LICENSES TO HUNT.

The law requiring a non-resident not being an owner of lands in this members of clubs or park associations. There are several clubs and associations in the county with their strued to bar such unless they are out, licensed there will be, so far as hunting is concerned, no advantage in becoming a member. Social purposes and fishing, for which no license is required, of course are not the clubs themselves. A case might be brought as a test so as to have our court pass on the question, and of this country. this possibly would save some one matter but we think in view of the are. chances on the assumption that non- month. resident members of clubs and assoa license.

THE GAME LAWS.

Down in the lower part of this county, it is reported, there is a general acquiescence to the conclu- road four miles below Dingmans I sion that the special game law for Pike county is repealed by the general act. Up in this section and in Westfall, it is said, are some peoare such they may be gratified as it SHIELDS, Port Jervis, N. Y. is the intention of the state game commission, and the forestry association as well, to have the matter finally and judicially settled, and so it should be in fairness to all if there are those who will not acquiesce in the opinion that the state law prevails. The open season should be slike to all and it should be determined which it is by a test case preferably, but by a presecution if necessary.

LOCATING THE RAILROAD.

Some newspapers are persisting in the rumor that the Delaware Valley railroad will pass up on the other side of the river and are saying that the people on this side are pleased with that prospect. We incline to the belief that no one outside the company, even assuming that the matter has been settled by it, knows its purpose, and that the ever since. location of the road, if built, is all, so far as the public is concerned, a speculation. Time will develop

PIKE COUNTY PRESS, where the road will go and the commay will build it wherever it best suits its purpose and the interests to be considered by its owners. The small difference in cost of construction, if any, between the two sides of the river will not ultimately out much lee. Other factors will probably determine the location.
