The physician in these days who opposes vaccination should not be called to attend smallpox cases and medical colleges would do well to refuse diplomas to any young man who is opposed to that means of prevention. The evidence of the benefit of vaccination as a preventive to the disease is so overwhelming that public safety should not be jeopardized by the opinion of any medical crank.

It is claimed that the new amendment to the constitution adopted last fall abolishes the numbering of ballots and the question has been submitted to the secretary of the commonwealth for an opinion. It is quite possible that the numbering will be discarded but the secretary says that inasmuch as the county commissioners and not his department are charged this year with preparing the ballots they must determine the question.

The matter of level cultivation of corn and potatoes came up before the institute and while it was admitted that a man might attain a measure of success by the old method of hilling, yet he would probably have had far better results had he pursued the level cultivation.

Ask any farmer who was present at the recent institute if he was not benefitted by the talks on the various subjects and if his knowledge was not materially increased.

THE CHURCH COLUMN (By Rev. C. E. SOUTHWELL)

The topic for next Sabbath morning is, "The Devotional Life." In the evening a song service will be held, at which an account of the occasion that called forth the hymns will be given. The hymns will be those of Charles Wesley, with a brief statement of his life and work.

The topic for the Bible reading next Monday night is, "The Sabbath Question." Is Saturday or Sunday the divinely appointed day of worship? Two books have been approved and placed in our Sabbath school library namely, "Arise's Mission," and "The Atlantians." Several others are in the hands of our committee being read for approval.

We are glad to note the increased attendance at the Sabbath school since Christmas. The popular belief is that Sabbath schools are more largely attended before the time for receiving presents. If that is generally true it is not so this year with us. At a business meeting of the Epworth League it was decided to have a social at the church on Thursday evening, February 13th.

On Thursday evening, February 6th, there will be a pound social in the interest of the Sabbath school. The members of the school will bring a pound of some article, anything that they choose, which will be sold. Mr. White will bring his megalethoscope and will show his views to all who care to see them for free. The scholars of the school are to see the pictures free. Cake and lemonade will be furnished free to all who come. The proceeds to be for the benefit of the school.

The cottage prayer meetings have been an inspiration to all who have attended and are so much enjoyed that a large number of invitations have been received to visit the homes of our people. It has been our purpose to go to those homes where members of the church live who have been unable because of age or infirmity to attend the services of the church. We are willing to go, however, to any home where we are invited and trust that these prayer services may reach some who do not attend church and interest them in them in the subject of personal salvation.

The bill introduced in congress to make inauguration day come in the latter part of April has met with no adverse criticism from any part of the country. The objection formerly held that it would lengthen the term of office of one president over four years cannot apply in the case of President Roosevelt.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't eat and can't get your stomach weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted. Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.
