LAYTON.

A little son of Linn Rutan was found last Thursday to have a cherry pit in his ear. It was necessary to have a doctor extract it which was done by syringing it out. Next morning the child was found to have one in the other car. This was removed by the mother with a small wire hook. The family were much alarmed at the time, but are greatly relieved at the happy termination of the incident.

Adin B. Van Siekle and family have moved into the basement rooms of the Clark House, as a temporary arrangement until more satisfactory apartments can be secured in the village.

"Thinks me" we heard something drop in the Newton Post-office. It is now concoded that friend Goodman of the Register will assume control of the office on Oct. 1st. This means that the present incumbent will be removed eight months before the expiration of his term His his summer residence here and returned treachery, and trickery on the part of the Ropublicaus, but the naked fact is that removal is for cause as the P. M. and his friends well know and it is about time they concode the salf evident and well known facts and thus render it unnecessary to give them publication. We plainly hinted that this would be the probable outcome four months age and if hands had not been held off by those who had evidence the termination of this matter might have been much more serious than it now is. It is reported that on account of the unsatisfactory market for peaches the buyers of the crops of Richard Layton and Dayton Cole at 50 cents a basket, have an-nulled the contract. The only redcoming feature about it is that the best peaches are to ripen, and it is hoped they may re-trieve their ill luck by meeting a better market toward the close of the season.

What is the matter with "C"! In his idence of September 3th he finds fault and ridicules his less fortunate fellowmen, as if there was nothing else to write about. After four months waiting he certainly ought to find pienty of mat-ter for an interesting letter. I have read the Pages for more than a year, and the only ridicule and fun making articles in it were those from "C." He satirized the filcient and gentlemenly teacher at Centre last winter, now will be please let us know where the fun came in ? Perhaps 1 might give him some advice. He should move into the Silver Lake district and take in four mouths schooling under the tutelage of Mr. Hood and then at the end he might have sufficient education to understand what he reads. "C" wants to know why the same wages are paid at Silver Lake as at Centre, considering that the number of scholars at the former place are far less. One reason is that the children there no matter how small the number have an equal right with others to have a good teacher, and another is that the Silver Lake district is extensively set-tied by people of education and general information who give their children considerable home instruction, hence it would be useless to send an inferior teacher among them.
