OUR STREETS: Ever since Milford became a Borough, and for many years before for that matter, considerable sums have been annually spent on the streets.

It cannot be said that the principal thoroughfares have been permanently improved in all this time. From year to year the money has been spent, we will assume honestly, not judiciously, and each recurring season has demanded an equal outlay to keep the streets in at least as good condition as they were the previous year.

The Cantata was a success, considering the severe colds against we contended. The proceeds are as follows, received from tickets sold, $23.90, from receipts at door, $9.90, total, $33.80. We wish to give our personal thanks to all who have given their services. The wish has been expressed by several that this be not the last. Unless some unknown event changes our minds this is but the beginning.

Milford Hand Laundry: The undersigned has opened a laundry on Centre Square Milford, Pa., in the store room formerly occupied by Geo. Dauman, and will do all kinds of work pertaining to the business with promptness and in a neat careful manner.

Rheumatism: Nobody knows all about it; and nothing, now known, will always cure it. Doctors try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, when they think it is caused by imperfect digestion of food. You can do the same.

It may or may not be caused by the failure of stomach and bowels to do their work. If it is, you will cure it; if not, you will do no harm. The way, to cure a disease is to stop its cause, and help the body get back to its habit of health.

When Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil does that, it cures when it don't, it don't cure. It never does harm. The genuine has this picture on it, take no other. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

ur and allowed to spend the taxes from year in the same approved, orthodox manner. Why should not the now be just as considerably treated? Won't the voters or the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals please answer?

THE CHURCH COLUMN.

Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. C. E. Scudder, Pastor. SUNDAY SERVICES: Class Meeting, 9.30; Preaching, 10.30; Sunday School, 11.45; Epworth League, 6.45; Preaching, 7.30.

CHURCH NOTES.

The subject for next Sabbath morning is, "No Uncertain Sound," and for the evening, "Is The Bible True?" This will be the second in the series of christian evidences.

Next Sabbath the pastor will begin an exposition of the gospel according to St. Mark, to his Sabbath school class. It is his belief, that a connected study of the life of Christ will be a great benefit to all who attend.

A free discussion is not only allowed but invited. There is no service of the church where the difficulties and doubts that trouble us can be so freely discussed as they can in the Sabbath school class.

Next Monday night the singing class will resume its work in solo drill. It is still our belief that independent singing has its foundation in the ability of the singer to read notes. We shall look next Monday night for those members of the class who could not take up the cantata. Next time we take up advanced music we hope that a larger number will be able to do the work and receive the benefit.

The Cantata was a success, considering the severe colds against we contended. The proceeds are as follows, received from tickets sold, $23.90, from receipts at door, $9.90, total, $33.80. We wish to give our personal thanks to all who have given their services. The wish has been expressed by several that this be not the last. COOKING AT GREAT HEIGHT.

Recipes and Practices Reliable at Mean Level Worthless at High Altitudes.

As attempts are being made to found a domestic science and to introduce exactitude into the operations of the kitchen, a note in the Monthly Weather Review recording the actual experience of a housekeeper at Albuquerque, N. M., is of interest. It appears that cooking recipes and practices which are trustworthy not far from sea level are worthless at 5,000 feet. Water boils there at 202 degrees Fahrenheit, instead of 212 degrees Fahrenheit; hence, articles of food the cooking of which depends upon heat applied through the medium of water require a longer time for cooking than is given in the cookery books. On account of the extreme dryness of the atmosphere, farinaceous food, such as beans, corn, etc., lose so much of their moisture that they have to be left for a long time in water before cooking in order to be softened; but the worst difficulty is with cake-making. Ordinary recipes as to number of eggs and amount of baking powder break down altogether, and housekeepers have to modify them if they wish their operations to be successful. As the barometric pressure determines to what extent the disengaged carbon dioxide shall expand and aerate the dough, this may explain the different action of baking soda and egg batter. In any case, the observation is interesting, and chemists may find it worthy of their attention.

NANCY JOHNSON'S CABIN.

Log Structure Being Erected by Seneca Indians at the Buffalo Exposition.

On the south bank of the Tugueno skirting the government building active work is being done on the ten acres of ground allotted to the Six Nations exhibit, says the Buffalo Express. At present there are three Seneca Indians from the Tonawanda reservation working on the old log house which is to shelter Nancy Johnson, herself one of the most remarkable and interesting features of the Indian exhibit. Nancy Johnson is a Seneca squaw who has reached the age of 120 years. For the last 100 years she has been a resident of the Tonawanda reservation, and has lived in the little log house which is now being put up on the exposition grounds.

One of the conditions upon which Mrs. Johnson consented to appear at the exposition was that suitable provision should be made for her shelter. Then it was that the idea of transporting her cabin to the grounds was conceived. It is not certain when the cabin was first built, but it was shortly after the revolutionary war, and it is estimated that the timbers in it were felled somewhat more than 100 years ago. The structure is composed of logs, roughly cut logs of red beech, and the roof is thatched with elm bark. The beech logs have attained the hardness of iron, and when cut take on a polish like ebony. They are thoroughly seasoned, and in appearance bear out the story of their great age.

HOW YOU SPEND YOUR LIFE. The Largest Item in Everybody's Everyday Time Account is Sleep. Did you ever stop in your daily round of rush and rest to inquire how you actually occupy the hours of your life? Supposing you are an average New York business man, how will your account on the book of time appear when it is balanced at the end of three score and ten years? asks the Sun.

The largest item will be sleep, which has consumed 25 years—a little more than one-third of your life. It counted rapidly during your childhood, less rapidly in age, and was at a minimum during the working days of middle life. These working days will count 21 years, and in the course of them you will read for two years and write for a year and seven months. The next item will be that of pleasure, which will have consumed six years, and your waking will have consumed six and one-half years more. Then your eating accounts will show that you have sat at the table, stood at lunch counters or dined elsewhere for five years. You will also have a dressing account of three and one-half years, which have been devoted to buttoning and unbuttoning—remember, it is a man who is being considered. In this dressing account you will find eight months charged to bathing account and seven months to shaving.

Invention of the Fan. The following Chinese legend accounts for the invention of the fan is a rather ingenious fashion: The beautiful Kan-Si, daughter of a powerful mandarin, was residing at the feast of lanterns, when she became empowered by the heat and was compelled to take off her mask. As it was against all rule and custom to expose her face, she held her mask before it and gently fluttered it to cool herself. The court ladies present noticed the movement, and in an instant all of them were waving their masks. From this incident, it is said, came the birth of the fan, and to-day it takes the place of the mask in that country.

Pants by the legs. A man who went to Providence the other day was asked to see the sign on the front of a clothing store. "Here is the place to buy your pants at two dollars a leg!" This method of offering trousers for sale must possess great interest for one-legged men and cutthroats.

Marks of Parrot. Londoner—She is one of your most popular actresses, isn't she? American—Oh, yes. Why, she has had a race horse, a cigar and a tooth powder named after her—Town Topics.

An Explanation. "Take back the heart you gave me," said the progressive maid; "I was a little poker game, you see, and she required a split."—Chicago Daily News.

STUNTED

If you don't want your hair to die use Ayer's Hair Vigor once a day. It makes the hair grow, stops falling, and cures dandruff. It always restores color to gray or faded hair; it never fails.

Works Both Ways. Miss Singleton—But tell me, dear, does a man get really angry every time he comes home and finds dinner isn't ready? Mrs. Benedict (sweetly)—Yes, just about as angry as a woman gets every time she has it ready and he doesn't come home.—Tit-Bits.
