NO. 50.

THE INDEPENDENT VOTER.

In an alleged communication in Mutchler's paper of town, probably written by "Howard" and signed "Reuben" the writer says: "After the election the interest of the district will be looked after by Howard Mutchler with the same care and faithfulness that he was in Congress." What a bid for votes! Using the reputation of the father to gain votes for the son! Surely the name is the same, as far as emptiness goes, but the man, the principles, the reputation, the official confidence are as different as the "Day is different from the night." Surely in this case the mantle of the honored father has not fallen upon the shoulders of the son, the present would-be Congressman of this district.

He says "Howard Mutchler is going to be elected." What a surprise there will be when the returns have come in! This is the independent voter's opportunity and he will make good use of it.

On the opportunity for the independent voter we quote the following from our contemporary the Bethlehem Times of October 16, 1900:

"The candidacy of Russell C. Stewart for Congress in this district should appeal with especial force to the man who prides himself on his political independence and who never tires of asserting that his ballot is always cast for the nominee who is best fitted for the position for which he aspires.

Mr. Stewart is politically clean, able, honest and eloquent and towers head and shoulders above his opponent in this contest in all that goes to make a well equipped Congressman. He is no man's man. He has well settled convictions and beliefs. Political manipulations, wire pullings and the low tricks and devices used to secure unworthy ends would enlist his opposition instead of his sympathy.

As the Representative of this district in Congress his sole aim would be to further in every honorable way the interests of his constituents, and that he would accomplish his aim there can be no question in the minds of those who are most intimately acquainted with the man and who are aware of his industry, dogged perseverance and ability in carrying out plans and policies that he has outlined.

In a word, the people of Eighth Congressional District are to be congratulated upon the fact that they have an opportunity to vote for a man like Russell C. Stewart."

We partly agree with "Reuben," "that the interest of the district will be looked after with care and faithfulness," but differ in this that the man who will have charge of the "looking after" is going to be Russell C. Stewart.

One criterion by which to determine the strength of the anti-Mutchler feeling in the present campaign is the great demand for "The Globe" since October 16th.

The demand we notice is not from politicians alone but from the independent voters, Republican and Democrats alike, in other words, the citizens of the Bethlehem are aroused on the Congressional question. Many callers for papers were Democrats, free and independent ones, who refuse to wear the Mutchler collar, and who will work for his defeat in November. We quote one of the many callers: "I am a Democrat, but when it comes to making a choice of voting for Mutchler and against home industries and therefore against the comforts of my own family, I must draw the line. My vote this year goes for Russell C. Stewart." Another said: "Does it not take a man of more than ordinary nerve to come before the voters of this town for their support after trying his best to take our industries away?"

We find the same state of affairs in watching other sections in this Eighth Congressional District. The fact is that Russell C. Stewart will be elected with a majority so large that his most sanguine friends will be surprised.—South Bethlehem Globe.

THE TRUSTS.

Nearly every Democratic newspaper from the New York Journal barer down through all its yelling scorchers are disfiguring their pages with cuts of a gross giant, in varying postures labeled "The Trusts."

The rulings of the Supreme Court have shown that as the Constitution now stands Congress only can regulate trusts engaged in interstate commerce. To this end the following amendment was introduced in the House of Representatives and pressed to a vote June 1, 1900.

Section 1. All powers conferred by this article shall be extended to the several states, the territories, the District of Columbia, and all territory under the sovereignty and subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.

Section 2. "Congress shall have power to define, regulate, control, prohibit, or dissolve trusts, monopolies or combinations, whether existing in the form of a combination or otherwise. The several states may continue to exercise such power in any manner not in conflict with the laws of the United States."

Section 3. Congress shall have power to enforce the provisions of this article by appropriate legislation.

The clause saving all rights of states was inserted in the hope of getting States Rights Democrats to support the amendment. Nevertheless the vote stood 148 Republicans for and 139 Democrats against, and the measure failed of the necessary two-thirds majority.

Loudly as the Democrats talked, when it came to vote they echoed Bryan's declaration at the Chicago conference: "We have not met here to destroy the trusts."

Our Representative, Mr. Barber, voted with his party against the amendment. The above is history, who then supports and countenances trusts? and why should not those papers label their pet productions our trusts?

Reputation Mutchler.

The Eastern Argus is the leading and most widely circulated Democratic newspaper in this Congressional district, and therefore its emphatic repudiation of Howard Mutchler, the Congressional nominee of its party, is of especial significance and importance.

"The position of Congressman," says the Argus, "is one that requires the services of a broad minded man, one who goes to Washington with the idea of representing the whole district, amenable alone to the wishes of his constituents. This is a trait entirely foreign to make up of Howard Mutchler. He has for some years been accustomed to listening to none. He has been guided alone by his own impetuous will. The public and their desires worry him at no time excepting a few weeks prior to election. Even now he has not enough consideration for those whose votes he asks, to intimate the course he will pursue, if elected to Congress. Is that the kind of man the people of the Eighth District would select of their own free will and accord to represent them in Congress? His nomination was secured by irregular methods. It does not represent the true democracy of the district. Democrats are not bound by it and a worse calamity to the district could hardly be imagined than sending to Congress such a man, unrepresentative and unfitted in record, experience, and natural abilities."—Bethlehem Times.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at all drug stores.

This is the season when mothers are alarmed on account of croup. It is quickly cured by one minute cough cure, which children like to take.

Russell C. Stewart is all that Howard Mutchler is not.—South Bethlehem Star.

Correct! That's why Stewart is to be elected.—Easton Free Press.

Yes and what's more Stewart will be elected and South Bethlehem will do her full share of her work. Judging by all the latest reports R. C. Stewart is daily gaining in strength and more particularly because "he is all that Howard Mutchler is not."—South Bethlehem Globe.

Free to Inventors.

The experience of C. A. Snow & Co., in obtaining more than 20,000 patents for inventors has enabled them to helpfully answer many questions relating to the protection of intellectual property. This they have done in a pamphlet treating briefly of United States and foreign patents, with cost of same, and how to procure them; trade marks, designs, caveats, infringements, decisions in leading patent cases, etc., etc.

This pamphlet will be sent free to anyone writing to C. A. Snow & Co., Washington, D. C.

Dr. W. H. Lewis, Lawrenceville, Va., writes, "I am using Kodol dyspepsia cure in my practice among severe cases of indigestion and find it a admirable remedy." Many hundreds of physicians depend upon the use of Kodol dyspepsia cure in stomach troubles. It digests what you eat, and allows you to eat all the good food you need, providing you do not overload your stomach. Gives instant relief and a permanent cure.

No other pills can equal DeWitt's little early risers for promptness, certainty and efficiency.

OUR NEXT MEMBER.

That those of our readers who may not have an opportunity of seeing our candidate in person, can form some idea of his appearance we present a very fair likeness.

RUSSELL C. STEWART, Republican Candidate for Congress.

The picture was not taken on a porch and does not overshadow that of any other man, but the man himself does overshadow his opponent in all that would go to make a fitting representative for this vast district. His platform is clearly defined, his abilities are apparent, his sincerity is frank, his integrity of purpose unquestioned and his zeal undimmed. Send him to Congress and you will be proud of the day.

His Chances Improve.

As the days go by there appears good ground for the belief that Stewart will be elected. The independent voters, those who on a previous occasion aided to elect a Republican Congressman, are again in evidence against bossism, trading and commercial methods in making nominations. The growth of sentiment in favor of Stewart has been steady and general and the disaffection against Mutchlerism surprises and unceremonious in wide spread and sincere. The honest Democrat feels that he is not bound by any party ethics to support nominations made in such manner. He is not discarding his democracy he is only robbing men who have no political honor and who sought his vote simply as a stock in trade with which to barter for their own gain. The deal has been made the bundle pocketed or the promises secured and the vote is now being bought by earnest appeals to stand by the party, no matter who the nominee or the methods employed. The henchmen have the pill in their fingers and they are making frantic efforts to force it down the throats of honest and manly voters but they will not succeed.

A Small Fire.

An alarm of fire Tuesday morning proved to be a small blaze in the house of Col. A. E. Lewis on upper Harford street. A book case had been stood in front of an open fire place the flue of which connected with another in use. The sparks had evidently fallen down and ignited some paper which communicated with the wood of the case. A number of books were damaged and had the fire occurred during the night time it might have been very serious.

The Institute.

The Teachers' Institute this week has been well attended and very large audiences have been present each evening to hear the able addresses. The instructors were Dr. C. C. Rounds, of New York, Prof. Bible, of the East Stroudsburg State Normal, Byron W. King, of Pittsburg, and Dr. J. T. Rothrock, State Commissioner of Forestry occupied one evening assisted by Prof. Sawyer with a stereopticon. A fuller report will be given next week.

New York and Return, Sunday $1.

On Sunday next October 28, the Erie will sell special excursion tickets from Port Jervis, to New York and return at the popular rate of one dollar for the round trip, tickets good going on train No. 606 leaving Port Jervis at 7:45 a. m. Returning on any train Sunday October 28 except trains No. 5 and 7.

MUTCHLER'S SURPRISE.

H. C. Loudenslager, Representative in Congress from New Jersey, who is in charge of the Eastern headquarters of the Republican Congressional Committee, being asked relative to the Congressional struggle between ex-Congressman Mutchler, Democrat and Russell C. Stewart, the Republican nominee, stated that the committee is very much encouraged over the reports from that district which they have gotten from many sources; they all indicate that Mr. Mutchler will be defeated.

Mr. Loudenslager remarked that he was astonished when the papers announced that Mr. Mutchler was "surprised" when he received the Democratic nomination, and said that it would seem to him impossible that any Democrat in the district who were acquainted with the candidacy of Dr. Shull, of Monroe county, and Mr. Barber, of Carbon county, for this nomination, would beset Mr. Mutchler's declaration of "surprise." Mr. Loudenslager said that at the Republican National Convention held in Philadelphia and that Mr. Mutchler then informed him that he would be a member of the next Congress. When Mr. Loudenslager informed him that he thought Mr. Barber was to be renominated or that it would go to one of the other counties, Mr. Mutchler stated to him that he would secure the nomination.

This conversation took place while Mr. Barber and Dr. Shull were each working like beavers to secure their conferees and while Mr. Mutchler was declaring to them that he did not want and could not take it. In view of the performance of Mr. Mutchler's conferees and of the Pike county conferees at the conference in Easton it is no wonder that the friends of Dr. Shull and Mr. Barber feel that the nomination was stolen by Mr. Mutchler.

Not only is Mr. Mutchler criticized by leading Democrats in the four counties for his unfair treatment of the candidates who were working in an open and manly way for the nomination, but they all admit that he is not fit for the position. Those who are opposed to him are therefore working actively for the election of Mr. Stewart, who is known to be a conservative, hard-working lawyer, and who is thoroughly able to represent all the interests of that district.

The question of patronage does not interest either the friends of Dr. Shull in Monroe county or the friends of Mr. Barber in Carbon county, because they know that Howard Mutchler, even though he would promise anything before election, would give all his patronage to those who have heretofore worked so hard to build up his influence in Carbon and Monroe counties.—Phila. Inquirer.

OBITUARY.

An Encouraging Outlook.

As the campaign progresses the prospect of the election of Russell C. Stewart to Congress from this district grows decidedly brighter. The Republican candidate is making an energetic canvass and is gaining new friends and supporters wherever he appears. He is a man to inspire confidence and respect, and the voters of the district are not slow in taking note of the fact that while he is fearlessly, intelligently and eloquently discussing the issues that are before the people to-day, his opponent, Howard Mutchler, is conducting a still hunt for the office he is so anxious to secure. The latter realizes that his appearance on the hustings would not be conducive to vote getting. People are very apt to draw comparisons and in this instance such procedure would be inimical to the ends Mr. Mutchler has in view.

On a number of occasions in the past the people of the counties composing this district have shown their political independence, and the time for another exhibition of this kind is due. There is reason, too, for the belief that the cry of party regularity will not avail in some quarters that are confidently depended upon by Mr. Mutchler and his lieutenants.

As the days pass voters are realizing that there is a great deal at stake in this Congressional election. They clearly see that it is vitally important that this district, having within its limits a great number of industries of all kinds and descriptions, should be represented at Washington by a thoroughly capable man, one who understands its needs and is able to present them in a way to insure a respectful hearing.—Bethlehem Times.

Unclaimed Letters.

Last of unclaimed letters remaining in the post office at Milford for week ending Oct. 27, 1900:

Ladies—Mrs. W. E. Hangen, Mrs. Bertha Johnson.

Gentlemen—Chas. Dauson, N. M. Thomas.

Persons claiming the above will please say "Advertised" and give date of this list.

CHARLES LATTIMORE, P. M.

The "Heralds" Fall.

Last Sunday the Herald gave the result of a very careful poll of the country made by it. The canvass was made simply for the purpose of ascertaining the situation and was without bias, it is therefore valuable as showing a result fairly obtained: It gives McKinley 281 and Bryan 166 electoral votes. In 1896 the vote was 271 and 176. Total 447 to elect 244.

Do not get scared if your heart troubles you. Most likely you suffer from indigestion. Kodol dyspepsia cure digests what you eat and gives the worn out stomach perfect rest. It is the only preparation known that completely digests all classes of foods; that is why it cures the worst cases of indigestion and stomach trouble after everything else has failed. It may be taken in all conditions and cannot help but to do you good.

THE RAMBLERS PICKINGS.

Are somewhat few this week.

The demand for fire wood is increasing.

Ernest Wood is painting the Delaware bridge.

Geo. Slawson is adding a coat of paint to the residence of C. Leidel.

Strable pays the toll for Jersey man who make elder at his mill.

R. D. Sayre and wife visited Paup friends last week.

Cyrus Custard looks hale and well and yet wears a stove pipe hat.

How did Frank S miss the deer? Ninety one hundred was the weight of the load that Lou Labar's mules hauled from Port Jervis last Saturday.

Sorry to learn that the estimable wife of the Editor of the Press is yet on the sick list.

Henry Stubbendoff is building an addition to his wagon house.

The chestnut crop is light and the nuts small.

It is rumored that Rev. George Leckenbill who was pastor of the Ref'd church at Dingmans a year or so ago and more recently of the Ref'd church at Glen Rock, N. J., is dead. He was struck by an Erie train at Forndale when returning from a meeting of classes.

Hotel Schanno has several city guests.

W. S. Ryman and wife and Wm. Almer and wife went over to Montague Friday evening and enjoyed a supper with Jas. Dennis. Roast pig was on the bill of fare.

The Brick house school is getting a reputation. From an attendance of over forty it dropped to less than a dozen and Prof. Huston the teacher sought a new field of labor.

Mrs. Geo. McCarty, of Montague, spent Sunday in town with relatives.

It is reported that Mrs. Jas. A. Rundle is seriously ill with typhoid fever.

There have been some ideal Autumn days this week particularly last Monday.

An Opportunity for the Independent Voter.
