A WORD OF PROTEST.

It may be too late. Possibly before these disinterested suggestions will be read by the committee which went to Easton this week to fix up a democratic plan of harmony the well meaning individuals composing it may have been, like Joseph of old, tumbled into a pit in which there was no water by their envious brethren, and perhaps have already been drawn out and sold to some wandering Ishmaelites from Northampton. If so alas, likewise when, also was it us. Think of the consequences to the pure and unadorned democracy of this county! Reflect on the dire results and on the effects of the death blow to that commercialism in politics which has heretofore been the life and spirit of democratic congressional contests in this district. Suppose for a moment that a modus vivendi, that is, a plan of living without contests, is agreed on, of what value from a financial standpoint will a conferee be in future? What good to strive for the position, what inducement to be a candidate! when the very soul which animated action is removed. The committee should think on these things. Suppose, perish the thought, that a rotation is agreed on: if the agreement is respected, and who ever heard of a democrat violating a political promise, what is the inevitable? Why, that the county whose turn it is selects the man and all the other counties must say "Ah men!" They cannot dissent; their conferees could not even ask the price of a soda for their vote. They are simply automatons to record a result in which they have no actual voice. Will the untrammelled freemen of this county submit to a proposition which would leave them to lick their parched lips with never the hope of a drop of anything to moisten them but spring water? No; perish the thought. It must not be. Humanity cries aloud against any such Tantalus-like torture. It would be an unheard-of innovation in the party here and would cause it to shrivel and wither away like a plant without moisture. Against such a calamity we protest. If the committee has assented to any such killing-by-inches plan it would better remain in Egypt in the house of Potiphar than to return to a much injured and deeply wronged democratic constituency.

Philadelphia is experiencing a season of lavish generosity on the part of her chief magistrate, Mayor Ashbridge. John Wanamaker last week offered two and a half million dollars, and put up as earnest two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, for the street railway franchises which the generous mayor and council donated to their friends. The mayor offers the halting excuse that he had no assurance that Wanamaker would build any railways. He was fearful lest that gentleman having invested so much money would simply pocket the franchises and play the dog in the manger. Has the mayor any assurance that his friends who ostensibly have not a dollar invested will in good faith build? An official should at least make a show of decency in his treatment of the public and their rights but in this case the City of Penn has been wholly ignored and her favors donated to a chosen few friends of Mr. Ashbridge. It is one of the boldest, boldest disregard of the rights of the people that that or any other city has suffered in many years, and it will be passing strange if some of the chickens do not come home to roost.

There are some expressions of disappointment over the fact that the principal events, or at least the whole afternoon sports on the Fourth, have been arranged to take place at the driving park. It was primarily assumed that the celebration and the subscription was to aid the town and freemen. Most people from out of town do not arrange to spend more than part of a day away from home and naturally that would be in the afternoon. By the present program they will be attracted outside of the borough and when the sports at the park are concluded most will return home. It is unfortunate that the celebration does not assume the usual order in having an address and some exercises which would afford pleasure to those not wholly engrossed in greased poles and sack races. A Fourth of July given up almost wholly to fantastic performances hardly meets the popular idea of a day in which the lessons of patriotism should be inculcated and the deeds of the forefathers in giving us a land of liberty recounted. Such a so-called celebration becomes a travesty on the real sentiments on which the day is founded and on the spirit in which in part, at least, it should be observed.

Tuberculosis of Cattle. From a recent report by Leonard Pearson, state veterinarian, on the repression of tuberculosis of cattle by sanitation, the following summary taken therefrom may be of interest to those owning cattle: The purpose of this investigation, which was made under the auspices of the state live stock sanitary board at the veterinary department of the University of Pennsylvania, was to measure the effect of good and bad stabling conditions on the progress of tuberculosis in two herds. For the purpose of the investigation, two herds were established, of six cows each. Four cows in each herd were healthy and two cows in each herd were tubercular. One herd was kept in a roomy, light, clean and well ventilated stable. The stalls and partitions between the mangers in this stable were so constructed that the cows were kept apart from each other. The other stable was small, close, poorly ventilated, rather dark and not especially clean. The cows here were not separated by the stall partitions, and they were all fed from the floor of the passageway in front of their stalls.

This experiment continued for 513 days or about 17 months, and at the close it was found that two of the originally healthy animals kept in the large, light stable, had contracted tuberculosis and the other two of the originally healthy cows continued sound. Of the four originally healthy cows in the small, dark stable, all had contracted tuberculosis. The progress of the disease in each infected animal in the dark stable was greater than in the infected animals in the light, airy stable.

It is concluded from this experiment that: 1. Good sanitary conditions, cleanliness and the comparative isolation afforded by separate mangers and by stall partitions, have a decided effect in restricting the spread of tuberculosis in an infected herd. 2. A poorly ventilated and poorly lighted stable, and one in which the cattle come into direct contact, as is the case when there are no partitions between the stalls and mangers, is favorable to the spread of tuberculosis in an infected herd. 3. However good the construction and sanitary conditions of the stable and however good the care of the animals may be, the spread of tuberculosis cannot be altogether prevented if tubercular cattle and healthy cattle are kept in the same stable.

The J. W. Pepper Piano Music Magazine, published at 8th and Locust streets, Philadelphia, is one of the newest magazines in its field. Nobody can complain of not getting the worth of their money, as it publishes 21 pieces—10 vocal and 11 instrumental—making 64 pages of the best music and all of it original and written by the most popular composers of today. Price $1.00 per year.

THE CHURCH COLUMN

The topic for next Sabbath morning is "The Manifestation of God in the Mind of Man." "What is truth?" "I am the truth." The evening topic is "A Dreaded Blessing."

"Lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil." These are the words for our prayer meeting thought next Wednesday evening.

The death of Bishop Parker, missionary bishop to southern Asia, has robbed our mission field of one of its most useful laborers. Dr. Parker was elected bishop in May of last year. In 1859 he entered the foreign field. The great awakening in India that resulted in the conversion of fifty-four thousand souls, began under his leadership. Who says that missionary work is a failure? Let others rally to the cause and let the army of the Lord march on.

Deception, or in vigorous English, lying has ever been one of the vices of depraved humanity. A Chinaman who had been condemned to wear a wooden collar was seen by some of his friends. "What have you been doing," they asked him, "to deserve this?" "I only picked up an old piece of rope," was his reply. "And you are punished thus severely for merely picking up the end of an old rope?" "Well," he replied, "the fact is, there was a bullock tied to the other end." The poor Chinese are accused of being great liars, but if all were as honest as this one there would be less trouble in the world.

Be sure and hear the great temperance lecturer, Mrs. Bailey, next Monday evening. She comes to us most highly recommended. We are glad to open the doors of our church to her and trust that she may have a large hearing. All who love morality and good order, who believe in the defenses of the home, who are interested in the safety of the young, who rejoice in material prosperity, who work for the best interests of the individual, and who would welcome a better condition of things in government, municipal, state and national, know ye that the drink habit is the direst enemy of all this and that it is the duty of all good citizens to throw the weight of their influence against this unspeakable crime.

The topic discussed at the minister's meeting at Port Jervis last Monday afternoon was "The Supreme Difference between Christianity and Other Religions." The discussion was opened with a very able paper by the Rev. G. E. Gillespie. The whole discussion was an exaltation of the character of Jesus Christ. Other religions may exist apart from their founders, but take Christ out of Christianity and nothing is left. There can be no substitute for Him. He is the one ideal character, the source of all spirit life, without whom there is no redemption from sin, and no hope of immortality in heaven.

Additional Local Matter. Walter S. Angle is home from the Jeff. Medical in Philadelphia. Charles Mayne of New York has arrived with his family for the summer. Miss Bessie H. Van Etten will return home tomorrow for her summer vacation.

John H. Ryder has recently purchased a handsome rubber tired runabout wagon. Miss Foster, a frequent guest at the Dimmick House, is again a guest at the popular hostelry. Mrs. A. S. Hottle of Philadelphia is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. von der Heyde, on Centre Square. Miss Vergie Wallis, who for several years has been a summer visitor here, is registered at Hotel Vancouver.

The East Stroudsburg Normal School is likely to receive a state appropriation of $40,000, which is needed for new buildings. Robert Baker of Philadelphia, with his wife and two daughters, is a guest at Hotel Schanno. He is a brother of Hy. T. Baker, Esq.

The governor has signed an act authorizing boroughs to require the planting of shade trees along public streets by the owners of abutting property. George Jennings, whose mother is matron of the East Stroudsburg state normal, is here to spend his summer vacation and will return this fall. Mrs. Jennings having been reapointed for another year. The ninety-sixth year of the schools of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts will begin Monday, Oct. 7, 1901. They are located on Broad street above Arch in Philadelphia. The course embraces full instruction in drawing, painting and modeling.

Wallace & Thrall call attention to their stock of fire works, flags, bunting, etc. Their store will be the Mecca of the small boy for several days and their line of fresh groceries will be an inducement to those upon whom the duty falls of keeping the youngsters in a well fed condition to enjoy the Fourth. The Insurance Press shows that the almost inconceivable amount of two hundred seventy-three and one-half million dollars were disbursed in 1900 by life insurance companies in the United States and Canada for death claims, to beneficiaries, for dividend payments, annuities, etc. Of this sum over twenty million dollars were paid out in Pennsylvania.

Found His Birthplace. Jon Templeton, an editor of the Tumany, N. Y., Times, visited Milford this week for the first time since he was taken away by his parents in 1838, the year he was born. His father, A. B. Templeton, kept the Pike County House, now the Crissman House, in 1837-8, and he was at a loss to locate the place of his birth, the name having been changed. By chance he was shown a copy of the Press of April, 1868, which contained a history of the house since it was erected in 1818 and this served to identify the spot. His mother is yet living at the ripe age of 93. Mr. Templeton is also an author, having written, among others, a book entitled "The Romance of Robert Burns," and is now engaged on a work dealing with scenes and incidents in this county. He was overjoyed at the discovery of the exact spot where he first saw the light in this charming town.

Saves Two From Death. "Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Amouk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1 bottles guaranteed by all druggists.

Buy Days In Arizona. The orchard fruit season in Arizona opens about May 15 with the picking of apricots, which are shipped by the carload to the northern and eastern markets. Peaches, plums, nectarines and figs are also ripening in May, and there is a large increase in the population because Mexicans, Indians and Chinese come in from surrounding states to pick and pack the fruit. The Navajo girls use their native woven baskets which they balance deftly on their heads as they work.
