Odd Marriages in the Philippines.

Odd Marriages in the Philippines. The marriage customs of the Ne-gulos are peculiar. The young man who seeks a bride first obtains the favor of her parents, and then pursues her catching her in his arms. She breaks loose and runs and does not yield until he has caught her several times. Finally he leads her is tri-umph to fist home. Here the father drags the youth up a ladder to the floor of their hut. The mother drags the maiden. They are then made to kneel, and the father pours over them a cocoanut shell full of water. He then humps their heads together and the ceremony is completed. They spend their honeymoon in the depths of the mountains, and for five days and nights are lost to sight, after which they come back to everyday life.

There is another marriage custom which is worth describing. Instead of the youth and malden being dragged up the hut ladder, they are made to climb two saplings and draw them to-cother until the head of the gether until the heads of the young couple touch, with a kiss or a hump, according to the force used. This makes them man and wife.—The
