

VOL. 3.

MILFORD, PIKE COUNTY, PA., FRIDAY, JULY 1, 1898.

NO. 35.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

COME AND ENJOY IT HERE.

Preparations are being made by the firemen of Milford to entertain the people on Friday to a diversity of amusements and also to afford an intellectual repast.

The Evening Band of Port Jervis, fourteen pieces, will furnish music for the occasion.

The program includes reading the Declaration of Independence and an oration, in the forenoon, followed by the croquet polo, wheelbarrow, and sack race, and a bicycle race, and baseball game with the Dingman Club in the afternoon, with fireworks and a Grand Firemen's Ball in Brown's Hall in the evening. The speaking will take place, as well as the other attractions, on the ball grounds in the rear of the Court House.

These events will afford an opportunity for all to be amused and entertained at home, and furnish a day of enjoyment without inconvenience and discomfort. No pleasant spot can be found than Milford for those who wish a day of real recreation, either in the way of quiet, or, in participating in the various events, which those in charge will supply.

Our shaded streets and ample walks give room for peaceful strolls, our hotels will cater to the most exacting tastes, and the too cream parlors and soda water fountains will be prepared to cool and refresh the inner man with the most soothing warm weather drinks. We invite people from the surrounding country and towns to visit Milford on the Fourth and to assure them all of a day of unalloyed pleasure. Come, bring your families; all take a day off, it will do you good mentally and physically, and you will feel renewed vigor, as you go home, your senses having been gratified and your hearts filled with an inspiring patriotism.

The engagement of Mr. Frederick Beadle to Miss Reese though announced some time ago in Town Topics has just become generally known here. The platform caused more trouble than the nominations, the pronounced free silverites insisted on a bold declaration in favor of the Chicago platform and 16 to 1, while a large number opposed any resolution on the silver question and demanded a platform confined strictly to state issues with a plank endorsing the war policy of President McKinley. Marriages on Saturday.

To get married on Saturday is the fashion of the Summer. Society is standing open-mouthed with astonishment at this new idea, for if there has been these last twenty years any one day regarded as particularly inappropriate and unkindly for weddings, that day has been Saturday. But if a sudden Saturday has been set on as the day of all for the most elaborate weddings of the moment. The most important weddings of the Summer have been set for that day of the week, and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday have been cast quite into the shade.

What has brought this change of feeling about among the brides can hardly be told. Besides the prejudice that has always existed against Saturday itself it has long been the custom to have marriages take place in the early part of the week. Tuesday and Wednesday have been very favorite days. Only those people as a rule who have been indifferent to public opinion have ever even thought of getting married during the latter half of the week. This sudden making of Saturday as the fashionable wedding day of the summer is, therefore, little short of remarkable and is occasioning a great deal of talk.

Death of Judge Wickham.

The news of Judge Wickham's death was wholly unexpected. His illness was not known to the public generally. He was born in Ireland. May 14, 1844 and came with his parents to this country when six years old settling in Beaver, Pa.

He was in the Civil war, and for several months a prisoner in Libby, served under Sherman and Thomas, and was recommended for a commission but declined. He then studied law and for a short time practiced in Iowa, but returned to Beaver and in 1884 was elected to the bench and in 1895 re-elected and the same year appointed associate justice of the Superior Court and re-elected for the full term of ten years.

Treasurer's Sales.

Judge Morrison, of McKean Co., has decided that the Act of June 3, 1885, P. L. 71, making sales of sealed and unsealed lands for arrangements of taxes valid and effectual, irrespective of the fact whether such lands were sealed or unsealed at the time of assessment thereof, is not only a valid legislation, but offends against Act 14, Sec. 1, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which requires that taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects.

A tax sale of land erroneously assessed as unsealed land, and in fact it was sealed land, and ought to have been assessed on the sealed list, will pass no title to the purchaser.

M. M. & N. Y. R. R.

Work on the bridge is progressing rapidly. The contractors have completed the trestle work from the N. Y. abutment to the pier, and the first span will be completed forthwith. The Pennsylvania abutment is being built, and no doubt soon the river will be spanned.

The company has a number of teams employed hauling shale for grading at different points, and is removing a house in Matamoras which stood on the line of the road. All rights of way, it is understood, have been arranged and there is nothing to prevent the early completion of this long wished for factor to Milford's new era of prosperity.

A New Summer Home.

Watts' new boarding house is now connected with the local telephone company's system. This commodious house, just completed and furnished, is located in a pleasant and retired spot on the high ground east of Upper Harford St., and overlooks the village and valley. A fine pond has been built and the grounds nicely graded. The house adds another to our numerous desirable summer homes, and Mr. Watts deserves a full measure of success for his enterprise.

New Switch Board.

The local telephone company has put in this week at its central at Findlay's a new switch board of the most approved Swedish design. The company is not to be outdone in its efforts to maintain the efficiency of its service, and to accommodate its numerous patrons. It deserves encouragement as being the first to provide telephone communication here and as being so connected to all as to make it a great convenience to the people. With this perfect connection in the way of a switch board and prompt service, no doubt it will meet with such substantial commendation an increased patronage as such efforts to accommodate public interests merit.

War News of the Week.

Saturday, June 25, Gen. Shafter's army defeated the Spaniards over twenty miles of battlefield near Santiago.

On last Friday in the light near Sevilla sixteen United States troops were killed, including Lieut. Hamilton Fish, of N. Y., and Capt. Allyn K. Capron, and sixty men were wounded, or are reported missing. Thirty-seven dead Spaniards had been found on Monday.

Sunday, June 26, the Spanish fleet entered the harbor of Port Saed. The vessels showed an untidy appearance and the 4000 soldiers on the transports looked miserably clad, ill-fed and discontented.

June 27 an official decision was made known in the following bulletin of the Navy Department:

Commodore Watson sails to-day in the Newark to join Sampson, when he will take under his command an armored squadron with cruisers, and proceed at once off the Spanish coast. There can be no possible objection to this expedition, considering the course which Spain has pursued.

The water supply at Santiago has been cut off by our engineers, who crept up to within a mile of the rifle pits which guard the city, and destroyed the conduits. Shafter is only three miles from Santiago. An engagement off San Juan, Porto Rico, on Wednesday afternoon, when Capt. Sigbee's St. Paul was attacked by a Spanish unprotected cruiser and the torpedo boat destroyer Terror. The latter was hit three times, killing one officer and two men, and wounding several others. The Terror dropped back under cover of the fortifications with difficulty, and was towed into the harbor into a sinking condition.

A WAR LETTER.

Arthur B. McCarty is in receipt of a letter from his son-in-law, Frank H. McEwen, dated on board the U. S. battleship Oregon, off West Indies, in Caribbean Sea, June 21st, in which he says:

"We are still guarding the channel at Port Mores, where Cervena is bottled up with his fleet. We have fished with very good results, having knocked down the masked batteries which the Spaniards keep building up. Last night we had a fight. The Dynamite Cruiser Vesuvius was trying to enter in close to the harbor—I am stationed at the search lights and had orders from our Captain to keep the light on the Fort Castle, which I did for about an hour, when finally there were two shots fired from the shore, which whistled by our stern, then, succeeding this, the Vesuvius let go a shot right with the light I had on the Castle and as we saw it from the Oregon it resembled a full moon, a great ball of fire, and we all thought it came from the Castle, and as it was right in line with the upper deck well, you talk about scattering—I never thought the men were such good runners; they made for the turrets of heavy armor plate in a hurry, but instead of coming towards us the shot was going to shore, and it fooled us all. It seems that the Spaniards are very much afraid of this boat, and I think it is out of the way they think it is only a matter of time that is why they keep firing on us and not on the others, the Texas, Massachusetts, Brooklyn, Iowa, Marblehead, torpedo boat Porter, New Orleans, Suwanee, Yankee, Terror, New York, St. Paul, St. Louis, Vixen Kingston, Yorktown, and the Yosemite, Dixie, Gun Boats, I thought it was just like a palace.

While I am writing the boys have sighted forty-two transports with 11,000 soldiers, so I think we will have a hot time in the old town very soon, and a fine shell game. There is a rumor that after this place is taken we are going to San Juan, then to the Canary Islands, then to Spain, then home to N. Y. and all inside of two months.

FREE EXHIBITION.

There will be a free exhibition of cooking and a demonstration of the vapor stove at the store of W. & G. Mitchell on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 7th, 8th and 9th, during the hours from 3 to 6 and 7.30 to 9 p. m.

If you are interested in cooking or desire to have a cool kitchen in the summer you should attend this exhibition. Every lady in the town should attend, as she will learn many new things.

Stroudsburg in Luck.

Rumor founded on visits made by several officials of the Erie and the N. Y. & W. R. R. its recent acquisition, says a new shops of the latter road will be removed to West Stroudsburg, thus giving employment to fifty or more men. This will add at least a couple of hundred to the population and help our sister town materially along prosperity's pleasant pathway.

Master Clyde Kipp who is making a business success in his profession of brightening understandings, has secured a handsome stand and chair for the comfort of those who wish his services, and located it in a shady spot near Wohlbrenndt's barber shop. MONTAGUE.

We had a hail storm over here last week. There was lots of hail, but nothing was injured.

They had a dance at Roy's new platform Thursday night, and a good time.

Will Courtright's cow died suddenly. Dr. Carlton says poison killed her.

It is hot here, but I suppose hotter in Cuba, and if not, Uncle Sam should make it so warm there as to make the Spaniards think of their friends in the other place. Long ago I said the fat would get close to the fire, and perhaps burn, and so it has.

We have some good hotels over here: the Brick House at Montague, the Hainesville House kept by S. Van Ness, and Montague's at Layton. All is a good fellow and uses people first-rate. Some think others are made of stone or iron, but our corns hurt occasionally, and we know it.

Charles Smith, our school teacher, was elected president of the Flatbrook Valley S. S. Assn., a few days ago. He is a good teacher and now holds a first grade certificate. Zarah Westbrook was lucky in capturing a second-grade certificate at the last examination, so this town will have good teachers.

How is this? They say a member of a Township Committee cannot be a member of the Board of Education—all three of our Committees belong to the B. of E. Will they resign from the one or the other body? There is no money in being a member of the B. of E., but Committeesmen get two dollars a day. Some of our County papers are having a scrap over which one gets the most from the County. Maybe, if they keep it up, the people will lose something interesting.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

Andrew H. Haight, an engineer on the new railroad, was injured some days ago by an explosion in the quarry where he was supervising some work. A stone or piece of cap was forced in his nose, which caused profuse bleedings. Wednesday, while at work in Matamoras he suffered a severe nasal hemorrhage and was brought to Milford. Drs. Kenworthy and Berekley were summoned, and after great difficulty succeeded in checking the flow of blood. A small artery had been ruptured by the injury, and before the medical men were successful in their efforts, Mr. Haight was greatly weakened by the excessive loss of blood. His condition seemed critical, but it is now thought that danger is over.
