Newspapers and "Imperialism."

As showing the editorial sentiment of the leading papers of the Country on the question of Imperialism, or the acquisition and annexation of territory, and that party lines which were badly broken during the last Presidential campaign, are likely to be more seriously affected by the great coming issue of territorial expansion, we note the position of a number.

Among the regular Democratic papers there seems to be general opposition, especially in the South, and the independent Democratic press likewise opposes, while the leading Republican party papers with few exceptions favor it.

Those papers favoring are: N. Y. Journal, Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union, San Francisco Call, Los Angeles Times, San Francisco Argonaut, (Dem.), The Manufacturer Phil., Protection, N. Y. Journal of Commerce, Free Trade, Chicago Times-Herald, Inter-Ocean, Journal, Salt Lake Tribune, Deseret News, Record, Indianapolis News, Baltimore Herald (Ind.), Burlington Hawkeye, Des Moines Register, Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin, Minneapolis Tribune, St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Tyeoka Capital, The Chronicle, Col., Louisville (Ky.) Commercial, Baltimore American, Phil. Press, Inquirer, The North American, N. Y. Sun, Tribune, Commercial Advertiser (Rep.), Detroit Tribune, Sil. Rep., Denver News, Pop., N. Y. Herald, Times, Ind. Boston Journal.

Those opposing are the Boston Transcript, Pittsburg Dispatch, Phil. Ledger, Ind. Rep., Boston Herald, Denver Republican, Silver Rep., N. Y. Evening Post, Baltimore Sun, Ind. Dem., Omaha Bee, Rep., Richmond Times, Charleston News and Courier, Chicago Chronicle, Indianapolis Sentinel, Kansas City Times, Salt Lake Herald, Louisville Times, Boston Post, Dem. Detroit Free Press, Nat. Dem., Denver Republican, Silver Rep., N. O. Picayune, Nat. Dem., N. O. Times Democrat, Charlestown News and Courier, Bryan Dem., Atlanta Constitution, non-committal, Richmond Times, The Dispatch, Baltimore News, Phil. Record, N. Y. World, and Springfield Republican, Ind. Dem.

Borough Election.

At the election held Monday to determine the question of bonding the Borough for thirty-five hundred dollars for the purpose of purchasing the Glen, the vote was fifty-two in favor and fifty-eight against the proposition.

This vote, we feel warranted in saying, does not express the real sentiment of the taxpayers. There are a number who favor Glen ownership by the Borough, who voted against it solely on account of the price being in their opinion too high. The Borough should own the Glen, provided it has the legal right to hold property outside the limits, and we regret that the Town council did not recognize the fact that it is the servant of the people and take them into its confidence. Had it done so the result might have been different. There were votes sufficient to have turned the scale, cast in the negative, solely because of price, and not because of opposition to the project.

A STRANGE REQUEST.

Japanese of No Religious Belief Leave Instructions for Burial.
Lieutenant Yoshitomi Fujisawa of the I. J. N. left behind a curious request to his family a few days prior to his death, which occurred in his native district of Hizen. He observed to his family that as he had never had time to investigate religious questions deeply enough to enable him to determine which faith he should embrace he was neither prejudiced against nor partial toward any form of religion. However he himself was of the opinion that his soul would perish with the cessation of his life, while his remains would crumble to dust. Therefore he did not wish to have any religious service performed on his behalf.

The funeral also should be as simple as could be and flowers and similar offerings be strictly declined. No announcement should be made of his death to friends of his until four or five days after his death. Two or three weeks after his death his relatives and friends should be invited to a banquet and they should be asked to enjoy the occasion as heartily as possible. A priest might be invited, if the presence of such a personage were deemed desirable. At the funeral also nobody should accompany the bear, except, if considered necessary, one or two representatives on behalf of the family and relatives might follow the remains to the grave. The tomb was to be of the simplest description, only his name to be inscribed upon it. A memorial tablet was entirely tabooed.

Photographs in Decoration.
Photographs can now be used for the decorations of rooms. Of course, it has long been the custom to display photographs prominently in frames or on mantel shelves, but not until quite recently have they been considered substitutes in actual decoration by fashionable households. Frames are being laid aside and the cards are tacked on the walls as they are.

Everywhere on the walls of every room except the parlor and dining-room (and even these apartments are not exempt nowadays in country houses) are photographs to be found. The more the better, and, of course, to be quite the thing they must all be photographs of people, not photographs of scenes or amateur efforts, though a well-taken amateur group of single pictures is allowable. The fashion, however, is the lavish displaying of individual portraits, and it is the plan of the day to empty each album, each box and each case and tack up their contents.

The pictures, however, must not be put on the walls indiscriminately; they must be arranged in patterns set in the panelling of the doors, attached to the walls in wheels, stars or some design of that nature. Braas headed tacks of small size are to be used, and the varied effects that may be shown in a house are indicative of the degree of artistic taste of the members of the family who has superintended the decoration.

Yellow Snow.
Yellow snow has fallen in the Engadine, it came in the early part of March. An occasional sunbeam turned it into gold. It seemed that in the expiring century a bona fide miracle had taken place. The Greeks, who ascribe the weather department to Jupiter, would probably have revived the scandal of Danae. But the Swiss, who are nothing, if not practical, collected their snow in a bucket and sent it to the public analyst at St. Moritz. Here the golden snow deposited a sediment of a light brown color, while a fine film floated on the water's surface. The microscope revealed that the latter was rich in mineral substance, structureless, and varying in color from white to yellow, and the sediment proved to be the finest sand or dust. Traces of vegetable organisms were also found in the floating scum. But the gold in the snowflakes was due to the presence of sand. The winds were north and northeast about that time, so the dust is assumed to have come from North Germany, Russia or Hungary; at any rate, from a soil highly ferruginous, dry and generally cultivated. No room for Zeus and the daughter of Acrisius here. "Faites pleuvr de l'or, et la tour s'ouvrira," but the modern tower is the laboratory.

Portable X-ray Apparatus.
A portable X-ray apparatus intended for use in war has just been completed by Professor Reginald A. Fessenden, of the Western University of Pennsylvania, says the Scientific American. It is stated that the new machine will be about as large as a Webster's dictionary, and will weigh only 25 pounds. It will be operated by a small gasoline motor or gas turbine which will not weigh more than 25 pounds. The electric generator used is said to be the smallest ever made for practical purposes, yet the outfit will enable surgeons to see clear through the body. It is intended to have these instruments in the various field hospitals.

Royal Family of Boxers.
Boxing is a favorite sport of the Danish royal family. Prince Valdemar being the best boxer among them. When he challenged the late Emperor of Russia, however, he met more than his match. King George of Greece is also skilled with the gloves. The present Emperor of Russia, on his travels around the world, used to have a bout with Prince George of Greece every morning on the bridge of the steamer.

Etiquette.
After a man has accumulated as much as $5000 it is perfectly proper for his wife to refer to the "grounds" surrounding their home, instead of the "yard."

Losses on English Railways.
The returns of the Railway Clearing House in London show that on an average 1,600 parcels a day are lost on the railways of Great Britain.

Beats All Records.
William Officer, an English grave-digger, has buried during fifty-seven years a fewer than 14,321 persons.

Tiny Screws.
Some of the screws used in watches are so small that it takes 280,000 to weigh a pound.

DRUNKENNESS OF ANIMALS

Most of the Higher Class Have a Natural Fondness for Fermented Liquors.
Most of the higher animals—as monkeys, elephants, bears, horses and dogs—have a natural fondness for fermented liquors, and suffer from the abuse of these liquors as men do. From the book of Maccabees it is evident that war elephants were maddened of old with age wine, as they have been and are with arrack down to the present time. Managers of menageries and employees at the various zoological gardens know that the elephants under their care are prepared to go on a wild drunk whenever opportunity offers. Whisky is officially given them when they are ill or low—the quantity varying from five to ten gallons, according to the requirements of the case. This is put into their drinking water. Bears and monkeys drink beer like German students, and love whisky equally well. In Arica the natives make use of this evil trait to capture their poor relations. The monkeys there are extremely fond of a beer brewed by the natives. So the latter place quantities of the liquor within reach of the monkeys, and wait until their victims are thoroughly befuddled. In this state they are unable to recognize the difference between negro and ape. When the negro takes the hand of one of them to lead him off a second monkey takes the hand of the first, a third that of the second, and so on. A single negro may sometimes be seen carrying off a string of staggering monkeys. Fresh doses of beer in decreasing quantities are administered to the captives, so that they may gradually weaken to the end results of their abuse.

Valuable Almanacs.
An almanac that is issued by the Chinese government is considered the most elaborate one in the world. It is 12 thick volumes, which give full information as to the lucky times and places for performing the acts of every-day life.

The most valuable almanac ever made is in the British museum, and it is priceless. It is said to be at least 2000 years old. The days are written in red ink on papyrus in columns, and under each is a figure, followed by three characters signifying the probable state of the weather for that day.

The most curious calendar at present in use is that of the natives of Central America, where the months are only 20 days in length, and these are named after animals.

The most expensive almanac is the British "Nautical Almanac," which costs that nation yearly the sum of $19,710.

Among modern European almanacs the "Almanach de Gotha" has been the longest in continuous circulation—upward of 125 years—(Washington Star).

Colonization of Tramps.
The problem of the tramp puzzles American rural communities a great deal. A hint on the proper disposition of these worthless may be gained from the experience of the managers of farm colonies in England and on the continent.

Besides the Salvation Army homes, the Christian Social Union has one farm colony, and one of 250 acres is maintained by Mr. Hazel, a gentleman of private means. The latter has dealt with 137 men, mostly young fellows who had committed petty crimes. Of these 90 have apparently been reclaimed, but 47 can only be classed as failures.

The London Board of Guardians have now the power to send men to country labor, and they find that, while such punishment as stone-breaking and oakum-picking in town have few terrors for the loafer, he has a horror of ditching, turnip-wooding or other country work, and may even turn industrious in town rather than be deported.

Little Things Worth Knowing.
The parchment of the best banjos is made of wolfskin.
Chinese women have now, it is said, taken to bicycling.
If the streets of London were put end to end they would reach St. Petersburg.
A polyglot magazine, printed in twelve languages, is to be published in St. Louis.

When a fish has lost any of its scales by a wound or abrasion, they are never renewed.
Printing from wooden tablets is said to have been invented by the Chinese in the year 150 A. D.

The Maldivic Archipelago contains 14,000 islands, which abound in cocoa nut palms.
First Bus on a Bank.
The first "run" on banking institutions in London was in 1667. Many Lombard-street goldsmiths and bankers had lent out the money entrusted to them, and being called upon for payment, were unable to meet the demand. A crowd of creditors and others assembled and a riot followed, in which four bankers were hanged at their own doors before order could be restored and the angry creditors persuaded that they were not being swindled.

Grogless American Sailors.
The practice of serving a ration of grog to sailors and marines was discontinued in the United States navy many years ago, as the custom was found to be prejudicial to discipline and morals. Grog is still served, however, in all the other navies of the world. The advocates of temperance in Great Britain have been trying for years to persuade the government to put a stop to the practice, but in vain.

Farm Colonies in Germany.
There are now 25 farm colonies in Germany that deal with 15,000 men annually, and they are said to be very successful financially, besides having a good influence on the men.
Cost of Ironclads.
In the leading navies of the world the cost of building typical ironclads per ton is as follows: United Kingdom, 450; United States, 475; France and Germany, 437 to 490.

Topmenting

"I suffered for years with tetter. On writing my hands were stiff and my fingers cracked. They would crack all over the hand and run from them. The doctor advised me to give up work. Then a friend said, 'Try ALEX'S RABBIT ARILLIN.' I took it all eight bottles, which completely banished me."

Mrs. W. B. JAMES, Haverford, Pa.

Tetter.

The Milford manufacturing dist. is in first class condition for cycling and the fortunate persons who are daily taking advantage of the opportunity offered. It is a deplorable fact that the Milford dist. is in poor condition compared with this one, and our tax payers can readily see that our road commissioners have expended their money in building the best there money could buy. If the Milford commissioners were as particular and exact as we are, and took half the pride in their road that our men do, the condition would be greatly improved.

THE "BUNION" SHOE.

Plenty of room for enlarged joints close fitting elsewhere.

This describes shoes made on the "Bunion Last."

The foot with the bunion was very much like other feet before the bunion grew. It needs a shoe having more room in certain points.

It has been impossible to obtain a satisfactory fit in ready-made shoes.

The nearest approach to it was obtained by buying a shoe which was two or three sizes too long or too wide.

The "custom shoe maker" has frequently failed to give a satisfactory fit simply because he had no last of proper shape to work on.

Repeat on a bunch here and a bunch there, but the outline was wrong and the shoe didn't fit.

The "Bunion Shoe" is the only shoe that will fit the foot with a bunion or an enlarged joint. The words "Bunion Shoe" and "Bunion Last" registered as trademarks, May 21, 1902.
