DINGMANS FERRY.

It is reported that Charles Hunt, late of Delaware, is in the Honesdale jail, charged with stealing a team, harness and wagon. Our photographer, William Allerton, has made an addition to his gallery in the shape of a Moorish Kiosque in which he will dispense soda water and ice cream during the summer. These luxuries have been quite necessary here for several years and we wish him success.

Mrs. Jane Angle has returned from Philadelphia after a two months' visit to her daughter, Mrs. Melvin Dupre.

Nail Keg, in his recent contribution to the Press, inquires which is most beneficial for mankind to read, the Bible or the newspaper? Why the Bible first every time, and the newspaper next; that is, if you read the parables of the Good Book with understanding, but if you do not, or read only in a captious spirit, better not read them.

It is the middle of July and farmers with few exceptions have no garden truck to use yet. Potatoes on account of the continued dry weather are looked on as a failure, the early crop has proved so, and now the blight is affecting them.

Many farmers could not find seed buckwheat and many did not sell because no one knew they had it on hand. A fifteen cent ad in the Press would have notified the whole county and no one need have been disappointed.

All railroads coming up the valley seem to have gone the way of their predecessors to take a rest in ancient history. The friends of J. H. Vater of Brookline are disappointed that he has not made his intended visit to Pike Co.

Dingmans Twp. school directors pay $2.50 each for patent seats. How much do Delaware and Lehman pay. Some taxpayers would like to know.

The rivalry for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff is growing strong down here, and it looks as if the contest was going to be quite one-sided.

People seem to be very philosophical about the dry spell. If things will not grow there is the advantage of being able to gather the crops in good condition.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Ryler at Ardortish, July 11, a daughter. The mother is a daughter of G. W. Donaldson.

The apple crop will be a failure in this vicinity. The few on the trees do not grow.

(FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.)

Dr. Frazier, of Philadelphia, gave a lecture at Edgemoor last Saturday night. His discourse, which treated principally of the island of Cuba and our army and navy, was very interesting. Magle lantern views of battleships and the batteries of Santiago and Morro added much to the vividness of his descriptions. Afterwards tea and cake were served and all highly appreciated his generous entertainment.

Alphus Bousley, under the skillful treatment of Dr. Smith, of Bushkill, is slowly convalescing.

What is the matter with having E. Van Dermark, for Sheriff? "Zack," as he is commonly called, is an honest, industrious man, always ready to do any favor in his power, and well qualified for the duties of the office.

The School Board of Delaware made excellent selections for teachers of our schools. W. B. Layton for Centre, Sarah Layton for Edgemoor, Carrie Hornbeck for Cole, and Miss Heller of Bushkill for No. 10. No teacher has yet been employed for the Academy.

The East Stroudsburg Normal School has just issued its fifth annual catalogue, which, besides showing the progress of the school, is neatly gotten up and contains several handsome half-tone cuts of falls and scenery in Monroe Co. The mechanical execution is highly creditable to the Monroe Democrat.

MATAMORAS.

Miss Ida E. Westbrook, of Columbus, Ga., a trained nurse, is visiting her mother near Milford. She will remain north until October. Her many friends in Matamoras are pleased to see her looking so well. Miss Westbrook was formerly a teacher in the High School here.

Mr. Charles Garaband, of Jersey City, visited his old home here on Sunday. Charley is looking well.

Miss Ida Lawrence, of Brooklyn, who has been spending the week at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Allen, returned home on Tuesday. Her many friends regret her departure.

Mr. Wallace Van Gordon rode to Bushkill on his wheel last week, returning on Tuesday. He rode very fast and reached here in advance of the very heavy shower on that day.

The opera took place on Monday and Tuesday evenings. A large house greeted the participants both evenings and it was a success. The following young ladies from Matamoras took part: Miss Mary Squares, Miss Hattie Allen, and Miss Lulu Billman.

The ladies of St. Joseph's Church will give a Garden Social on Wednesday evening on the grounds adjoining the residence of Father Teles. A temporary stage will be erected and an attractive programme of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and tableaux will be rendered. Ice cream and refreshments will be served free of charge. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged at the entrance.

Frank Cookson has lately purchased a piano through the agency of Prof. Pine.

Mrs. J. A. Wiegand received the bad news that her father was dangerously ill and left town for his bedside.

A RECEPTION TO MRS. HARTLY. The ladies of St. Joseph's Church, connected with Epworth church, Matamoras, gave a reception on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. G. H. Langton, in honor of Mrs. Richard Hartly, wife of the Rev. R. Hartly, of N. Y. city who is President of the King's Daughters Circle, connected with her husband's church. The president of the circle, Miss Katie Walls, introduced Mrs. Hartly to the friends present. She gave a fine address to which Miss Walls fittingly replied discussing upon the duties devolving upon the circle.

Mrs. Hartly gave a recitation entitled "True Martyrs of Religion," and also the "Toll Tale," both of which were very pleasing and entertaining to the circle. Rev. E. W. Morton sang a solo entitled "A Soldier of the Cross." At the conclusion of the singing, the ladies of the circle passed refreshments consisting of cake and cream.

The circle will celebrate their second anniversary sometime next month, full particulars of which will be given.

Mrs. Hartly and her two children are spending a few weeks vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Keyes on River street.

MONTAGUE.

MR. EIGHTER. Its hot and dry over here to day (Sunday) the dust is about six inches deep in the road and the loose stones all bleed.

Miss Emma Armstrong, of Jersey City, spent a few days in this town last week.

Several city ladies are stopping at Wheelands cottage.

When full of bugles don't abuse those who don't harm you, put a lock on your jaw and go home or trouble may come.

One of our citizens complains about his cows being milked by some one outside of his family at unusual hours. Another complains of small things being misused and yet this is an honest town.

Over 200 ground hog scalps were brought in for the town committee to look at and pay for at the rate of 15 cents a scalp.

Price Westbrook was severely injured by falling off a load of rye when coming down the hill near the home of Geo. McCarty. He was taken to his home at Tri States, N. Y.

A genuine hobo came very near striking a song over here the other day. He stopped at a farm house and as usual asked for something to eat, thinking the farmers wife about house and some language he ought not have used which brought out the old shot gun with the wife having hold of the trigger end. Mr. Traup got in a herry.

It is reported that there has been a split in a family here the wife taking part of the goods and going to the city while the husband was absent. She didn't even bid him good bye.

Dr. E. Cole spent a couple of days in Portland, Pa., last week.

There might have been a wedding here last Friday morning. A Pike County couple tried to get hitched here but our dominion is not ordained so couldn't do it.

A large number of friends from here, Milford and Port Jervis of the late Mrs. Little Bell Johnson attended her funeral at Hainesville Sunday.

Peter Beck remains about the same.

Bill has a new Bible and he should give one to the fellow on the NAIL KEG.

PAUPAC.

Sunday after dinner several boys went to the river for bathing among them was Robert Eversing about 16 years old, he said he could swim so he plunged in the water and got in a deep place and either strangled or was taken with cramps; the boys he was with did not realize anything was wrong until he went down for the third time they thought he was diving. His father and two sisters, and he himself were bathing at Mr. Victorines. His mother died about two years ago. He has one other sister, they sent to N. Y. for an undertaker and took him there for interment that being their place of residence. His poor father is nearly heart broken and has the sincere sympathy of the community.

Mrs. Krul and two young daughters with a little friend of theirs are passing their vacation at the Kinble house.

Mr. and Mrs. Florence Killam, of Troy, N. Y. visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Killam several days last week.

Friend Steams, of Logansport, and Miss Watson were callers at A. J. Kinbles on Sunday last.

Miss Mary Wilson of Phila., is visiting her sister Mrs. Guest of this place.

S. W. Smith of Port Allegheeny is the guest of Miss E. B. Killam.

Miss Josephine Smith of Honesdale is home for her summer vacation.

The backbone of the drought is broken at last and making hay is very uncertain.

STRANGE FISH.

Years ago, it is related of a celebrated hunter who was fond of telling remarkable tales of his prowess, he told to a select company how he had killed a fine buck, and strange to say, the bullet passed through the hind foot and ear of the animal.

Some of the company expressing a little surprise at the extraordinary shot, the hunter called in his faithful servant to confirm the statement, and asked him: "Pompey, didn't I shoot a deer, and didn't the ball go through his ear and hind foot?" "Yesir," was the prompt reply, "it did." "Well," said one of the guests, "will you explain how that could be?" "Yesir," said Pompey, with a little hesitation, "You see it was dis here way; dat deer was just scratchin' him year wid his hind foot when Massa fired."

The stretch caused Pompey subsequently to caution his Master when he told a story to get the ends a little nearer together. The Strouds burg Jeffersonian is authority for the statement that certain parties recently in three days' fishing at Porter's Lake caught over three hundred different kinds of fish.

The item does not so say, but no doubt one of the kinds was a mermaid and another a bar-maid.

It must be true if one so venerable as Editor Schoch says it, but it would be highly interesting, and a wonderful addition to the ichthyological lore of this county to have more of the varieties enumerated. Parties we know of have seen in that paradise of fishermen, more than that number and kinds of snakes, but not after drinking the pure water which gushes from the spring in front of the house. There are some, too, who have fished in that same spring with extraordinary results, but they did not get over two kinds of fish. The "Rev." attached to the name of one of the parties mentioned by friend Schoch produces all possibility of mistake—it must be true, and yet there is an taint of the tales of the worldly after having visited Porter's—a certain odor of snake antidote, or liver regulator about the statement, which causes one to wonder if—? No, perish the suspicion; we are willing to explain this time just how it was, but we must caution the Judge next time a Reverend goes out to Porter fishing to personally and carefully examine the contents of his bait pail, and even sample it, if necessary, to determine the quality—the quantity will no doubt be ample for the occasion.

The explanation of the manner in which such a variety of fish got into Porter's Lake is simple. The Spaniards at Manila made so many poor shots they simply bored a hole straight through the Earth, which happened to come out in Porter's Pond, and the numerous tropical fish, the mermaid included, were think possibly the bar-maid is indigenous, thinking things were growing rather warm at home just followed the hole through, and this probably accounts for the surprising variety of fish caught by the Rev. and his friends in three days' sport.

A Gentle Frost.

The ingratitude of Republicans has been remarked and likewise the tendency of autocratic rule to suppress or dwarf genius, but seldom has such effects been brought directly home to our own community. Here every aspiration has generally been fertilized with abundant and profuse promises, the seeker after political preferment has been buoyed with the cajolery of friends and enemies alike and led along the pleasant pathway of rosy hope at least, until the proper time to sacrifice him arrived. But now a party, fertile in resources, for some unexplained reasons, applies the axe and decapitates a candidate before he fairly enters the race.

A Teutonic gentleman who has served his party with commendable zeal and distinction, been purveyor extraordinary of logical and solid substances for several generations to grateful but rapacious and odorous animals of the genus sus scrofa, minister plenipotentiary to Democratic understandings, learned in the lore of the father land, whose official duty it was to "sit on" has now been ruthlessly sat upon himself.

The Democratic party of this county, evidently for the purpose of excluding the hot polli from its ranks of office holders recently passed a cruel iron rule that no one could go on its ticket without seeing the County Committee to the extent of at least a Y. This, in some cases, is no doubt intended to be prescriptive, and so it has proven in the case of the learned and ornamental gentleman who has heretofore filled with such individual dignity, and party credit the office of Coroner in this county. Why the chiefs of this organization have slipped the glowing aspirations of this ornament of their party with a five dollar frost is best known to themselves, but they have, and when next they call the roster of their faithful public servants from the Court House dome the mellifluous accents of Crowned Geiger will not respond with the aforementioned alacrity; dot's me by jiminy.

To attain happiness is the universal object of all men. The end sought by all is the same, one and indivisible; but how various the means,—how diversified the paths by which they travel toward that end. THE "BUNION" SHOE.

Plenty of room for enlarged joints closely fitting elsewhere.

This describes shoes made on the "Bunion Lasts."

The foot with the bunion was very much like other feet before the bunion grew. It needs a shoe having more room in certain points.

It has been impossible to obtain a satisfactory fit in ready made shoes.

The nearest approach to it was obtained by buying a shoe which was two or three sizes too long or too wide.

The "custom shoe maker" has frequently failed to give a satisfactory fit simply because he had no last of proper shape to work on.

He put on a bunch here and a bunch there, but the outline was wrong and the shoe didn't fit.

The "Bunion Shoe" is the only shoe that will fit the foot with a bunion or an enlarged joint. The words "Bunion Shoe" and "Bunion Last" registered as trade mark, May 7, 1892.
