SANDYSTON.

The frolic for hauling gravel on the road leading from Tattles Corner to Layton was not the success it was hoped it would be. However quite a strip was neatly gravled. Another effort will be made later on and I hope to see the job put through.

The scarlet fever, in Branchville, has nearly died out, and as no new cases are reported, it is hoped that this dreaded disease will soon be a thing of the past. The people there should be thankful that it was a very mild type.

The revival meetings now in progress, at Layton, brings out a crowded house, but the repentant sinner is not in evidence, as yet. An all day service will be held on Tuesday.

Edward Layton had a sale on Saturday last and on Monday moved to Stroudsburg, Pa. Mrs. Litts, of Layton, will occupy the premises vacated by Mr. Layton.

Posters stare you in the face everywhere you go, telling you to keep off under penalty of law. That is all right, providing the poster keeps on his side of the fence, when he is hunting which they sometimes forget to do and then are mad, if they are ordered off—or fined.

On the 23rd I started on my trip to attend the Annual Meetings of the Readington Insurance Company to be held at Three Bridges in Hunterdon County. I noticed that the farmers in that section had as much corn to husk as we have here, and their winter grain looks about the same as it does here. But politics was to be heard everywhere, and if you listened to one orator he would make you think McKinley would win hands down, and the next would as positively assert that McKinley would not be in the game on Nov. 6 and the poor voter don't know what to think, but thank fortune it will soon be over.

Miss Frances Wintermute was married to Charles Walker, of Newton, on the 23rd at noon, and departed in the afternoon for their future home in Newton.

Mr. Samuel Sheets, of Bevans, died at that place on Friday last at the advanced age of 81 years. For many years he had been in failing health, and his death was not unexpected. In 1872 deceased married Mrs. Mary Rosenkrans, who survives him.

Leo Elliott was married to Miss Mabel Raser, by the Rev. M. V. B. Warner, at Bevans, on the 22nd. Both have many warm friends in this community and all wish them a prosperous voyage over the matrimonial sea.

Frank Wilhelm, of Scranton, Pa., is spending a fortnight visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity.

Cesar in his items takes great comfort in the fact that the Democrats in his locality are not betting on their candidate. Betting makes nothing surer, and if my friend will only hug his delusion until Nov. 6th he will be glad he did no betting, at least that is my opinion.

Stewart Haines a veteran of the civil war, residing near Lafayette, was at work husking corn on the morning of the 23rd he was seen to stagger and fall. Upon going to him he was found to be dead.

Our hunters are getting their guns and equipments in order for the approaching hunting season, but I am of the opinion that many have had their shooting irons in order for some time, but the farmer isn't in the game.

DINGMAN'S FERRY.

Mrs. James Clifford, of Sandyston N. J., spent Sunday with Mrs. Jas. B. Angle.

Gabriel Crone and wife, of Montague, visited relations here recently.

Miss Fanny Titman is preparing for a happy event to occur in the near future.

The roads through this section are being worked with chicken feathers this fall. A hoot owl is charged with doing it, but all the same he has no wings.

Election is near at hand and people we think will vote for the country's interest and that will be to snow Bryan under.

Several from here saw Bryan early Tuesday morning. They were much pleased to hear and see him and some had the pleasure of shaking his hand to all of whom he gave a kind word. Several bonnets were thrown him.

The Halloween Social given by the C. E. S. of Epworth church Tuesday evening at the home of Irene Kimble was a very enjoyable event. The witch was present and unfolded the future to many lads and lassies.

Mrs. C. H. Snyder and daughter, Cora, attended the wedding of Miss Minnie, her niece, at Ellenville, Wednesday evening.

The 15 cent tea given by the ladies of Epworth church Friday evening at Chas. Lords was well attended and greatly enjoyed.

Rev. T. L. Wentz, Presiding elder of this district, delivered a fine sermon in Hope Church Sunday Morning and evening to large congregations. He was the first minister in charge there and the congregation was much pleased to greet him.

The L. C. U. of Hope church met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. G. H. Langton.

J. E. Molony visited New York Saturday and saw the great ovation to Bryan at Madison Square Garden. He was the only one from here and so could absorb all the pleasure due the great spot.

This picture is the trade mark of SCOTT'S EMULSION, and is on every bottle of SCOTT'S EMULSION in the World, which now amounts to many millions yearly. This great business has grown to such vast proportions,

First—Because the proprietors have always been most careful in selecting the various ingredients used in its composition, namely: the finest Cod Liver Oil, and the purest Hypophosphites.

Second—Because they have so skillfully combined the various ingredients that the best possible results are obtained by its use.

Third—Because it has made so many sickly, delicate children strong and healthy, given health and rosy cheeks to so many pale, anemic girls, and healed the lungs and restored to full health, so many thousands in the first stages of Consumption.

Christian Endeavor.

A railroad rate of one fare for the round trip has been granted delegates to the State Christian Endeavor Convention to be held in Philadelphia, November 30-22. Card orders should be obtained from District Secretaries. The tickets will be good, going, November 17 to 22, returning, to November 25.

The regular meetings of the Convention will be held in the Baptist Temple and Second Regiment Armory, two immense structures which stand not far apart, on North Broad street. The sunrise Prayer Meetings will take place in neighboring churches.

The concerts to be given by the great Convention Choir of 1500 voices will occur in the Academy of Music on Thursday Nov. 15, and Saturday evening, the 17th. Those who expect to be in the city over Sunday will be able to use their railroad tickets in time to attend the concert, and it is a treat of which they will be wise to take advantage. The choir will be the largest of a religious character ever heard in Philadelphia, and a high grade of sacred music will be rendered under the direction of H. C. Lincoln.

Maps and guide books will be given out by the members of the Reception Committee, and the aid will be to furnish information and assistance cheerfully to all who may desire them. Philadelphia means to treat the visiting Endeavors well. Come and see.

The place of registration will be at the Baptist Temple, Broad and Berks street.

Much prominence will be given to missions in the Convention talks, the efficient speaker along this line being Dr. John H. Barrows, president of Oberlin College, and first lecturer to India on the Haskell Foundation, and Robert E. Spear, Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, who has had varied experiences in missionary work and knows how to tell about them in a fascinating manner.

Among the speakers on practical Christian work will be Dr. Francis E. Clark, Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon, J. T. McCoy and Dr. Charles A. Oliver.

That Surprise Again.

The interview in last week's Press taken from the Inquirer, in which it was stated that Mr. Matchler said last June to Mr. Loudenslager that he "would be a member of the next Congress" has been denied by the "Express" but in such manner as not to contradict the assertion that the remark was made but to try to cast a doubt as to whether it was given to the Inquirer. The conversation took place he practically admits but he says it was not given to the paper. This is a clumsy denial and will not have weight with an intelligent public. The only question is did he say it and not how the paper obtained the information. The Easton Argus in commenting on the article and Matchler's further statement says, quoting in part:

"In June when this pretended interview is alleged to have taken place, each of the other three counties had two candidates for Congress. The convention in none of them had been held and no conferees elected," and then Mr. Matchler argues that it was impossible for him to know which set of conferees from the counties would be elected, who might vote with Northampton and thus nominate him, and that to know this would be to endow Mr. Matchler "with a superior kind of political wisdom." The answer to such a statement can be put in a nutshell. It made absolutely no difference which set of conferees from Carbon or Monroe counties were selected. Mr. Matchler was not dealing with Carbon or Monroe. His business transactions were with Pike county. There were two sets of conferees in Pike. Matchler was paying both of them. It was a case of "heads I win and tails you lose" with him in Pike county. He made arrangements with the powers of Pike for his conferees, no matter which set won.

Mr. Matchler stands convicted before the public by his admission in the Express of duplicity and irregularity in securing his nomination. The only "campaign lie" is that of telling the Democrats of this district that his nomination was a "surprise."
