DINGMAN'S FERRY.

Dogs and suckers follow the batcher wagon here, the former to get a bone and the latter to get a little free wash at the saloon.

It is reported that the site where the old Academy stood is for sale, and that the new school house will be more centrally located. The old Academy stood in a well sheltered situation and it is doubtful if another equally so can be secured in town, with such ample grounds around it. It would be well, to retain that old site as it is secluded and quiet and has many advantages.

The legislature will be asked to pass an act providing for mature study in public schools, also to appropriate $10,000 to the State College for use in distributing such courses to teachers, and also one to carry in effect the act of 1895 providing for the establishment of township high schools. All favoring the above should write our representative regarding the bill.

We hope soon to accept the invitation of Sandyston to visit the chicken ranch over there.

It is reported that a large artificial pond will be made some three miles below that of Minks, in Lehman, this summer by the club which recently purchased lands there.

Charles Pierson is building a new ice house.

The few remaining timber tracts in this township have been pretty well cut off this winter. The river front has its old appearance being lined with piles of lumber ready for rafting.

Reeder Morgan who has been sick nearly all winter is able to be around again though he is still weak.

The corner seems more home like and cheerful since the return of Dr. Fulmer. It felt all winter as if the old folks were away and the young ones were rather lonesome.

The far buyers here have had a poor season. The active men have been busy on lumber jobs, the sick could not hunt and the tired contingent has been and is yet waiting for employment.

Some people kick because their names appear in the news items of the town, but they make a racket too if they do not and say the paper is no good.

Gunn & Co., successors to A. D. Brown, the blacksmith, men business judging by the fine pile of white oak lumber they have on hand.

Report has it that another blacksmith shop will be opened for business here about April 1st. That will be four for us, two ahead of Milford.

Planting out trees and shrubs will soon be in order. A large hole should be dug and partly filled with good rich soil, composted with manure.

Pussy willows have been in blossom for the last ten days. Robins, blue birds and black birds are here. The wood chuck sign was a failure this year.

SANDYSTON.

Town meeting was a hot time for some others as well as candidates. Whiskey was on tap from the start and long before noon drunk men were very much prevalent. Shortly after noon the supply gave out, but towards night the tap was set going and this whiskey was of the fighting kind and when the pills closed the fighting began. One or two were badly pounded and one old gentleman was set upon by some of the drunken gang and almost beaten to death. It is a shame that whiskey can be had on election days but the last election was one of the worst exhibitions of the effect of rum that I have ever seen in this township and some action should be taken as this whiskey business is condemned by all, and court will be in session soon.

Frank Rosencrance merchant at Leyton announces that all his goods are for sale at cost, as he is going out of business. I have not heard what he intended doing.

Joshua Shay is improving very fast, and will be able to go about on crutches soon.

Robins and blue birds were plentiful on Monday, a token that spring is here and the day was an ideal spring day.

The vendage of Henry Binsley on Thursday brought out an immense crowd and bidding was brisk. Everything was sold except his respirator and that is for sale yet.

Joseph Layton has sold his farm on Walpole to H. C. Lord, of Brooklyn, and will remove to Dingmans, Pa. The premises will be occupied by Manley Lord of this place after April 1st.

The prize offered by the Sussex Record for the teacher or clerk get the greatest number of votes was won by W. C. Hersh. Subscriptions to the paper of every 3 months subscribed for give the vote. The prize is a free trip over the Southern Battle Fields and the winner will make trip in June next.

Our roads are in a terrible condition and as soon as the mud begins to break through traveling with a load will be next to impossible. Teams are engaged in hauling ties, telegraph and telegraph poles to Branchville from the lumber tract near Tattles Corner and that piece of road is well nigh impassable.

The prospects are bright now for the opening of the Havans creamery. It is reported that Mr. Fulmer, of Branchville, will run it paying farmers 81 cents for 100 pounds of milk.

It is hoped that our farmers will take an interest in this matter and assist in making it a success. If it only gets in operation so that our people can see the benefits to be derived from it success is assured.

MONTAGUE.

Anyone wishing time will find plenty at Geo. N. Cole's kiln.

We might say Monday was the first day that looked and felt like spring over here in Montague.

Our roads are anything but pleasant to travel just now. However we hope they may improve before moving day (first of April) comes around.

There is a little scare here caused by a report that Frank Cole, who has been staying with his brother Birtzel, for two or three days past, has been exposed to small pox.

We are glad to know that the pleasant face of Arthur Myers who has entered so untrusting to the snouts of the public of this community for the past three years as landlord of the Brick House Hotel will not leave us as was expected. He has rented a house of Miss Eleanor Cole and will stay here for a time at least.

Geo. N. Cole is getting the frame sawed at Frank McCarty's saw mill for a new barn. The new structure will be 32x50 feet with basement.

The Board of Health of this township met at the Brick House Hotel Monday and passed a resolution to have Frank Cole who it is supposed has been exposed to small pox taken charge of by the overseer of the poor. Probably he will be moved to the county pest house where he will be quarantined until all danger is past.

An application will be made with in a few days to the Post office department for a free rural mail route over here, with the distributing office at Port Jervis. The route will cover at least the clove, river and what is known as the new road down probably as far as the Sandyston line.

James Kerr and Robert Youngs canvassed the river road yesterday with a petition for signers and I understood every person they asked signed. To day the balance of the route will be canvassed by James A. Rundle, Geo. Cortright, Geo. McCarty and Geo. N. Cole, and if this should meet with as good success as Messrs. Kerr and Youngs I think we will stand an excellent show to get free delivery.

I noticed in "Ramblers pluckings" last week something about a surprise party, and he seems to get funny ambly to make it appear that because certain persons did not get an invitation it was a failure. Now the truth is the party was well attended and a success in every respect. I rather seem to me the people here would sooner (if he wants to correspond for Montague) to pick the truth to report and not get his pickiness from those who are prejudiced against everybody and everything they cannot run to suit their particular fancy. MONTAGUE OBSERVER.

LEDEGDALE.

Mrs. Helen Simons, of Hawley, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frieda Simon on Saturday.

John D. Lankens, of Philadelphia, who was years ago a frequent visitor here, celebrated last Monday his sixty birthday anniversary at the Mary Drexel House.

It is current rumor here that complaint has been, or is about to be made, in Sussex Co. against Edward E. Everett, E. B. Kintner and Ed. Layton for having been implicated in girdling the trees of Geo. E. Hersh and firing the barn of J. J. Van Sickle in Sandyston, both of which are quite recent events.

Children in town begin their former habits of making mysterious disappearances. There is a strong probability that several shot guns will be newly loaded, and interested owners will not likely be very careful to shoot high should opportunity offer to intercept a wayward foetus in its midnight wandering from the roost.

Dr. Perstor Frazer, of Philadelphia, who owns a farm near town, and is a frequent visitor in the county, is probably the highest authority in handwriting and takes to this country, if not in the world. He has recently issued a little book on the subject which is the embodiment of his scientific investigations in that field.

Camphor grows in China, Japan and other parts of Eastern Asia. The tree is reduced to chips, and these are put in iron vessels having a cone-shaped cover lined with rice straw. These vessels are heated and the camphor is driven out of the chips in a vapor which quickly volatilizes but condenses on the straw in little lumps. These are scraped from the straw, refined, and pressed into blocks.

The Delaware Lackawanna and Western railroad gave a free ride to Buffalo to one hundred and sixty newspaper men along its route last Friday. The object was to show them the condition of the Pan-American Exposition building. The last fifty miles of the ride was done at a seventy mile an hour rate. They were all enthusiastic over the progress made and predict for the Exposition a great success. Now will the Erie show a like zeal?

Joseph Klunius Jr., who for several months has been in declining health and was obliged to give up his situation as B. Minister for that reason, died at his home in Blooming Grove early Thursday morning, March 21. His many warm friends here, where he was greatly esteemed, will be united to learn of his demise though it was not wholly unexpected to them. A fuller obituary notice will appear in our next issue. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the E. A. cord church.

Believing that it will be of interest to many here either directly or remotely descended from the Newman ancestry, the Press next week will contain a genealogical history of Isaac Newman who settled in Milford in 1785 or 8 and also a history of the family of Abigail Webb his wife. Such records are becoming difficult to obtain in many instances, particularly reliable ones, and this has been prepared with great care and research of records by James Estlin, of Oriskany, N. Y., and may be considered as correct.
