THE STATE TICKET.

The Republican State Convention met at Harrisburg June 2, and placed in nomination the ticket which heads this column. There are many who believed that it would not be wise to select the representative of either of the factions in the State as a candidate for Governor, and would have been better pleased had the choice fallen on some one not so closely identified with what is called the Quay influence. Not that we believe the Senator is obnoxious to the Republicans of Pennsylvania, but because there are many sections where those who assume to be his supporters and followers have made themselves so by peculiar methods which are unsatisfactory to the rank and file. Whatever of defection there may be from the party at November, and there will be some, will be in great part aimed at the local leaders, and the State ticket must perforce, to that extent, be weakened. Had a candidate been selected upon whom all shades of opinion could have united, and this was easily possible, he would have attracted the full vote and made the local canvass in different sections far more hopeful. As the matter now stands there will be great temptation to trade for self interest. In fact we believe the real fight in the campaign has just commenced and that from now on a silent, if not open, warfare will be carried on within the party. Several Congressional Districts are close, and slight defections will defeat the Republican candidate. We hope there will be none, and that the party will unite and present unbroken ranks to the enemy, remembering that it is far better to work for the purification and strength of the party within the ranks than without. Let every one remain true to his colors and be a Republican.

The ticket, outside the head, will be satisfactory to the people and is wholly unobjectionable in all respects. No better names or more worthy men could have been selected, and no doubt the party will show its appreciation of this fact by rolling up for them the old time majority.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

No one who has followed the trend of events during the past few weeks in this State could seriously doubt the outcome of the convention which met June 2. That the unexpected might happen many hoped no doubt, but deep down in their consciousness they knew the inevitable. Mr. Wanamaker made a strong canvass and succeeded in arousing a strong sentiment in the State. His assertions in regard to the incapacity and recklessness of the last Legislature found a lodgment in many minds, and bore fruit in the number of delegates elected for him.

The war will tend to break up the old party lines, and in fact both parties are a unit now on that question. Hardly any thing remains as an issue but the manner in which our State affairs are and have been administered, hence with the party collars loosely fitting it behooves the leaders and those who control State matters to beware. There have been disastrous revolts in the past and some events seem to fore-shadow that the future is fast ripening for a re-union, unless the remedy of economical and honest methods are carefully applied.

We Will Make Them.

We can "point with pride" to the fact that everything needed for war purposes is produced in our own country, and that Russia is now coming here to buy her war vessels. The late wonderful performance of the Oregon, built in San Francisco proves that our ships are perfect specimens of construction and endurance and that our machinery has a world wide fame as shown by the orders for seventy-seven locomotives just received from the Russian Government by the Baldwin locomotive works. In addition to these the Baldwin people have booked orders since April 1 for ten for New Zealand, six for Spain, five for Egypt two for Argentina and one for Mexico. The Richmond works have received an order for seventeen locomotives for Japan, making a total of ninety-four export orders in one week. Other orders received by American builders from foreign countries since April 1 bring the grand total up to 175, and still farther contracts are pending for delivery of locomotives in Russia and Mexico. Another instance of the triumph of intelligent labor highly paid. It is the American policy which has made possible this successful invasion of foreign markets with American production.

Will He Return by 1900.

By all means send Colonel Bryan to Manila and keep him there says the N.Y. Herald and it is announced that Col. W. F. Bryans Regiment has been accepted for service and ordered to Manila, where its term of duty promises to be longer than elsewhere. We hope so. May it be long indeed.

COAST LINE OF THE UNITED STATES.

The length of the coast line of the United States, according to the coast survey, is 5,715 miles, embracing 2,349 miles on the Atlantic Ocean, 1,556 on the Gulf of Mexico, and 1,910 on the Pacific Ocean.

THE STATE CONVENTION.

Nominations Made, and Proceedings in Detail. Sketches of the Nominees. Though the result is doubtless known to our readers, a brief summary of the proceedings may be of interest. It was called to order by State Chairman Elkin at 10.30, and a temporary organization effected by electing Senator Boies Penrose Chairman, who made a speech outlining the policy of the party, and sounding the key note of the campaign, which will be the conduct and responsibilities of the Cuban war. Frank Whenton, of Luzerne County, was made permanent Chairman, and after the appointment of the usual Committees, nominations were made. Thomas Marshall, of Allegheny, presented the name of W. A. Stone, which was seconded by Gen. B. F. Fisher, of Chester. C. F. Childsey, of Easton, presented the name of Gen. Frank Roder before the Convention, and Joseph M. Huston, of Philadelphia, nominated John Wanamaker, but his name was immediately withdrawn and a letter from him read, giving his reasons for so doing.

Ex-Senator Allen, of Warren, made a speech, nominating Charles W. Stone, which was seconded by Newton Black, of Butler. The balloting then began, resulting in 198 votes for W. A. Stone, and 164 for Charles W. Stone. A motion was made to make the nomination unanimous, which prevailed, but not without considerable opposition, the Convention remaining divided about as on the nominating vote. The nearby counties voted as follows: Carbon 2, Northampton 6 and Pike 1 for W. A. Stone; Monroe 1 and Wayne 2 for C. W. Stone.

The ticket was rapidly completed without incident. Gen. Gobin, for Lieutenant Governor, received 226 votes, Dept. Secretary of the Commonwealth Cochran, of York, 32, and Senator Gray, 70. Gen. Latta, for Secretary of Internal Affairs, was nominated by acclamation. The vote for Congressman-at-large was: S. A. Davenport, 215; Galusha A. Grow, 285 and Congressional Arnold, of Clearfield, 148.

Colonel Stone is a farmer's son, and his childhood and early youth was spent tilling the soil. His early education was gained at the district schools. After the war broke out in 1863, he enlisted, but his father soon after secured his discharge, but in 1864, being 18 years old, he again enlisted and went out as a private in the 187 Pa. Volunteers. He was in several engagements and was promoted to Second Lieutenant, and was mustered out in 1865. Afterwards Governor Hartranft commissioned him Assistant Adjutant General with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He attended the Westboro Academy, and finally graduated from the Mansfield State Normal School, then studied law and in 1874 was elected District Attorney of Tioga County, but resigned and moved to Pittsburg; was U. S. District Attorney under Hayes and Arthur, and was removed by Cleveland. In 1890 he was elected to Congress and is now serving his fourth term. He is a strong advocate of restricted immigration.

James W. Latta, the present Secretary of Internal Affairs, was also in the war and rose to the rank of Brevet-Lieutenant Colonel, and was afterwards made Colonel of the first Regiment and by Governor Hoyt appointed Adjutant General of the State.

W. W. Porter who succeeded Hon. E. N. Willard of the Superior court, is the only son of the late W. A. Porter of the Supreme Court, and is a very able and successful lawyer, and a prominent member of a number of Philadelphia societies.

J. P. S. Gobin candidate for Lieut. Governor is well known in the country by reason his of being Commander in chief of the G.A.R. He is now serving his present term as state Senator. He was in the civil war entering as a private soldier and rose through all grades by merit to Colonel of the 47th.

Galusha A. Grow congressman at large has been a member of the State Legislature, succeeded David Wilnot in Congress and was elected for six consecutive terms thereafter. Was Speaker of the Thirty-seventh congress in 1861 and was elected to his present position to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of General Wm. Lilly and was re-elected by the largest plurality ever before given to any candidate for office in the State or Union.

S. A. Davenport is a lawyer of Erie, Pa., has held several local offices in 1896 he was elected congressman at large receiving 4000 votes less than Mr. Grow.

A WINK SAVED HIS LIFE.

Unpleasant Experience of a Drunken Man in Texas. "Speaking of extraordinary feats reminds me," says Henry Austin, "of an amusing story Col. W. P. Curtis, who used to be on the staff of ex-Gov. McHenry of Louisiana, once told in the old St. Charles Hotel. It was rather a 'spicy' anecdote, and a damp evening, and the boys had been bragging about various wonderful doings they had done in their salad days and frappe nights. When it came his turn to be a gorgeous, circumstantial and statistical liar the colonel leaned away back and said in his sweet Kentucky voice, for he hailed from that state originally: 'Boys, I can't match any of the feats of strength and active valor you have told, but I can tell you a true tale of endurance that may be worth your attention.'

"Years ago, when Texas was the paradise of stage coaches, I was traveling for a tobacco house a long journey, fully fifty miles. In the coach opposite me sat a mighty pretty girl, and a shaggy man, with a sombrero and a small arsenal of pistols in full sight. We had journeyed on for about an hour, and met a word had been exchanged or a look between my fellow-travelers. The girl was overlikening pretty, and, finally, catching her eye, I was tempted to wink slightly as a sort of preliminary toward breaking the ice and having some pleasant conversation. Instantly, to my horror, she turned to the human arsenal and whispered in his ear. 'Did I understand you, stranger, to wink at this here young lady?' Only presence of mind, as there couldn't be absence of body, saved me. I replied at once, 'Yes, sir, but let me explain. I have a nervous disease of the eyelids. If you had noticed me before you would have noticed that I wink involuntarily very frequently. Honestly, I couldn't help it.' Your explanation is extraordinary, stranger, but I accept it for the present,' he answered gruffly, and from that time I think he never took his eyes off me. So, to keep my part, every moment or two I had to wink one eye or the other, sometimes both. Hour after hour, gentlemen, as I live by champagne, my ocular exercise continued. I believe I am the only living man who ever winked to save his life, and I wink and I wink for at least forty miles, till we reached our destination. How was that for endurance?"
