur the city press makes the most of it. It is now to judge from the dailies' comment on the occasional murder trial in rural counties, the concentrated essence of crime is to be found on the plains and in the valleys, while the city population is pure as the driven snow! But the drinking hole and "bumming place" that is allowed in so many villages is certainly as capable in breeding criminals as similar dens in cities. A few idle men, naturally shiftless, prone to drink, congregating where liquor and nasty talk are the only means of occupying their time, soon form a hotbed of iniquity that easily contaminates. Unless such places are cleaned out, the moral character of the community suffers, youth of both sexes are injured by the example, if not ruined, and murder of nameless crimes against "the human form divine" are apt to be harvest. In the city, this sort of thing is spread among so many people from so many saloons and houses of infamy that the resulting crime does not shock the public mind so much as the rarer events of this class among our rural people. A moral awakening is needed that will purge both city and country of these dens of iniquity. But above all, our children must be brought up to do right and to shun evil, however glittering and enticing the dress in which temptation masquerades. A righteous character is the protection of individual or community. — American Agriculturist.
