Chairman Jones insists that it is not the square thing to discuss his Public sale on round cotton bale trust.

The Democratic workers think that it is very pretty to receive pictures of Mr Bryan olling the farm wagon, but they would rather know just how Mr. Jones looks greasing the wagon.

The Democracts are staggering as usual under a multiplicity of issues that do not fit all parts of the country. They cannot talk free silver in the East, they dare not press antiexponsion in the West, they fear to dwell on free trade in the manufac. turing districts, and the "consent of the governed" is an expression non grata in the South.

If there were really any danger of ompire there would be no Demogratic, Republican, Populist or Prohibition party. Tariff, silver, whisky and everything else would be forgotten and the entire nation would rise as one man and put it down.

The charge of militarism made by the Democratic candidate for Presidency is an insult to every American solding serving under the flag. All soldiers, whether regulars, volunteers or in the militia, are volunteers. They have entered the service of their own free will and secord. None were drufted.

The ghost of imperialism is so transparent that even a near-sighted man can see 16 to 1 through its shadowy form.

If elected would Bryan call an extra session of Congress and urge the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, without which he has repeatedly declared the country would go to rain?

After all, crop conditions all over the country afford very little material for the calamity howlers.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

So far Mr. Bryan has had the greatest difficulty with those members of his audiences who insist upon him explaining his predictions of four years ago.

It is a mistake to assume that Mr. Bryan has not gained anything by his utterances on "imperialism." His reputation for trick politics has been added to materially.

The Democratic managers are said to have noticed no particular demand, as yet, for 16 to 1 literature—Every one understands all about that question.
