One of the reasons given in this State, where there is a nine month's term, is, Washington, D. C., Sept. 12, '98. that unless the school opens Sept. 1. the term cannot be concluded with the fiscal school year which closes the first Monday in June, and that it occasions carrying open accounts into the next school year. If there is any validity in this reason, the Legislature could easily change the time for settlement to July. ### RECORD CURIOSITIES.

We occasionally read of literary curiosities, and the curious mistakes made by newspaper compositors, some laughable, some provoking, and some even wise or witty, but we always credit the fertile imagination of the writer with considerable ingenuity in fixing them up. When it comes to records, however, which must be transcribed and kept as truthful evidences of facts occurring, it rather staggers one to learn that a man in this County had been death before he was interred, yet, if the semi-annual return of deaths made by the Assessor in Lackawaxen is true, such is the case. It fictitious name, for the return itself makes that sufficiently so.

ert, Jas. G. Name of Mother, if Minor-Holbert, Saberry.

This seems to prolong unusually the period of minority in that township. The kindly Assessor has also added some strange diseases to the catalogue and our medical students will need to revise their jaw-breaking nomenclature, and lay in a stock of new remedies. For instance, one person died of "Hart Falure." This malady seems to be an innovation, and the microbe possibly may have been so developed within a recent period that it may like the dysentery, which lately was said to afflict this section, become epidemic. We sincerely hope however, that the castor oil act, in which a certain political dector from

SOMEWHAT MIXED. Once upon a time, as the old story books would say, two gentleman of convivial habits, Jones and Thom; -that a dignified, dispassionate and son, who lived on the sums street and in houses resembling each the other, stopped in front of the residence of Jones and rang the door bell. Promptly a head appeared at an upper window and emitted the enquiry, "Who's there?" The gentlemen responded : "Misser Thompshon and Misser Jone h and Mr. Jonesh wants Misses Jonesh to come down and pick him out, cause Mr. Thompshon wants to
