On re-assembling there appeared to be an evident reluctance to proeed to business and all wers not present until mustly 11 o'clock when they were called to order by the chairman. Van-Winkle of Vernon promptly moved the acceptance of the resolution, and to instude Newton in the investigation. Newton was so included by an amendment which carried 12 to 4. Hardin of Newton evinced some nervousness at this stage of the proceedings and reckoned "that if they were going to investigate they would investigate all and not a faw." The vote on the resolution including both Deckertown and Newton was carried by a vote of S to 7. Hardin now made a strong plea for a thorough and full investigation of spinding a few days at Wilk-sharre with be under-valuations found in their duplicates and that Newton is paying tax on a ention to the fact that the resolution did provide for an investigation and comparison of all the duplicates. Hardin in sted that it was simply a move to raise Deckertown and Newton A motion by Hardin for the chair to appoint a commit e of five to thoroughly investigate all the townships as well as Deckertown and Newton was seconded by Huff of Stillwater provided the vote was taken by ballot. It was so done, and the motion was lost by a vote of 9 to 7. If my minutes are correct Hardin here voted against his own motion and thus helped defeat an inestigation which if it could not have hurt any one, should not have been feared by any. Some little straws like the folwill give a faint conception perhaps as to how the wind did blow. At noon of Tues day while the Zinc mine question was yet up an old tactician a member of the board too, said, "Well we've got Jake where we want bim, in the chair, and he wont dare call the question." I suggested that some member might move it, and he answered If they do we can swamp it." Still the motion carried 8 to 5 and that gentleman is one of that committee. Tuesday night after adjournment with the Deckertown resolution up, and while standing on the Court House steps a bright keen lawyer (who should be our next Democratic Senator) when asked how the resolution was likely to fare sagely remarked "Oh! but "our George is pretty long headed, he don't say much, but I tell you he is smooth," and he was too. Again at noon of Wed-nesday after the defeat of the motion to investigate I heard a gentleman in a little oteris of lawyers and assessors remark

J. C. Branning spent Friday with "Well, Sussex County has started to breed triends at Equinum, his trip was for both a new race of men williout backbone and some of them are on the board of assessor as sure as you live." I only cite these little side observations to show that some Eva and Eber Brown visited friends at people did appreciate the situation. If I am any judge of it, and whether I am or something like this; that the citing of sales and assessments by many assessors as well as the comparisons of town and country properties should have convinced any one that had the motion carried, the Agricultural townships could not possibly have suffered from a full and thorough inrestigution, and I have too high a regard for the liberts monthers who represent those townships to even entertain the idea that they would wish to burden Deckertown or Newton with an unfair proportion of taxation. We also believe that the two or three who may have been rattled or biuffed into changing their votes on the last motion will have chearer bless in re-gard to this subject and their duty to their constituents another year.
