Tile culvarts have proven excellent for they do not clog as do the stone ones, and the one on Broad-street is not large enough for the usual flow of water down High. They are chesper in the end, too, because they do not have to be dug up and cleaned frequently as do the others. It is a good plan in town improvement to do the work in a permanent manner. The cost may be more at the outset but in the long run money is saved. Makeshifts are always expensive.
