The High Falls Hotel has a number of city boarders.

A welcome rain fell here last Friday.

Mrs. Gilbert Heater has so far recovered from her illness as to be out of doors.

It may be humane not to kill crows because they catch mice and destroy lugs and worms, but the rule works best when they are pulling some other man's corn.

Difficulty is experienced in erecting the Dingman bridge on account of the scarcity of laborers. Everybody is busy working their land.

Little pigs are scarce here. Ed. Nyce and a Jersey dealer bought up the stock.

Garret Broadhead and Frank Downs attended the wedding of Miss Hetty Decker and Mr. Leport at Deckertown last Saturday.

The storm last Friday considerably damaged cornfields on side hills.

Oats look fair, as do potatoes and rye is improving.

Tax collector Hornbeck is making it easy for the tax payers, by extending the time for payment to the full limit. It is hoped this will enable every one to meet the obligation on time and save him the disagreeable duty of pressing payment. Some of our former collectors have been prompt to add the five per cent. CESAR.
