"Use of Economy." "You need a new suit of clothes," she remarked as she looked him over critically. "I know it as well as you do," he replied, "but I am economizing. I made up my mind some time ago to save up a little money." "And have you succeeded?" she asked. "A little," he admitted. "I hope it's enough to buy me a new home!" - Chicago Post.

"Not So Ingenious." "Miss Chatterbox called on me today," remarked Miss Cayenne. "I was very glad to see her. She seemed to take a great interest in me." "But isn't she just a bit of a tale-bearer?" "Yes. That's why I was glad to see her. It flatters me to feel that I am so important as to be gossiped about." - Washington Star.

One of life's little ironies. We buy new shoes and then begin to get them nicely broken in. But by that time, or just about, we find those shoes are broken out. - Chicago Record.

MENTAL TELEGRAPHY.

Erasmus—What's y' finkin' about? Ephraim—Well, I reckon 'er finkin' about de same finge ez yo' is finkin' about.

Erasmus—Oh, yo' go 'long. I nevah stole a chicken in mah life. - Chicago Inter Ocean.

Hearing vs. Listening. We were wed, when Mabel spoke a word I did not need to hark-I always heard. Altho' her words, coldly changed since then, somehow, I've learned to listen, without hearing. - Judge.

His Shape. Tozer—Do you know I'm quite a believer in the theory that we have all lived before in some other shape. Looser—who has just paid for his ninth drink—Ah, very likely.

Tozer—Wonder what I was in former life? Looser—Dunno. Spanga, probably. - Pick-Me-Up.

He Was. Miss Pertie Goodwin—So you've asked papa? It wasn't such a terrible ordeal, was it? You didn't need to get excited, you know. All you had to do was to keep perfectly cool. The Young Man—Cool? I was so cool you could have heard my teeth chatter! - Chicago Tribune.

Announcements of Wealth. West—Tell you, my friend, the rich has their troubles. Dawson—Let your life, I do. Once when I had two pairs of pants I found the labor of changing things from one set of pockets to the other set of pockets almost more'n I could stand. - Indianapolis Press.

Perfectly Horrid. Mother (at a ball)—Are you enjoying yourself, dear? Daughter—No, I'm not. "What is the matter?" "I've refused George six dances hand running, and he doesn't seem miserable a bit." - N. Y. Weekly.

He Has to Be. "It seems to me your husband is more considerate in his treatment of the servants than in his treatment of you," suggested the old friend. "Naturally," replied the wife. "I've got to stay and they haven't." - Chicago Post.

Not Entirely Disinterested. Little Bessie—I like you better than sister's other beau. The Beau—I'm glad to hear that. Why do you like me? Little Bessie—Cause after never eats the cheap candy you bring, and I get all of it. - N. Y. Journal.
