Commonwealth vs. Chas. Hazen. This is a case which arose from the defendant being found on lands of the Blooming Grove Park Association, arrested and taken before Justice Billings and fined; from which decision the defendant appealed and the question of the constitutionality of the act of 1871 incorporating the park was raised. The court in a lengthy opinion giving reasons for its findings says in conclusion: "From what precedes we are not to be understood as holding that this entire act of incorporation is void because of its defective title. Whatever the body of the act contains that is germane and naturally relates to the subject expressed in the title may be valid although other provisions may be void for want of proper notice in the title to sustain them. * * * That the penal provisions of the act in question and the provisions for enforcing these penalties are unconstitutional and void for want of proper notice in the title of the act to sustain them and as infringing the constitutional right of trial by jury. And now, June 3, 1901, the proceedings against the appellant are quashed and set aside and the appellant, Charles Hazen, is discharged by the court."

Badly Wounded.

A. J. Nye, who resides in Milford township about two miles from town, was badly cut and bruised at his home Tuesday night. Entering his home about 10:30 he proceeded to strike a match with which to light a lamp when he was suddenly assailed by some one and struck a blow to the face which partly stunned him. This was followed with several blows with some sharp instrument which inflicted a number of serious cuts about his head. His body was also badly bruised. He finally managed to crawl out of the house and after lying unconscious several hours got to the stable, mounted his horse and came to town which he reached Wednesday morning greatly exhausted from loss of blood. His wounds were dressed by Dr. H. E. Emerson who found him in a serious condition. Being attacked so suddenly in the dark he is not certain as to his assailant but believes Thomas Gibbons, his brother-in-law, was the person, with the assistance, perhaps, of another.

Pluebot, the latter of whom was somewhat surprised by being remembered from a previous meeting. Refreshments were served the party in the Orangery and all came away impressed with their cordial welcome and the affable manner of the royal couple.

THE WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., JUNE 5, 1901. President McKinley is so concerned over Mrs. McKinley's condition, she having done little, if any, more than hold her own since she got back to Washington, that he has canceled all of his June engagements, except that to visit Harvard University commencement June 25, which is held in abeyance, he being very anxious to go there if Mrs. McKinley's health will permit. Her physicians are hopeful but admit that Mrs. McKinley is still dangerously ill, and that her failure to gain strength more rapidly is alarming.

Director Merriam of the Census Bureau has been breaking records ever since the taking of the census was started last year and the final report on population, showing the aggregate population by states and territories, density of population, center of population in its medium point, population of Hawaii and Alaska, etc., the first half of which has just been issued, and the concluding half of which will be issued in the early fall, will be four years ahead of similar reports made in any previous census.

Attorney General Knox, at the request of the Spanish Claim Commission, has rendered an opinion that claims growing out of the loss of the battleship Maine are properly claims of the United States against Spain, which means that they have no legal status, as the Treaty of Paris expressly stipulated that no claims of the United States against Spain on account of the war should be made. Such claims are still being filed, but it is probable that they had been prepared before the Attorney General had been heard from, and that the attorneys are filing them so as to be in a position to take advantage of the possibility of the opinion not being upheld by the courts, although so far as known no steps have been taken towards getting its legality passed upon.

One of the results of a published interview with the President of Venezuela, in which he reflected severely upon United States Minister Loomis, now in Europe on a vacation, for acts in which he was carrying out his instructions from Secretary Hay, is that President McKinley has decided that Mr. Loomis shall not return to Venezuela, but shall be given another diplomatic position of equal importance. The President of Venezuela will find no difference in the change as the new minister will be given precisely the same instructions that were given to Mr. Loomis. Meanwhile Mr. W. W. Russell, who is in charge of the United States Legation at Caracas, has been instructed to inform the government of Venezuela that this government endorses every official act of Minister Loomis.

Attorney General Knox is now engaged by direction of President in preparing a comprehensive opinion on all the Supreme Court Insular Decisions, showing precisely how far they go and what effect they will have upon insular relations. That opinion will be submitted to the President and Cabinet this week, and after its careful consideration it will be decided and probably officially announced what, if any, changes will be made in any branch of those relations. The opinion will also be a determining factor in the question of whether an extra session of Congress will be called.

Secretary Root's letter, instructing General Wood to inform the members of the Cuban Constitutional Convention that this government did not approve of the additions made to the Platt amendment, before its acceptance by the Convention, was a long and carefully prepared document, in the preparation of which President McKinley assisted. It impressed upon General Wood that this government does not wish to offend the Cubans, but that they must accept the Platt amendment just as it passed Congress, if they wish American authority to be withdrawn from the island; that nothing short of that will be satisfactory to this government. The Platt Amendment is plain and the attempt to interpret several of its provisions, which the Cubans added, are obscure.

Chas. B. Staples, Esq., announces that in the event of Monroe and Pike being formed into a judicial district he will, at the proper time, be a candidate for judge, and thinks he will have no opposition in Monroe.

Some quiet electioneering was done this week by reputed candidates for county offices. Presumably they were getting a finger on the popular pulse or perhaps trying to resist the ardent persuasions of many friends.

Peter Radolph Pickell, author of "Charity Buns" and the "Faith of John Hardrow," which latter work was considerably criticized, has just written a one-character story called the "Autobiography of a Sinner," which will soon begin in the Advertiser of Chicago, and this fall will be published in book form.

An address will be delivered by Prof. Andrew F. West of Princeton. The commencement exercises of the school took place this week ending today.

Villa Seitz, on upper Water street, has received a large addition making many more spacious rooms. The grounds have been nicely arranged and laid out and the place presents a very attractive appearance. Its progressive business proprietor, Frank Seitz, has recently added a fine horse to his belongings and now appears in a style befitting his surroundings.

There are eighteen members in the graduating class at Blair Hall, N. J., this year.

The commencement exercises of the Milford schools will take place next Monday evening at the court house at 7:30.

The condition of Mrs. McKinley does not materially improve and is far from reassuring, though being an invalid she may live many years.

It would be a good idea to have the loose stones raked off the roads leading to town. This would make them much pleasanter to drive.

Part of the semi-annual returns of the assessors of births and deaths have been filed and when they are complete will be published in the Press.

Pory Bosler now carries a mail to the homes up Raymond's Valley going as far as Ira B. Bosler's. It is a private subscription arrangement.

San Jose scale has appeared in the fruit districts of the Hudson river valley and the pest is being fought by the state officers in conjunction with the growers. Fruit interests will be jeopardized if the insects are not suppressed.

George D. Horron, Christian socialist, was expelled from membership in the Congregational church at Grinnell, Iowa, Tuesday, for immoral and un-Christian conduct. He deserted his wife, secured a divorce and subsequently married a Miss Rand.

A very pretty wedding occurred in the Presbyterian church at Delaware Water Gap Monday when Miss Marguerite, daughter of J. Davis Brodhead, was united in marriage to C. Howard Tate of New York, manager of the art department of Munsey's magazine.

Rev. J. W. Lowden of the Reformed church of Dingman's will hold services at the Upper Walpack church in New Jersey next Sabbath, June 9. Services at Dingman's in the morning and at Bevens in the afternoon. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

Seven inches of water fell during the 20 days it rained in May. This means seven million pounds of water to the square mile or about five and a half tons to the square acre. From this any one can easily figure the weight of water which fell on his premises during that period.

The force of men employed on the railroad from Stroudsburg to Bushkill has been largely increased and the contractors expect to have the work completed by July 1st. The next step it is said will be to build a line from Stroudsburg to Saylorsburg so as to make a direct route to Philadelphia.

Considerable interest centers on the bills now being railroaded through the legislature at Harrisburg to permit laying tracks on streets not now occupied and the bill to provide for the erection of elevated and underground railways. The idea is prevalent that they are aimed at the Johnson schemes to provide cheap fares and are in the interest of corporations and not of the people, which would seem to be a natural inference.

Two human skeletons were unearthed recently by workmen on the Erie short cut near Goshen, N. Y. They were found about 15 feet below the surface and are supposed to be the remains of Indians buried long ago. The hair found with the skulls was black and very straight. Nothing was found besides to lead to identification. It was customary to bury Indians in a sitting posture and to place with them their weapons and trinkets. The absence of these would cast some doubt on the correctness of the supposition that they were Indian skeletons.

A Terrible Explosion

"Of a gasoline stove burned a lady here frightfully," writes N. E. Palmer, of Kirkman, Ia. "The best doctors couldn't heal the running sore that followed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve entirely cured her." Infallible for Cuts, Corns, Sores, Boils, Skin Diseases and Piles. 25c at all drug stores.

THE RAMBLER'S PICKINGS.

Court attendance was rather light. The decision in the case of Blooming Grove Park Association vs. Chas. Hazen gives general satisfaction.

Stephen Drake while attending court had the misfortune to lose sixty dollars. Where and how he does not know.

Here is a good one: Because one person occupies a seat in a free church another will not attend. How many heavens are there?

There will be lots of corn planted in June this year.

Our fire ladders talk strong of having a Fourth of July celebration. That's right. Let the eagle scream! What's become of the old cannon.

Pink eye shad are the go.

A mix up will cause disappointments. The Memorial day exercises were a sample. Hardly anyone knew that Brown's Hall was the place where the services were to be held, consequently the attendance was light.

Chauncey Watson has another new boss.

Miss Sarah Lambert has returned to town.

Mrs. Susie Seely has also returned.

Struble took another railroad tie raft down the raging Delaware this week.

This town will be well supplied with stages after the 15 inst., when Metz Bros. will start in.

Sidewalks are not made to drive on, neither are they supposed to be blocked by three or four bicycle riders standing across the walk resting their wheels compelling pedestrians to walk in the gutter to get past.

I hope Brother Warren of Laytons will not forget his friends when he goes to Buffalo but will write one of his interesting letters to the Press.

A little dog is liable to cause quite a commotion if he unexpectedly takes hold of the lower extremities of a lady.

This town seems well supplied with good looking wagons. Even Findlay's stages have been newly painted.

Blairstown, N. J., has a Nail Keg association, Montague a Lairs' club, while this town has nothing but the little gathering on the corner.

Trial by Jury.

"The destructive influences of the jury system upon morals and honor are becoming more and more apparent to thinking people, and even judges are becoming disgusted with the results of jury trials," said General Von Niemand at the Cincinnati Bar Association meeting.

"In what way are juries destructive of morals and honor? Scarcely a day passes without our hearing of some miscreant who has escaped the just penalty of his wrong-doing by appealing to a sympathetic jury. The police court shyster has used the jury for this purpose until the police court jury has become a stench in the nostrils of self-respecting people. State criminal courts have had experiences of this kind, but for years the public has retained a sort of a lingering hope that juries in the United States courts were of a higher type of men and would, by their verdicts, support that palladium of our liberties by dealing out considerate justice on lines which would encourage the highest type of honor among men. But the destructive germ seems to have at last infected a jury of that kind, and the worst feature of its action is that it struck a blow at honor itself by destroying a principle dearer to the American heart than any written law of the land."

State Convention.

The time for holding the Republican state convention has been fixed by the state committee for Wednesday, Aug. 21, 1901, at 10:30 o'clock at Harrisburg. One person for Justice of the Supreme Court and one for State Treasurer are to be nominated. This county is entitled to one delegate.
